

SITUATED ALONG THE YAMUNA RIVER, New Delhi was built by the British in the 1930s and is the youngest of several historic cities that have occupied this site. Now a noisy and chaotic metropolis of 14 million people and a mélange of shanty settlements and smart colonies, it is still dotted with the remains of its interesting past. There are museums and art galleries with impressive collections, and its shops offer a tempting array of handicrafts. Delhi is a major cultural centre of the country with music, dance and art events held throughout the year.

The Jama Masjid

is the largest congregational mosque in Asia with lovely terraces in the surrounding lanes.

Connaught Place

was built in the 1930s as the business centre of New Delhi, its concentric circles around a central park. Its stately colonnaded corridors contain shops and offices.

Rashtrapati Bhavan

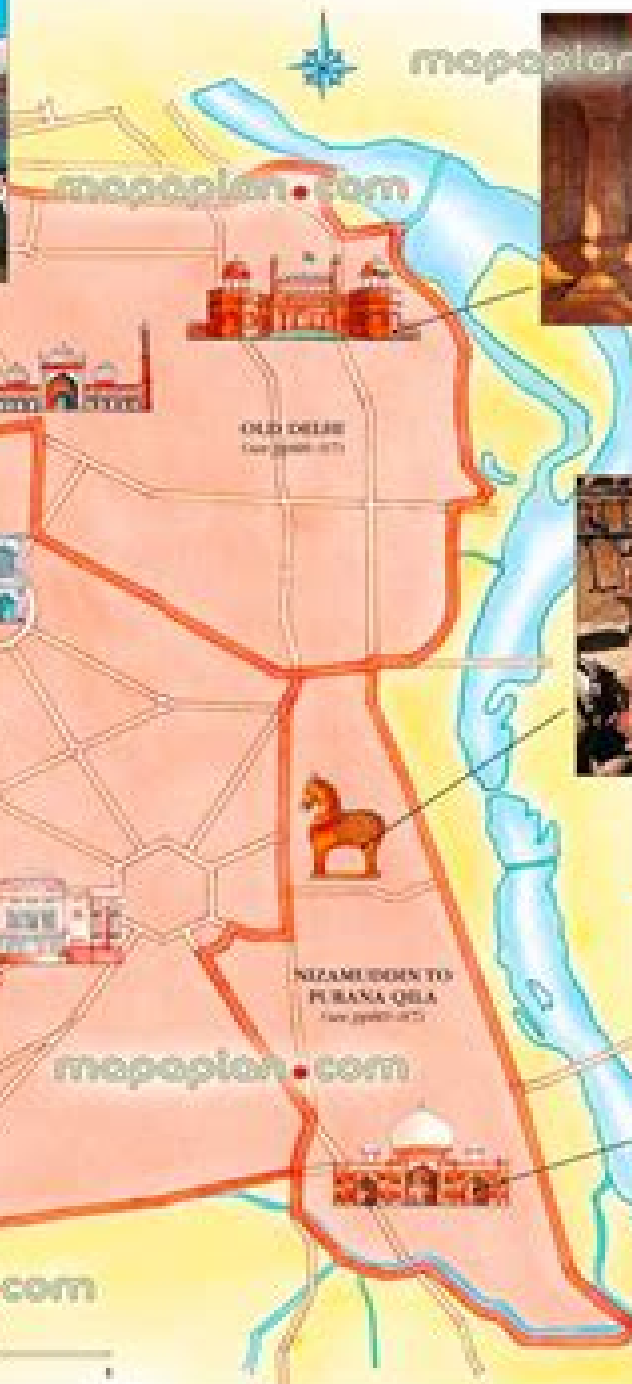

official residence of the President of India. Called Viceroy's House in colonial times, it was designed by Edwin Lutyens and occupies the crest of Raisina Hill. Its forecourt is the venue for colourful state pageantry.

The National Museum

houses the most comprehensive collection of antiquities in the country. This 2nd-century Sangua panel of a grieving woman is part of a growing section on sculpture from various periods and places.

Red Fort

an impressive fort-palace built by Shah Jahan, was the seat of Mughal power. After the Indian Mutiny of 1857, the British converted it into a garrison and it was stripped of many precious treasures.

The Crafts Museum

exhibits an insight into India's cultural, craft and rural traditions. The museum exhibits textiles, folk art and objects of everyday use in terracotta, metal and wood.

NIZAMUDDIN DARGAH

Now, 1990-1991

Humayun's Tomb

is where the second Mughal emperor Humayun is buried. The garden tomb with its imposing double dome is considered by many to be the first great Mughal mausoleum in this region.

distinguishable by its mass character from the travel undertaken in the past This is largely a post second world war phenomenon Until recently only affluent people participated in tourism Increased leisure higher incomes and greatly enhanced mobility have combined to enable more people to participate in Tourism Revolution in transport technological progress and the emergence of a middle class with time and money to spare for recreation has led to the growth of tourism the modern holiday industry Thus tourism is no longer the prerogative of a few but is an accepted part of life of a large number of people India is one of the oldest civilizations with a kaleidoscopic variety and rich cultural heritage For centuries India has been a centre of attraction for different people for different reasons The ancient invaders viewed it as a goldmine with unlimited wealth to plunder the learned were fascinated by its mystic spiritualism and profound philosophy the uninitiated saw it as a land of naked fakirs and snake charmers while the others were simply charmed by the sheer beauty of its natural attractions and amazing variety of its flora and fauna
