attempted to establish his regime's authority. The most significant of these uprisings was the republican dominated June Revolution of 1832. Victor Hugo and other contemporaries perceived the barricades of June as natural extensions of the cholera epidemic or the political continuation of a biological crisis. The sad fate of the uprising however prompted republicans to regroup and develop new strategies for success. As a whole then 1832 helped solidify the end of the Bourbon monarchy and class identities and was a crucial moment in the reorganization and growing solidification of French republicanism that paved the way for the Revolution of 1848. This edited collection examines these three pivotal events in French history in 1832 a royal Legitimist uprising led by the Duchesse de Berry the cholera epidemic and the June Revolution featured in the climax of Hugo's novel Les Misérables within the context of the legacy of the French Revolution. While the events of 1832 are significant they have been relatively ignored because scholars have been distracted by the Revolutions of 1830 and 1848. This collection is the first piece of scholarship to examine these three events in an interconnected pattern to better examine France as it transitioned from a monarchy to a republic. As a result this collection will be of value to both historians and academics studying diverse subfields within French and European studies. Civilizations Felipe Fernandez-Armesto, 2001-09-14 In Civilizations Felipe Fernandez Armesto once again proves himself a brilliantly original historian capable of large minded and comprehensive works here he redefines the subject that has fascinated historians from Thucydides to Gibbon to Spengler to Fernand Braudel the nature of civilization. To Fernandez Armesto a civilization is civilized in direct proportion to its distance its difference from the unmodified natural environment by its taming and warping of climate geography and ecology. The same impersonal forces that put an ocean between Africa and India a river delta in Mesopotamia or a 2 000 mile long mountain range in South America have created the mold from which humanity has fashioned its own wildly differing cultures. In a grand tradition that is certain to evoke comparisons to the great historical taxonomies each chapter of Civilizations connects the world of the ecologist and geographer to a panorama of cultural history. In Civilizations the medieval poem Sir Gawain and the Green Knight is not merely a Christian allegory but a testament to the thousand year long deforestation of the trees that once covered 90 percent of the European mainland. The Indian Ocean has served as the world's greatest trading highway for millennia not merely because of cultural imperatives but because the regular monsoon winds blow one way in the summer and the other in the winter. In the words of the author Unlike previous attempts to write the comparative history of civilizations it is arranged environment by environment rather than period by period or society by society. Thus seventeen distinct habitats serve as jumping off points for a series of brilliant set piece comparisons thus tundra civilizations from Ice Age Europe are linked with the Inuit of the Pacific Northwest and the Mississippi mound builders and the deforesters of eleventh century Europe are both understood as civilizations built on woodlands. Here of course are the familiar riverine civilizations of Mesopotamia and China of the Indus and the Nile but also highland civilizations from the Inca to New Guinea island cultures from Minoan Crete to Polynesia to Renaissance Venice.

maritime civilizations of the Indian Ocean and South China Sea even the Bushmen of Southern Africa are seen through a lens provided by the desert civilizations of Chaco Canyon More here are fascinating stories brilliantly told of the voyages of Chinese admiral Chen Ho and Portuguese commodore Vasco da Gama of the Great Khan and the Great Zimbabwe Here are Hesiod's tract on maritime trade in the early Aegean and the most up to date genetics of seed crops Erudite wide ranging a work of dazzling scholarship written with extraordinary flair Civilizations is a remarkable achievement a tour de force by a brilliant scholar Humanities ,1983 Mycenaean Civilization Bryan Feuer,2004-03-16 Classical Greeks considered the Mycenaean civilization to be the basis of their glorious and heroic heritage but its material existence was not confirmed until the excavations of Heinrich Schliemann in the late nineteenth century In the ensuing years as with the field of archaeology in general emphasis has shifted from revealing monuments and finding treasure to dealing with less glamorous more scientifically oriented investigations concerning aspects such as social and political organization economic functions and settlement patterns With its more than 2000 entries this reference work serves as both an introduction to and a summary of the study of ancient Mycenaean civilization Considerably expanded from the first edition there are 500 new entries representing materials published since 1991 The largest part of the book is made up of annotated bibliography entries arranged topically with introductory material for each section The book also includes a general introduction to Mycenaean civilization a glossary and author place and subject indexes
