The Pursuit of Happiness Bianca C. Williams, 2018-02-08 In The Pursuit of Happiness Bianca C Williams traces the experiences of African American women as they travel to Jamaica where they address the perils and disappointments of American racism by looking for intimacy happiness and a connection to their racial identities Through their encounters with Jamaican online communities and their participation in trips organized by Girlfriend Tours International the women construct notions of racial sexual and emotional belonging by forming relationships with Jamaican men and other girlfriends These relationships allow the women to exercise agency and find happiness in ways that resist the damaging intersections of racism and patriarchy in the United States However while the women require a spiritual and virtual connection to Jamaica in order to live happily in the United States their notion of happiness relies on travel which requires leveraging their national privilege as American citizens Williams s theorization of emotional transnationalism and the construction of affect across diasporic distance attends to the connections between race gender and affect while highlighting how affective relationships mark nationalized and gendered power differentials within the African diaspora Identity Crisis Joy Anisa, 2014-03 Following the principles in the Old Testament book of Nehemiah we too can rebuild A crisis can affect anyone at anytime and ruin life as we know it However the process of rebuilding is what will make all the difference Often the desire to be restored becomes the focus and the process by which that restoration comes is minimized Whatever has left you devastated restoration can come through Jesus Christ However it is His joy that will give you strength for the tough journey that must be experienced Catalog of Copyright Entries Library of Congress.
