is one of the most important open events in the calendar for anyone from academia or industry involved in System Design Languages and modelling technologies. It is a primary conference event for discussion of the evolution and use of these languages. The most recent innovations, trends, experiences and concerns in the field are discussed and presented. The SDL Forum series addresses issues related to the modelling and analysis of reactive systems, distributed systems and real time and complex systems such as telecommunications, automotive and aerospace applications. The intended audience of the series includes users of modelling techniques in industrial research and standardization contexts as well as tool vendors and language researchers. Of course, during the last three decades, languages, associated methods and tools have evolved and new ones have been developed. The application domain has changed almost beyond recognition.

Three decades ago, the mobile technology of today was science fiction, whereas now we find software systems embedded in inexpensive children's toys. More recently, multi-core processors have become common technology for consumer computers and are beginning to be applied in small devices. Even in small, co-operating independently powered remote devices such as motes and mobile phones, there is enough memory and processing power to support quite sophisticated operating systems and applications.

The Publisher, 1907 Encyclopedia of Adolescence Roger J.R. Levesque, 2011-09-05

The Encyclopedia of Adolescence breaks new ground as an important central resource for the study of adolescence. Comprehensive in breadth and textbook in depth, the Encyclopedia of Adolescence, with entries presented in easy-to-access A to Z format, serves as a reference repository of knowledge in the field as well as a frequently updated conduit of new knowledge long before such information trickles down from research to standard textbooks. By making full use of Springer's print and online flexibility, the Encyclopedia is at the forefront of efforts to advance the field by pushing and creating new boundaries and areas of study that further our understanding of adolescents and their place in society. Substantively, the Encyclopedia draws from four major areas of research relating to adolescence. The first broad area includes research relating to Self Identity and Development in Adolescence. This area covers research relating to identity from early adolescence through emerging adulthood, basic aspects of development, e.g. biological, cognitive, social and foundational developmental theories. In addition, this area focuses on various types of identity: gender, sexual, civic, moral, political, racial, spiritual, religious, and so forth. The second broad area centers on Adolescents' Social and Personal Relationships. This area of research examines the nature and influence of a variety of important relationships, including family, peer, friends, sexual and romantic, as well as significant nonparental adults. The third area examines Adolescents in Social Institutions. This area of research centers on the influence and nature of important institutions that serve as the socializing contexts for adolescents. These major institutions include schools, religious groups, justice systems, medical fields, cultural contexts, media, legal systems, economic structures, and youth organizations. Adolescent Mental Health constitutes the last major area of research. This broad area of research focuses on the wide variety of human thoughts, actions and behaviors relating to mental health, from psychopathology to thriving.
