Science for All Peter J. Bowler,2009-10-15 Recent scholarship has revealed that pioneering Victorian scientists endeavored through voluminous writing to raise public interest in science and its implications But it has generally been assumed that once science became a profession around the turn of the century this new generation of scientists turned its collective back on public outreach Science for All debunks this apocryphal notion Peter J Bowler surveys the books serial works magazines and newspapers published between 1900 and the outbreak of World War II to show that practicing scientists were very active in writing about their work for a general readership Science for All argues that the social environment of early twentieth century Britain created a substantial market for science books and magazines aimed at those who had benefited from better secondary education but could not access higher learning Scientists found it easy and profitable to write for this audience Bowler reveals and because their work was seen as educational they faced no hostility from their peers But when admission to colleges and universities became more accessible in the 1960s this market diminished and professional scientists began to lose interest in writing at the nonspecialist level Eagerly anticipated by scholars of scientific engagement throughout the ages Science for All sheds light on our own era and the continuing tension between science and public understanding A Reader's Guide to Contemporary Literature William Swan Sonnenschein,1896 The Greenwood Dictionary of World History John J. Butt,2005-12-30 The Greenwood Dictionary of World History is an indispensable handy and easy to use A to Z first stop ready reference resource providing essential information on over 2 000 of the most studied and important people events places and ideas in world history from prehistoric to modern times from all regions and epochs Selection of entries which are truly global in their range was based on the guidelines and recommendations of organizations and agencies such as the National Council for History Education the National Center for History in the Schools the World History Association the College Board World History Advanced

Placement Test and many of the state standards for history education The content of the entries has been kept brief and concise to provide a definition or fundamental facts Notes from the Jungle Marcos,2008-02-13 The book NOTES FROM THE JUNGLE was begun by its author Marcos an anthropologist in the 1990 s along the banks of the Amazon River The author presents his work in the form of a correspondence a long letter between himself and his reader Due to the experiences of travel and study in his life he tries to explain the cultural reasons that often keep humans apart and why values are so influenced by other elements of culture These values often remain incompatible between cultures leading to misunderstandings hostility and war His prognosis for mankind's future perhaps controversial is poor But he does offer a possible way forward The Posen Library of Jewish Culture and Civilization, Volume 6 Elisheva Carlebach,Deborah Dash Moore,2019-11-26 A landmark project to collect translate and transmit primary material from a momentous period in Jewish culture and civilization this volume covers what Elisheva Carlebach describes as a period in which every aspect of Jewish life underwent the most profound changes to have occurred since antiquity Organized by genre this extensive yet accessible volume surveys Jewish cultural production and intellectual innovation during these dramatic years particularly in literature the visual and performing arts and intellectual culture The wide ranging collection includes a diverse selection of sources created by Jews around the world translated from a dozen languages Representing a tumultuous time of changing borders demographic shifts and significant Jewish migration this anthology explores the range of approaches of Jews from welcoming to resistant to the intertwining ideals of enlightenment and emancipation the very foundation of the Jewish experience in this period
