I believe that the E Symposium on Industrial and Systems Engineering (ISE) should promote an integrated learning environment for an interdisciplinary approach through its academic advisory programs that provide mathematics, statistics, and computer systems as additional rather than engineering subjects. Mathematical concepts have had impact in previous master's degree programs where students learned how to think, not the engineering and technological changes in themselves. I believe that ISE should have the opportunity to expand on the knowledge I was introduced to as "Math 101". I am excited to be able present to that learning system as the E Symposium on Industrial and Systems Engineering through the integration of the academic knowledge and my personal/industry-related experience as shown in my interdisciplinary research.
