The Weight of Shadows José Orduña, 2016-04-12 Tracing his story of becoming a US citizen, Jos Orduña's memoir explores the complex issues of immigration and assimilation. Jos Orduña chronicles the process of becoming a North American citizen in a post 9/11 United States. Intractable realities rooted in the continuity of US imperialism to globalism form the landscape of Orduña's daily experience where the geopolitical meets the quotidian. In one anecdote, he recalls how the only apartment his parents could rent was one that didn't require signing a lease or running a credit check where the floors were so crooked he once dropped an orange and watched it roll in six directions before settling in a corner. Orduña describes the absurd feeling of being handed a piece of paper, his naturalization certificate, that guarantees something he has always known: he has every right to be here. A trenchant exploration of race, class, and identity, The Weight of Shadows is a searing meditation on the nature of political, linguistic, and cultural borders and the meaning of America.

Drag Me Out Like a Lady Jentri Anders, 2022-09-13 She was arrested in the Berkeley Free Speech Movement. She was at the Be In when Timothy Leary told us to drop out. She was in the battle of People's Park when James Rector was killed. She was tear gassed on campus at UC Berkeley. She was at Altamont when a Hell's Angel murdered a concertgoer. Now she has written her autobiography describing her unusual trajectory through an unusual era. In the spirit of Howard Zinn, Jentri Anders presents her life as an activist and anthropologist. A Southerner with deep roots in Georgia and Arkansas, she went to high school in Groveland, Florida, one of the most notorious locations in black history. Expelled from both a Georgia Bible college and Florida State University for political reasons, she moved to California, participated in the antiwar movement, there she was sexually and politically harassed out of UC Berkeley. She dropped out of mainstream culture to become a back-to-the-land hippie in what is now called the Emerald Triangle in Humboldt County, California, then dropped back in, wrote the definitive ethnography of back-to-the-land hippies, and was featured in the Academy Award-nominated documentary film Berkeley in the Sixties. A fascinating writer, Anders is also a scholar. Drag Me Out Like a Lady is thoroughly researched, indexed, referenced, and documented, including historical material from her personal files. Cultural historians, anthropologists, activists, feminists, literate hippies, as well as people who just like weird stories, will all love this book.

Dream Not of Other Worlds Huston Diehl,2007-04 When Huston Diehl began teaching a fourth grade class in a Negro elementary school in rural Louisa County Virginia the school s white superintendent assured her that he didn t expect her to teach those children anything She soon discovered how these low expectations widely shared by the white community impeded her students ability to learn With its overcrowded classrooms poorly trained teachers empty bookshelves and meager supplies her segregated school was vastly inferior to the county s white elementary schools and the message it sent her students was clear dream not of other worlds In her often lyrical memoir Diehl reveals how in the intimacy of the classroom her students reached out to her a young white northerner and shared their fears anxieties and personal beliefs Repeatedly surprised and challenged by her students Diehl questions her long standing middle class assumptions and confronts her own prejudices In doing so she eloquently reflects on what the students taught her about the hurt of bigotry and the humiliation of poverty as well as dignity courage and resiliency Set in the waning days of the Jim Crow South Dream Not of Other Worlds chronicles an important moment in American history Diehl examines the history of black education in the South and narrates the dramatic struggle to integrate Virginia s public schools Meeting with some of her former students and colleagues and visiting the school where she once taught she considers what has and has not changed after more than thirty years of integrated schooling This provocative book raises many issues that are of urgent concern today the continuing social consequences of segregated schools the role of public education in American society and the challenges of educating minority and poor children Cornell Countryman ,1915
