Organizational Report Cards William T. Gormley Jr., David L. Weimer, 1999-03 In recent years consumers professional organizations government officials and third party payers have become increasingly concerned about how to assess the quality of the services provided by organizations in both the private and the public sectors One new approach is the organizational report card which compares the performance of organizations such as public schools colleges hospitals and HMOs This book offers the first comprehensive study of such instruments It discusses the circumstances under which they are desirable alternatives to other policy instruments such as regulation how they should be designed who is likely to use them and for what purpose and what role if any government should have in their creation Informed by cases drawn from education health and other policy areas this book develops a conceptual framework for analyzing these issues It explores the tradeoffs in measuring performance the methods of communicating results effectively to mass and elite audiences and the ways in which organizations respond to the data gathered

School Resources, the Achievement Gap, and the Law David J. Armor, John R. Munich, Aron Malatinszky, 2024-01-12 This book offers a novel and up to date exploration of the common belief that increasing conventional school resources will increase academic achievement and help close gaps between various advantaged and disadvantaged students Taking the scholarship around this question such as James S Coleman s 1965 report on the Equality of Educational Opportunity as a starting point it brings in an extensive range of contemporary data sources and statistical analysis to offer an updated robust and considered review of the issue Moving beyond these empirical questions it also explores how these empirical findings have been utilized in education adequacy litigation discussing the evolving law of adequacy cases while explaining the challenges of introducing complex data and analyses within a litigation framework Judges typically have little experience with the complexity of modern education data and the analyses required to draw sound inferences It will thus be of interest to scholars researchers and faculty and jurists with expertise or interest in education policy the economics and sociology of education and public policy American Education William John Bennett, United States. Inclusion in Urban Educational Environments Denise E. Armstrong, Brenda J. Western Journal of Education ,1898 Going Up the River of Shame Thomas E. Truitt,2008-11-14 On a steamy August day in 1993 the Pee Dee Education Center held its monthly meeting in the long narrow board room on the second floor of the building located on Dargan Street in downtown Florence On that day eighteen of the nineteen member superintendents voted to sue the state of South Carolina As they took this action the superintendents were not aware they were becoming a part of a state by state national movement a movement that would challenge state governments to provide a higher level of education for each state s poorest students The South Carolinians only knew they were struggling to offer students in their districts the kind of education the students needed to break out of the cycle of poverty in which most of them were trapped This book is the story of how the Pee Dee superintendents brought the suit against the state risking their reputations and livelihoods to stand up for poor children in their districts It s also the story of a state s unwillingness to address the educational needs of its children Part I of the book traces the development of school finance suits in the country with special emphasis on New Jersey Kentucky and Ohio Part II describes the South Carolina trial including testimonies of the eight plaintiff superintendents and other key witnesses Part III includes the court decision in the South Carolina case a comparison of that decision with those in New Jersey Kentucky and Ohio and a more detailed comparison of the South Carolina case with its neighbor North Carolina
