The Standing of Victims in the Procedural Design of the International Criminal Court Tatiana Bachvarova, 2017-05-08 This book canvasses the autonomous position of victims before the International Criminal Court It seeks to provide an objective and balanced perspective and neither rejects the idea of victims participation nor seeks to extend it beyond the contours determined by the founders of the ICC The author contributes to the existing debate in academia and in practice by delineating the core most complex and contentious matters ensuing from the role assigned to victims The scrupulously selected issues unveil and blueprint the essential characteristics that delimit the standing of victims as independent actors in the ICC s arena distinct from the parties and other non party participants As an integral part of the ICC s synergy victims converge and interact with its other components Therefore the position and role of victims are contemplated in the context of the Court's procedural mechanism and the mission pursued by the parties and the Chamber. The philosophy underpinning the ICC's design and the standing of victims therein also requires analysis from a wider perspective. Accordingly, the volume draws an in-depth parallel with relevant developments and trends at the international and domestic level. Close attention is paid to the legal instruments and jurisprudence of internationalized criminal justice bodies, human rights institutions and non-criminal jurisdictions to the extent useful for shedding further light on the issues at hand. Recourse is also made to various national systems whenever relevant.

Feminist Politics, Intersectionality and Knowledge Cultivation Radhika Govinda, 2025-02-11. In Feminist Politics: Intersectionality and Knowledge Cultivation, Radhika Govinda engages with intersectionality as critical theory, as critical methodology, and as critical pedagogy to make sense of feminist politics in India and beyond, and knowledge making on feminist politics as such. In doing so, she makes a case for theory making, conducting empirical research, and classroom teaching to be understood as integral parts of knowledge cultivation, each feeding into the other. Differently put, the book encapsulates Govinda's engagement spanning fifteen years and four case studies exploring what insights an intersectional lens throws up and how these insights complicate our understandings of marginality, privilege, and solidarity in the field of women's and gender studies in feminist classrooms, in women's and social movements, in particular NGO-led feminist activism, state-led development initiatives, and digital feminist campaigns, and in everyday social relations in rural and urban spaces. Uncovering, interrogating, and disrupting the politics of coloniality and feminist complicity is an important running thread in the book. Through a reflexive account of her own location and practice in the academy at the cusp of the global north and the global south, Govinda highlights the importance of being attentive to intersectional positionality and to the contextual specificities of engaging in feminist politics and knowledge making in the age of global neoliberalism.
