The Pain of Unbelonging, 2007-01-01 Beyond the obvious and enduring socio economic ravages it unleashed on indigenous cultures white settler colonization in Australasia also inflicted profound damage on the collective psyche of both of the communities that inhabited the contested space of the colonial world The acute sense of alienation that colonization initially provoked in the colonized and colonizing populations of Australia and New Zealand has recent studies indicate developed into an endemic existential pathology Evidence of the psychological fallout from the trauma of geographical deracination cultural disorientation and ontological destabilization can be found not only in the state of anomie and self destructive patterns of behaviour that now characterize the lives of indigenous Australian and Maori peoples but also in the perpetually faltering identity discourse and cultural rootlessness of the present descendants of the countries Anglo Celtic settlers It is with the literary expression of this persistent condition of alienation that the essays gathered in the present volume are concerned Covering a heterogeneous selection of contemporary Australasian literature what these critical studies convincingly demonstrate is that more than two hundred years after the process of colonisation was set in motion the experience that Germaine Greer has dubbed the pain of unbelonging continues unabated constituting a dominant thematic concern in the writing produced today by Australian and New Zealand authors

The Sense of Suffering: Constructions of Physical Pain in Early Modern Culture Jan Frans van Dijkhuizen, Karl A. E.. Enenkel, 2009 The early modern period is a particularly fascinating chapter in the history of pain This volume investigates early modern constructions of physical pain from a variety of disciplines including religious legal and medical history literary criticism philosophy and art history "Death, Torture and the Broken Body in European Art, 1300?650 " John R. Decker, 2017-07-05 Bodies mangled limbs broken skin flayed blood spilled from paintings to prints to small sculptures the art of the late Middle Ages and early modern period gave rise to disturbing scenes of violence Many of these torture scenes recall Christ s Passion and its aftermath but the martyrdoms of saints stories of justice visited on the wicked and broadsheet reports of the atrocities of war provided fertile ground for scenes of the body s desecration Contributors to this volume interpret pain suffering and the desecration of the human form not simply as the passing fancies of a cadre of proto sadists but also as serving larger social functions within European society Taking advantage of the frameworks established by scholars such as Samuel Edgerton Mitchell Merback and Elaine Scarry to name but a few Death Torture and the Broken Body in European Art 1300 1650 provides an intriguing set of lenses through which to view such imagery and locate it within its wider social political and devotional contexts Though the art works discussed are centuries old the topics of the essays resonate today as twenty first century Western society is still absorbed in thorny debates about the ethics and consequences of the use of force coercion including torture and execution and about whether it is ever fully acceptable to write social norms on the bodies of those who will not conform Culinary Landmarks Elizabeth Driver, 2008-01-01 Culinary Landmarks is a definitive history and bibliography of Canadian cookbooks from the beginning when La cuisini re bourgeoise was published in Quebec City in 1825 to the mid twentieth century Over the course of more than ten years Elizabeth Driver researched every cookbook published within the borders of present day Canada whether a locally authored text or a Canadian edition of a foreign work Every type of recipe collection is included from trade publishers bestsellers and advertising cookbooks to home economics textbooks and fund raisers from church women s groups The entries for over 2 200 individual titles are arranged chronologically by their province or territory of publication revealing cooking and dining customs in each part of the country over 125 years Full bibliographical descriptions of first and subsequent editions are augmented by author biographies and corporate histories of the food producers and kitchen equipment manufacturers who often published the books Driver s excellent general introduction sets out the evolution of the cookbook genre in Canada while brief introductions for each province identify regional differences in developments and trends Four indexes and a Chronology of Canadian Cookbook History provide other points of access to the wealth of material in this impressive

Ethics and Images of Pain Asbjørn Grønstad, Henrik Gustafsson, 2012 Few phenomena are as formative of our experience of the visual world as displays of suffering But what does it mean to have an ethical experience of disturbing or traumatizing images What kind of ethical proposition does an image of pain mobilize How may the spectator learn from and make use of the painful image as a source of ethical reflection Engaging with a wide range of visual media from painting theatre and sculpture to photography film and video this interdisciplinary collection of essays by leading and emerging scholars of visual culture offers a reappraisal of the increasingly complex relationship between images of pain and the ethics of viewing Ethics and Images of Pain reconsiders the persistent and ever pertinent nexus of aesthetics and ethics the role of painful images as generators of unpredictable forms of affect the moral transformation of spectatorship the ambivalence of the witness and the representation of affliction as a fundamental form of our shared scopical experience The instructive and illuminating essays in the collection introduce a phenomenological context in which to make sense of our current ecology of excruciating images one that accentuates notions of responsibility empathy and imagination Contributors trace the images of pain across a miscellany of case studies and amongst the topics addressed are the work of artists as disparate as Doris Salcedo Anselm Kiefer and Bendik Riis photographs from Abu Ghraib and Rwanda Hollywood war films and animated documentaries performances of self immolations and incidents of police brutality captured on mobile phones Subjectivity and Truth Michel Foucault, 2017-07-22 The working hypothesis is this it is true that sexuality as experience is obviously not independent of codes and systems of prohibitions but it needs to be recalled straightaway that these codes are astonishingly stable continuous and slow to change It needs to be recalled also that the way in which they are observed or transgressed also seems to be very stable and very repetitive On the other hand the point of historical mobility what no doubt change most often what are most fragile are modalities of experience Michel Foucault In 1981 Foucault delivered a course of lectures which marked a decisive reorientation in his thought and of the project of a History of Sexuality outlined in 1976 It was in these lectures that arts of living became the focal point around which he developed a new way of thinking about subjectivity It was also the moment when Foucault problematized a conception of ethics understood as the patient elaboration of a relationship of self to self It was the study of the sexual experience of the Ancients that made these new conceptual developments possible Within this framework Foucault examined medical writings tracts on marriage the philosophy of love or the prognostic value of erotic dreams for evidence of a structuration of the subject in his relationship to pleasures aphrodisia which is prior to the modern construction of a science of sexuality as well as to the Christian fearful obsession with the flesh What was actually at stake was establishing that the imposition of a scrupulous and interminable hermeneutics of desire was the invention of Christianity But to do this it was necessary to establish the irreducible specificity of ancient techniques of self In these lectures which clearly foreshadow The Use of Pleasures and The Care of Self Foucault examines the Greek subordination of gender differences to the primacy of an opposition between active and passive as well as the development by Imperial stoicism of a model of the conjugal bond which advocates unwavering fidelity and shared feelings and which leads to the disqualification of homosexuality

A Standard Dictionary of the English Language Isaac Kaufman Funk, Francis Andrew March, 1897

The Representation of Bodily Pain in Late Nineteenth-century English Culture Lucy Bending, 2000 This book presents a study of the ways in which concepts of pain were treated across a broad range of late Victorian writing placing literary texts alongside sermons medical textbooks and the campaigning leaflets in order to suggest patterns of presentation and evasion to be perceived throughout the different texts assembled Pain is not a shared cross cultural phenomenon and this book uses the examples of fire walking flogging and tattooing to show that despite the fact that pain is often invoked as a marker of shared human identity understandings of pain are sharply affected by class gender race and supposed degree of criminality In arguing this case Virginia Woolf's claim that there is no language for pain is taken seriously but the importance of this book lies in its exploration of the ways in which the seemingly incommunicable experience of bodily suffering can be conveyed

The Art of Music Daniel Gregory Mason, 1915

The Culture of Pain David B. Morris, 1991-09-09 This is a book about the meanings we make out of pain The greatest surprise I encountered in discussing this topic over the past ten years was the consistency with which I was asked a single unvarying question Are you writing about physical pain or mental pain The overwhelming consistency of this response convinces me that modern culture rests upon and underlying belief so strong that it grips us with the force of a founding myth Call it the Myth of Two Pains We live in an era when many people believe as a basic unexamined foundation of thought that pain comes divided into separate types physical and mental These two types of pain so the myth goes are as different as land and sea You feel physical pain if your arm breaks and you feel mental pain if your heart breaks Between these two different events we seem to imagine a gulf so wide and deep that it might as well be filled by a sea that is impossible to navigate
