➤ Platonic academy

Plato, an ancient Greek philosopher, was born in Athens, Greece, in 428/427 BCE and died in 348/347 BCE. He was a student of Socrates from 470 to 399 BCE, a teacher of Aristotle from 384 to 322 BCE, and the founder of the Platonic Academy. Many consider his academy program to be the first Western university. Plato wrote at least 25 philosophical works. He is regarded as one of the founders of Western philosophy, having dedicated his life to learning and teaching.

Resources in Education ,1991-04      Catalog of Copyright Entries. Third Series Library of Congress. Copyright Office,1976      Aristotle, Plato and Pythagoreanism in the First Century BC Malcolm Schofield,2013-01-17 This book presents an up to date overview of the main new directions taken by ancient philosophy in the first century BC a period in which the dominance exercised in the Hellenistic age by Stoicism Epicureanism and Academic Scepticism gave way to a more diverse and experimental philosophical scene Its development has been much less well understood but here a strong international team of leading scholars of the subject reconstruct key features of the changed environment They examine afresh the evidence for some of the central Greek thinkers of the period as well as illuminating Cicero's engagement with Plato both as translator and in his own philosophising The intensity of renewed study of Aristotle's Categories and Plato's Timaeus is an especially striking outcome of their discussions The volume will be indispensable for scholars and students interested in the history of Platonism and Aristotelianism      Proclus Lucas Siorvanes,Researcher Research Unit for the Sociology of Development Nicoli Nattrass,1996-01-01 Proclus 410 485 was the last great Greek philosopher In this study Proclus expert Lucas Siorvantes sets out to strip away the complexities surrounding this traditionally difficult philosopher with the intention of providing an accessible introduction to his work Based on extensive study of the primary sources he takes the reader through Proclus metaphysics and epistemology introducing the results of original research as well as explaining the more difficult passages Siorvantes surveys the philosophical climate of Late Antiquity dominated by Aristotle and Plato and points out the direct influence Proclus had on the subsequent work of Kepler and Copernicus      Thinking on Thinking Robert M. Berchman,2021-04-23 Aristotle and Plotinus set the horizon of inquiry thinking is thinking on thinking Discussion of mind meaning and subjectivity begins with the question How is thinking on thinking different from the kind of thinking with which we are familiar The answer is that thinking on thinking is about the presuppositions concepts and problems that generate questions in ancient and modern metaphysics epistemology aesthetics philosophy of mind and philosophy of language Topics examined include the nature of intentionality and meaning identity and relation mind and consciousness self identity and subjectivity which lead into discussions concerning other minds the limits of thought and language and the emergence of aesthetics of the self The effects of thinking on thinking are mapped particularly in parsing problems in ancient modern analytic and phenomenological thought with advocacy of its importance in the present age      A History of Philosophy Wilhelm Windelband,James Hayden Tufts,1901      A history of philosophy with especial references to the formation and dev Wilhelm Windelband,1901      A History of Philosophy with Especial Reference to the Formation and Development of Its Problems and Conceptions Wilhelm Windelband,1893      The Bloomsbury Companion to Aristotle Claudia Baracchi,2014-01-30 Aristotle is one of the most crucial figures in the history of Western thought and his name and ideas continue to be invoked in a wide range of contemporary philosophical discussions The

Bloomsbury Companion to Aristotle brings together leading scholars from across the world and from a variety of philosophical traditions to survey the recent research on Aristotle's thought and its contributions to the full spectrum of philosophical enquiry from logic to the natural sciences and psychology from metaphysics to ethics politics and aesthetics Further essays address aspects of the transmission preservation and elaboration of Aristotle's thought in subsequent phases of the history of philosophy from the Judeo Arabic reception to debates in Europe and North America and look forward to potential future directions for the study of his thought In addition The Bloomsbury Companion to Aristotle includes an extensive range of essential reference tools offering assistance to researchers working in the field including a chronology of recent research a glossary of key Aristotelian terms with Latin concordances and textual references and a guide to further reading

Trends in the Historiography of Science K. Gavroglu, Y. Christianidis, Efthymios Nicolaidis, 2013-04-18 The articles in this volume have been first presented during an international Conference organised by the Greek Society for the History of Science and Technology in June 1990 at Corfu The Society was founded in 1989 and planned to hold a series of meetings to impress upon an audience comprised mainly by Greek students and scholars the point that history of science is an autonomous discipline with its own plurality of approaches developed over the years as a result of long discussions and disputes within the community of historians of science The Conference took place at a time when more and more people came to realise that the future of the Greek Universities and Research Centres depends not only on the progress of the institutional reforms but also very crucially on the establishment of new and modern subject areas Though there have been significant steps towards such a direction in the physical sciences mathematics and engineering the situation in the so called humanities has been at best confusing Political expediencies of the post war years and ideological commitments to a glorious yet very distant past paralysed the development of the humanities and constrained them within a framework which could not allow much more than a philological approach

Reflections on the Logic of the Good Chana Cox, 2007-10-23 Reflections on the Logic of the Good argues that a single overarching theory of the good is not possible or desirable Nor can the common good be achieved by means of the perfect cooperation between the members of the community In fact a coherent plan for what Isaiah Berlin calls a frictionless and factionless society is a priori impossible All such plans fail not simply because of a failure of nerve or commitment or idealism The failure of each of these utopian visions is inevitable In this respect the mathematics of control systems is entirely general and does not distinguish between mechanical electronic biological or social systems In adaptive systems multiple automatic control mechanisms are far more effective than any single central plan no matter how benevolent rational or enlightened that single source of control Even reason itself on this account is best understood as a complex constantly adapting system In fact stability and the health of the community is achieved by checks and balances agonists and antagonists forces and counterforces rather than by central guidance and near perfect cooperation Reflections on the Logic of the Good offers an alternative to monism in terms of a new interpretation of Protagoras maxim Man is the measure of the good based on an analogy between measure as applied to space and measure as applied to the good Cox provides a metaphysical and philosophical foundation for those who argue against the micromanagement of the individual the economy and society In doing so she offers a defense of the open mind the open society and the open universe What emerges from this analysis is a defense of a nonrelativistic ethical pluralism and an entirely general invisible hand theory entrenched not only in the nature of man but also in the nature of nature El-Hi Textbooks in Print ,1976 College Physics Noel Charlton Little,1928 MAH B.A./B.Sc.
