Howell,Terry M. Moe,2016-04-26 Our government is failing us Can we simply blame polarization the deregulation of campaign finance or some other nefarious force What if the roots go much deeper to our nation s start In Relic the political scientists William Howell and Terry Moe boldly argue that nothing less than the U S Constitution is the cause of government dysfunction The framers came from a simple small agrarian society and set forth a government comprised of separate powers one of which Congress was expected to respond to the parochial concerns of citizens across the land By design the national government they created was incapable of taking broad and meaningful action But a hundred years after the nation s founding the United States was transformed into a complex large and industrial society The key they argue is to expand the powers of the president Presidents take a longer view of things out of concern for their legacies and are able to act without hesitation To back up this controversial remedy Howell and Moe offer an incisive understanding of the Progressive Movement of the late 19th and early 20th centuries one of the most powerful movements in American history The Progressives shone a bright light on the mismatch between our constitutional government and the demands of modernity and they succeeded in changing our government sidelining Congress and installing a presidentially led system that was more able to tackle the nation s vast social problems Howell and Moe argue that we need a second Progressive Movement dedicated to effective government above all to reforms that promote strong presidential leadership For it is through the presidency that the American government can address the problems that threaten the very stability of our society
