Reality TV Misha Kavka, 2012-02-15 This book is a study of the Reality TV format which in less than a decade has transformed network programming schedules branded satellite and digital stations become a favourite target for anti television campaigners and turned viewers into savvy r

Reality TV Susan Murray, Laurie Ouellette, 2004-04-01 Survivor The Bachelor Extreme Makeover Big Brother Joe Millionaire American Idol The Osbournes It is virtually impossible to turn on a television without coming across some sort of reality programming Yet while this genre has rapidly moved from the fringes of television culture to its lucrative core critical attention has not kept pace Beginning by unearthing its historical roots in early reality shows like Candid Camera and wending its way through An American Family Cops and The Real World to the most recent crop of reality programs Reality TV is the first book to address the economic visual cultural and audience dimensions of reality television The essays provide a complex and comprehensive picture of how and why this genre emerged what it means how it differs from earlier television programming and how it engages societies industries and individuals Topics range from the construction of televisual reality to the changing face of criminal violence on TV to issues of surveillance taste and social control By spanning reality television s origins in the late 1940s to its current overwhelming popularity Reality TV demonstrates both the tenacity of the format and its enduring ability to speak to our changing political and social desires and anxieties Contributors include Nick Couldry Mary Beth Haralovich John Hartley Chuck Kleinhans Derek Kompare Jon Kraszewski Kathleen LeBesco Justin Lewis Ted Magder Jennifer Maher Anna McCarthy Rick Morris Chad Raphael Elayne Rapping Jeffrey Sconce Michael W Trosset Pamela Wilson

Reality TV Jon Kraszewski, 2017-02-24 From early first wave programs such as Candid Camera An American Family and The Real World to the shows on our television screens and portable devices today reality television consistently takes us to cities such as New York Los Angeles and Boston to imagine the place of urbanity in American culture and society Jon Kraszewski offers the first extended account of this phenomenon as he makes the politics of urban space the center of his history and theory of reality television Kraszewski situates reality television in a larger economic transformation that started in the 1980s when America went from an industrial economy when cities were home to all classes to its post industrial economy as cities became key points in a web of global financing expelling all economic classes except the elite and the poor Reality television in the industrial era reworked social relationships based on class race and gender for liberatory purposes which resulted in an egalitarian ethos in the genre However reality television of the post industrial era attempts to convince viewers that cities still serve their interests even though most viewers find city life today economically untenable Each chapter uses a key theoretical concept from spatial theory such as power geometries diasporic nostalgia orientalism the imagination of social expulsions and the relationship between the country and the city to illuminate the way reality television engages this larger transformation of urban space in America

television a dominant force in popular culture subtly shapes public behavior and societal trends The book investigates the psychological reasons behind viewers fascination with the genre such as the formation of parasocial relationships with participants It also examines how these shows act as cultural trendsetters influencing fashion lifestyle choices and even language The book argues that reality TV functions as a powerful agent of socialization impacting perceptions of normalcy and success It progresses from defining reality TV and its historical roots to analyzing its effects on public behavior trend adoption and career paths Case studies of reality TV participants illustrate the real world outcomes of engaging with this medium offering insights into the social impact of reality TV The analysis incorporates diverse perspectives from sociology psychology and media studies

Understanding Reality Television Su Holmes, Deborah Jermyn, 2004 Tracing the history of reality TV from Candid Camera to The Osbournes Understanding Reality Television examines a range of programmes which claim to depict real life

Here/There Kris Paulsen, 2017-02-24 An examination of telepresence technologies through the lens of contemporary artistic experiments from early video art through current drone vision works Telepresence allows us to feel present through vision hearing and even touch at a remote location by means of real time communication technology Networked devices such as video cameras and telerobots extend our corporeal agency into distant spaces In Here There Kris Paulsen examines telepresence technologies through the lens of contemporary artistic experiments from early video art through current drone vision works Paulsen traces an arc of increasing interactivity as video screens became spaces for communication and physical tactile intervention She explores the work of artists who took up these technological tools and questioned the aesthetic social and ethical stakes of media that allow us to manipulate and affect far off environments and other people to touch metaphorically and literally those who cannot touch us back Paulsen examines 1970s video artworks by Vito Acconci and Joan Jonas live satellite performance projects by Kit Galloway and Sherrie Rabinowitz and CCTV installations by Chris Burden These early works she argues can help us make sense of the expansion of our senses by technologies that privilege real time over real space and model strategies for engagement and interaction with mediated others They establish a political aesthetic and technological history for later works using cable TV infrastructures and the World Wide Web including telerobotic works by Ken Goldberg and Wafaa Bilal and artworks about military drones by Trevor Paglen Omar Fast Hito Steyerl and others These works become a meeting place for here and there

This is Not a President Diane Rubenstein, 2008 Read The Chronicle of Higher Ed Author Interview In This Is Not a President Diane

Rubenstein looks at the postmodern presidency from Reagan and George H W Bush through the current administration and including Hillary Focusing on those seemingly inexplicable gaps or blind spots in recent American presidential politics Rubenstein interrogates symptomatic moments in political rhetoric popular culture and presidential behavior to elucidate profound and disturbing changes in the American presidency and the way it embodies a national imaginary In a series of essays written in real time over the past four presidential administrations Rubenstein traces the vernacular use of the American presidency as currency as grist for popular biography as fictional TV material to explore the ways in which the American presidency functions as a transitional object that allows the American citizen to meet or discover the president while going about her everyday life The book argues that it is French theory primarily Lacanian psychoanalysis and the radical semiotic theories of Jean Baudrillard that best accounts for American political life today Through episodes as diverse as Iran Contra George H W Bush vomiting in Japan the 1992 Republican convention the failed nomination of Lani Guinier and the Iraq War This Is Not a President brilliantly situates our collective investment in American political culture
