ambivalent relationship with mothers and motherhood symbolically affectively and institutionally Symbolically motherhood was a double edged sword sometimes extolled as the most appropriate symbol for buddhahood itself and sometimes denigrated as the most paradigmatic manifestation possible of attachment and suffering On an affective level too motherhood was viewed with the same ambivalence in Buddhist literature warm feelings of love and gratitude for the mother's nurturance and care frequently mingle with submerged feelings of hostility and resentment for the unbreakable obligations thus created and positive images of self sacrificing mothers are counterbalanced by horrific depictions of mothers who kill and devour Institutionally the formal definition of the Buddhist renunciant as one who has severed all familial ties seems to co exist uneasily with an abundance of historical evidence demonstrating monks and nuns continuing concern for their mothers as well as other familial entanglements Ohnuma's study provides critical insight into Buddhist depictions of maternal love and maternal grief the role played by the Buddha's own mothers Maya and Mahaprajapati the use of pregnancy and gestation as metaphors for the attainment of enlightenment the use of breastfeeding as a metaphor for the compassionate deeds of buddhas and bodhisattvas and the relationship between Buddhism and motherhood as it actually existed in day to day life

Mother Outlaws Andrea O'Reilly, 2004-05-13 Feminist scholars of motherhood distinguish between mothering and motherhood and argue that the latter is a patriarchal institution that is oppressive to women Few scholars however have considered how mothering as a female defined and centred experience may be a site of empowerment for women This collection is the first to do so Mother Outlaws examines how mothers imagine and implement theories and practices of mothering that are empowering to women Central to this inquiry is the recognition that mothers and children benefit when the mother lives her life and practices mothering from a position of agency authority authenticity and autonomy
