Mathematical Ideas Abdul Karim Bangura,2020-06-02 This book by renowned scholar Dr Abdul Karim Bangura combines linguistics and mathematics to show how and why African centred mathematical ideas can be a driving force in Africa s development efforts Bangura explores the concept that Africa has been the centre of the History of Mathematics for thousands of years as the civilizations that emerged across the continent developed contributions which would enrich both ancient and modern understanding of nature through mathematics However scholars and other professionals working in the field of mathematics education in Africa have identified a plethora of issues in carrying out their tasks This is highlighted by one of the most compelling arguments in the book which is that a major reason for these problems is the fact that the African mother tongues has been greatly neglected in the teaching of mathematics in the continent Bangura asserts that a change has to be made in order for Africa to benefit from the exceptional opportunities mathematics offer showing that even if there is a great body of work connecting linguistics and mathematics few analyses have been performed on the link between African languages and mathematics and the ones that have been made are not theoretically grounded on linguistics Thus the book begins by identifying the objects of study of linguistics and mathematics and delineates which ones they have in common Next since the object of study of linguistics is language the nine design features of language are employed to examine each of the objects as it pertains to African languages After that mathematical ideas of sustainability and those of tipping points are suggested as means to help Africa s development efforts The African American Urban Experience J.

Social Work With African American Males Waldo E. Johnson, 2010-05-26. This unique volume explicitly examines the contemporary status of African American males from adolescence to adulthood while implicitly challenging how normative masculine identity and historical marginalization complicate individual and familial engagement between social work, social welfare and African American males. Africa and Globalization Kelebogile T. Setiloane, Abdul Karim Bangura, 2020-10-24. This edited volume examines the challenges of globalization in light of the need to revisit and reconceptualize the notion of Pan Africanism. The first part of the book examines globalization and Africa's socioeconomic and political development in this century by using the Diopian Pluridisciplinary Methodology. This approach is imperative because the challenges faced by Africa vis vis globalization and socioeconomic development are so multiplexed that no single disciplinary approach can adequately analyze them and yield substantive policy recommendations. The chapters in the second part analyze the imperatives for Africa's global knowledge production, development and economic transformation in the face of the pressures of globalization. Part two demonstrates an urgent need for Africa's significant participation in the global knowledge economy in order to meet the continent's modern transformation and development aspirations. The final part examines lessons from old and new Pan Africanism and how they can be utilized to deal with the challenges emanating from the forces of modern globalization. With its multidisciplinary approach to a wide range of pressing modern issues for the African content this book is essential reading for scholars across the social sciences interested in where Africa is now and where it should go in this increasingly globalized world

Justified Modeling Frameworks and Novel Interpretations of Ecological and Epidemiological Systems Bapan Ghosh,Salih Djilali,Asep K. Supriatna,2024-01-12 The Lotka Volterra and the Kermack McKendrick models are well celebrated and widely recognized in the field of ecology and epidemiology Several modified ordinary differential equation models have been proposed over the last many decades to rationalize complex biological phenomena In the current century researchers have paid much attention to developing new modeling frameworks with delay differential equations difference equations fractional order systems stochastic differential equations etc No doubt these models have emerged many new bifurcations theory and methods which have equally contributed to the advances of Mathematics and interdisciplinary research It is argued that these new modeling frameworks perform more effectively in analyzing and interpreting results compared to the conventional modeling frameworks with ordinary differential equations However implications of emerged bifurcations from new modeling approaches are often less interpreted from a biological viewpoint Even there is also a lack of understanding of how a fractional order model for instance displays a more realistic scenario to analyze a biological process Therefore a more serious justification is essential while modeling any biological event
