China Pluperfect II Frank Vigneron, 2022-07-01 This book contains analysis of different domains of contemporary art in China seen through the lens of the epistemological changes described in China Pluperfect I Epistemology of Past and Outside in Chinese Art It first looks at the concept of ink art describing how it meant different things to different people in the former colony and how these different meanings came to determine certain institutional choices made at the beginning of the 21st century The following chapters are dedicated to issues related to the urban and rural contexts for art creation in Mainland China and Hong Kong One chapter observes the ups and downs of the representations of cities in the history of the People's Republic of China and how they have defined a certain idea of culture Another looks at how Chinese cities have been exceptional centers of art creations over the last thirty to forty years through the example of Shenzhen where a vibrant art scene albeit closely connected to Hong Kong which has become a major art hub in the last two decades has developed The following is dedicated to the changing fortunes of art making in the countryside observing how institutions in the Mainland and in Hong Kong have supported these practices very differently Frank Vigneron finally considers how the different speeds of globalization slow in the past and fast today have determined some of the issues of past and outside in the present particularly in the context of socially engaged art in both the Mainland and Hong Kong

The Long Patrol Roy Bainton, 2011-10-14 When the Allies occupied Germany at the end of the Second World War there were two million men present to witness the devastating end of the Third Reich Few of them could have imagined just how long this occupation was going to last right up to the fall of the Berlin Wall in 1989 and well into its aftermath Today some 17 000 British troops remain in Germany But over the past four and a half decades tens of thousands of British men and women have lived and worked in British Zone as members of the British Army of the Rhine BAOR some for relatively short periods many for much longer Long enough though for the experience to have a profound effect on their lives and on their attitudes THE LONG PATROL reveals what life has been like in the British Zone for those men and women and their families As the post war worlds of Britain and Germany had little in common they had to find their own identity often suspended between the two And what did the Germans make of the British How did they react when whole streets sometimes whole districts were requisitioned and occupied What were the psychological effects of a foreign army taking over the barracks of what had been until so recently the homes of the warriors of the 1 000 Year Reich Eventually the British became more and more insulated against the culture around them building their own camps their own cinemas In major centres like Berlin they lived a separate life whilst all around them Germany got on with the massive task of reconstruction In the background there lurked the ever present spectre of a possible Third World War Based largely on interviews and information culled from personal diaries and letters THE LONG PATROL is primarily an oral history of the British in Germany It also analyses and interprets experiences in an attempt to begin to make sense of an unusual and still significant part of British history in the twentieth century Funny tragic bizarre and poignant in equal parts THE LONG PATROL is an important contribution to the social history of post war Britain and Germ
