Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 10-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and blood pressure (BP) of sedentary, middle-aged men. The subjects were divided into two groups: a control group and a training group. The training group performed a 10-week program of aerobic exercise, while the control group remained sedentary. HR and BP were measured at baseline and at the end of the 10-week period. The results showed that the training group had a significant decrease in both HR and BP compared to the control group. The decrease in HR was approximately 10 beats per minute, and the decrease in BP was approximately 10 mmHg. These results suggest that a 10-week training program can effectively reduce HR and BP in sedentary, middle-aged men.
