

Short Answer Question 2 (continued)

Score 0

Response accomplishes none of the tasks set by the question.

Score NR

No response. Response is completely blank.

Scoring Guide

0–3 points

- ONE point for identifying one way that the data in the chart illustrate global economic differences between countries in the late twentieth century
- ONE point for identifying one similarity (other than GDP per capita) that might account for the low life expectancies of some of the world's countries, as displayed in the chart
- ONE point for explaining one way in which longer life expectancies in some of the world's countries, as displayed in the chart, have led to new political, economic, or social problems

Scoring Notes

Examples of responses to part (a) that would earn credit:

- The data show that the United States has a higher GDP than Swaziland.
- The chart shows that developed countries have higher life expectancies than underdeveloped countries.
- The chart shows that people in developed economies in the West and Asia live longer than people in underdeveloped countries because they have better access to modern medicine and vaccines.

Examples of responses to part (b) that would earn credit:

- Poor water and food quality contribute to the low life expectancies in some of the countries shown in the chart.
- Formerly colonized countries shown in the chart might find it difficult to improve sanitation infrastructure and medical care because of economic imperialism.
- The lack of access to quality medical care and vaccines is a reason for the low life expectancies in some of the countries shown in the chart, particularly with the emergence of epidemic diseases such as AIDS and malaria.

Teaching History for Justice

Christopher C. Martell, Kaylene M. Stevens, 2021 Learn how to enact justice oriented pedagogy and foster students critical engagement in today's history classroom Over the past 2 decades various scholars have rightfully argued that we need to teach students to think like a historian or think like a democratic citizen In this book the authors advocate for cultivating activist thinking in the history classroom Teachers can use Teaching History for Justice to show students how activism was used in the past to seek justice how past social movements connect to the present and how democratic tools can be used to change society The first section examines the theoretical and research foundation for thinking like an activist and outlines three related pedagogical concepts social inquiry critical multiculturalism and transformative democratic citizenship The second section presents vignettes based on the authors studies of elementary middle and high school history teachers who engage in justice oriented teaching practices Book Features Outlines key components of justice oriented history pedagogy for the history and social studies K 12 classroom Advocates for students to develop thinking like an activist in their approach to studying the past Contains research based vignettes of four imagined teachers providing examples of what teaching history for justice can look like in practice Includes descriptions of typical units of study in the discipline of history and how they can be reimagined to help students learn about movements and social change

Historical Origins of International

Criminal Law Morten Bergsmo, CHEAH Wui Ling, YI Ping, 2014-12-12 The historical origins of international criminal law go beyond the key trials of Nuremberg and Tokyo but remain a topic that has not received comprehensive and systematic treatment This anthology aims to address this lacuna by examining trials proceedings legal instruments and publications that may be said to be the building blocks of contemporary international criminal law It aspires to generate new knowledge broaden the common hinterland to international criminal law and further consolidate this relatively young discipline of international law The anthology and research project also seek to question our fundamental assumptions of international criminal law by going beyond the geographical cultural and temporal limits set by the traditional narratives of its history and by questioning the roots of its substance process and institutions Ultimately we hope to raise awareness and generate further discussion about the historical and intellectual origins of international criminal law and its social function The contributions to the three volumes of this study bring together experts with different professional and disciplinary expertise from diverse continents and legal traditions Volume 1 comprises contributions by prominent international lawyers and researchers including Judge LIU Daqun Professor David Cohen Geoffrey Robertson QC Professor Paulus Mevis and Professor Jan Reijntjes

Engaging the Past Elizabeth George, 2024-02-14 Engaging the Past Action and Interaction in the History Classroom provides practical steps toward using engaging strategies in the classroom to teach students to think historically. These strategies include an approach developed by the author called The You Decide Lecture and innovative ways to use board games and role playing games in the history classroom. The goal is not simply to add window dressing to fundamentally dull lessons but rather to re-examine how teachers think about students as learners of history. This book follows the growing trend within historical pedagogy to care less about content coverage and more about deep engagement student learning and the importance of historical thinking. The students in our classrooms today are the history teachers of tomorrow and awakening them to the exciting complexities of the past is critical to keep the study of history thriving. Interdisciplinarity in World History Ahmed Abushouk, Mahjoob Zweiri, 2016-06-22 This book represents selected papers of an international conference convened by the Department of Humanities at Qatar University Doha in March 2013. Its theme was Interdisciplinarity in History: An Old Method in New World Context. Twelve out of the fifty papers presented at the conference have been thoroughly reviewed, revised, and compiled in this volume. Their contributions emphasize that interdisciplinarity in history has become a key term for professional historians who reject the professional identity of history based on its claimed autonomy and the distinctiveness of its research methods and argue that this claim has seriously narrowed the intellectual horizons of the discipline in terms of both teaching and research. The chapters also stress that historical research should not be confined to political events as it was by ancient historians but rather be open to other complex issues which require thorough investigation and collaboration between history and other disciplines. In this sense, interdisciplinarity in history is a process of answering questions, solving problems, or examining topics that are too broad or multifaceted to be tackled adequately by history as a discipline on its own. Therefore, history should not be regarded as a stationary subject as Robinson wrote but as a discipline that would transcend the limitations formerly imposed upon the study of the past and integrate with other social science disciplines to widen its methodological scope and investigate many issues that had previously ignored or marginalized.
