The Biblical Truth about America's Death Penalty Dale S. Recinella, 2015-12-01 While secular support for capital punishment in America seems to be waning religious conservatives particularly in the Bible belt remain staunch advocates of the death penalty citing biblical law and practice to defend government sanctioned killing Dale S Recinella compares biblical teaching about the death penalty including such passages as eye for eye tooth for tooth life for life with the nation s current system of capital punishment and offers persuasive arguments for a faith based moratorium on and eventual abolition of executions Framing his careful and incisive analysis as a legal brief to those who believe the Bible mandates the ultimate punishment the author addresses two critical areas of inquiry what do the scriptures tell us about who is deserving of death and who has the authority to kill and what do they tell us about the required standards for execution and the plight of victims families Recinella s examination of the Hebrew Torah or Christian Pentateuch and the Talmud reveals that the biblical death penalty was not a simple system of swift retribution but a complex and practical set of laws that guided capital courts established under the Sanhedrin His scrutiny of these texts the Christian doctrine of atonement and Romans 13 in the Pauline Epistles draws parallels between the traditional biblical arguments used in favor of capital punishment and those used as the basis for pro slavery positions in the nineteenth century Demonstrating that both approaches are unsubstantiated in biblical terms Recinella debunks the accepted religious reasoning for support of the death penalty and shows instead that the Bible s strict conditions for sanctioning execution are at odds with the arbitrary ways in which capital punishment is administered in the United States He provides convincing evidence that a sentence of death in today s criminal justice system in fact fails to meet both the Bible s exacting procedural requirements and its strict limitations on judicial authority By providing actual scriptural language and foundation to counter the position that biblical truth justifies a pro death penalty stance this thoughtful solidly researched and well reasoned work will give pause to religious fundamentalists and challenge them to rethink their strongly held views on capital punishment history from below Destination Elsewhere chronicles encounters between displaced persons in Europe and the Allied agencies who were tasked with caring for them after the Second World War The struggle to define who was a displaced person and who was not was a subject of intense debate and deliberation among humanitarians international law experts immigration planners and governments What has not adequately been recognized is that displaced persons also actively participated in this emerging refugee conversation Displaced persons endured war displacement and resettlement but these experiences were not defined by passivity and speechlessness Instead they spoke back creating a dialogue that in turn helped shape the modern idea of the refugee As Ruth Balint shows what made a good or convincing story at the time tells us much about the circulation of ideas about the war the Holocaust and the Jews Those stories depict the emerging moral and legal distinction between economic migrants and political refugees They tell us about the experiences of women and children in the face of new psychological and political interventions into the family Stories from displaced persons also tell us something about the enduring myth of the new world for people who longed to leave the old Balint focuses on those persons whose storytelling skills became a major strategy for survival and escape out of the displaced persons camps and out of the Europe Their stories are brought to life in Destination Elsewhere alongside a new history of immigration statelessness and the institution of the postwar family The Legend of Korra Turf Wars Part Two Michael Dante DiMartino, 2018-01-30
