

Daddy

I cannot wait yet ONE more day
to see your smiling face

TO HAVE YOU HOLD ME ON YOUR CHEST and feel your warm embrace

TO HOLD MY TINY BABY HANDS and KISS me on my cheek

TO ROCK ME Gently IN YOUR ARMS and watch me fall asleep

TO SING ME SILLY LULLABIES
and jam to rockin toons

I CANNOT WAIT TO SEE YOU DADDY
I know the time is soon!

Poem To Daddy From Unborn Baby:

Sylvia Plath Gary Lane, 2019-12-01 Originally published in 1979 Sylvia Plath is one of the most controversial poets of our time For some readers she is the symbol of women oppressed For others she is the triumphant victim of her own intensity the poet pursuing sensation to the ultimate uncertainty death For still others she is a doomed innocent whose sensibilities were too acute for the coarseness of our world The new essays of this edited collection with a single exception all were written for this book broaden the perspective of Plath criticism by going beyond the images of Plath as a cult figure to discuss Plath the poet The contributors among them Calvin Bedient Hugh Kenner J D O Hara and Marjorie Perloff draw on material that most previous commentators lacked a substantial body of Plath's poetry and prose a moderately detailed biographical record and an important selection of the poet's correspondence The result is an important and provocative volume one in which major critics offer an abundance of insights into the poet's mind and creative process It offers insightful and original readings of many poems some like Berck Plage scarcely mentioned in previous criticism and fosters new understandings of such matters as Plath's comedy the development of her poetic voice and her relation to poetic traditions The serious reader whatever his or her initial opinion of Sylvia Plath is sure to find that opinion challenged changed or deepened These essays offer insights into a violently interesting poet one who despite or perhaps because of her suicide at age thirty continues to fascinate and trouble us

Out of the Cradle Endlessly Rocking Nephie Christodoulides, 2021-11-15 Out of the Cradle Endlessly Rocking delves deeply into the notion of motherhood in Sylvia Plath's work in order to redeem Plath from the one dimensional role assigned to her of the suicidal father obsessed poet Written from the theoretical perspective of Julia Kristeva's theory of subject formation the book focuses on Plath's baby poems in which mother figures are seen as subjects in process oscillating between authentication and non authentication in motherhood Furthermore since the mother is always a daughter part of the discussion centers on Plath's daughterhood poetry in which daughter figures are engaged in an endless struggle to release themselves from a suffocating maternal hold and achieve their own linguistic individuation Finally Plath's works for children The Bed Book The It Doesn't Matter Suit Mrs Cherry's Kitchen as well as her fairy tale poems largely ignored until now are read as manifestations of the self's regressive journey to once below a time to grasp an elusive pre symbolic organization and take signification back to infancy The book makes extensive use of Plath's drafts mainly of the Ariel poems her recycled materials annotated books from her personal library published and unpublished material from The Lilly Library Archive The Mortimer Rare Book Room and The Ted Hughes Archive in Emory

Gendering Military Sacrifice Cecilia Åse, Maria Wendt, 2019-02-12 This book offers a feminist analysis of military sacrifice and reveals the importance of a gender perspective in understanding the idea of honourable death In present day security discourses traditional masculinised obligations to die for the homeland and its women and children are challenged and renegotiated Working from a critical feminist perspective this book examines the political and societal justifications for sacrifice in wars motivated by human rights and an international responsibility to protect With original empirical research from six European countries the volume demonstrates how gendered and nationalistic representations saturate contemporary notions of sacrifice and legitimate military violence A key argument is that a gender perspective is necessary in order to understand and to oppose the idea of the honourable military death Bringing together a wide range of materials including public debates rituals monuments and artwork to analyse the justifications for soldiers deaths in the Afghanistan war 2002-14 the analysis challenges methodological nationalism The authors develop a feminist comparative methodology and engage in cross country and transdisciplinary analysis This innovative approach generates new understandings of the ways in which both the idealisation and the political contestation of military violence depend on gendered national narratives This book will be of much interest to students of gender studies critical military studies security studies and International Relations
