Plotting Justice Narrative Ethics And Literary Culture After 9 11:

Plotting Justice Georgiana Banita, 2012-10-01 Have the terrorist attacks of September 11 shifted the moral coordinates of contemporary fiction And how might such a shift reflected in narrative strategies and forms relate to other themes and trends emerging with the globalization of literature This book pursues these questions through works written in the wake of 9 11 and examines the complex intersection of ethics and narrative that has defined a significant portion of British and American fiction over the past decade Don DeLillo Pat Barker Aleksandar Hemon Lorraine Adams Michael Cunningham and Patrick McGrath are among the authors Georgiana Banita considers Their work illustrates how post 9 11 literature expresses an ethics of equivocation in formal elements of narrative in a complex scrutiny of justice and in tense dialogues linking this fiction with the larger political landscape of the era Through a broad historical and cultural lens Plotting Justice reveals links between the narrative ethics of post 9 11 fiction and events preceding and following the terrorist attacks events that defined the last half of the twentieth century from the Holocaust to the Balkan War and those that 9 11 precipitated from war in Afghanistan to the Abu Ghraib scandal Challenging the rhetoric of the war on terror the book honors the capacity of literature to articulate ambiguous forms of resistance in ways that reconfigure the imperatives and responsibilities of narrative for the twenty first century

The Post-9/11 City in Novels Karolina Golimowska, 2016-03-10 Post 9 11 fiction reflects how the September 11 2001 attacks have influenced our concept of public space from urban behavior patterns to architecture and urban movement It also suggests a need for remapping the real and imagined spaces where we live and work Through close readings of novels from both sides of the Atlantic this analysis of the literary 21st century metropolis explores the fictional post 9 11 city as a global space not defined or contained by its physical limits Narrating 9/11 John

N. Duvall, Robert P. Marzec, 2015-09-11 Narrating 9 11 pushes beyond a critical focus on domestic realism offering chapters that examine speculative and genre fiction postmodernism climate change and the evolving security state as well as the television series Lost and the film Paradise Now

Radical Planes? 9/11 and Patterns of Continuity, 2016-09-07 Radical Planes 9 11 and Patterns of Continuity edited by Dunja M Mohr and Birgit D we explores the intersections between narrative disruption and continuity in post 9 11 narratives from an interdisciplinary transnational perspective foregrounding the transatlantic cultural memory of 9 11 Contesting the earlier notion of a cataclysm that has changed everything and critically reflecting on American exceptionalism the collection offers an inquiry into what has gone unchanged in terms of pre 9 11 post 9 11 and post post 9 11 issues and what silences persist How do literature and performative and visual arts negotiate this precarious balance of a pervasive discourse of change and emerging patterns of political ideological and cultural continuity

The Cultural Imaginary of Terrorism in Public Discourse, Literature, and Film Michael Frank, 2017-06-14 This study investigates the overlaps between political discourse and literary and cinematic fiction arguing that both are informed by and contribute to the cultural imaginary of terrorism Whenever mass mediated acts of terrorism occur they tend to trigger a proliferation of threat scenarios not only in the realm of literature and film but also in the statements of policymakers security experts and journalists In the process the discursive boundary between the factual and the speculative can become difficult to discern To elucidate this phenomenon this book proposes that terror is a halfway house between the real and the imaginary For what characterizes terrorism is less the single act of violence than it is the fact that this act is perceived to be the beginning or part of a potential series and that further acts are expected to occur As turn of the century writers such as Stevenson and Conrad were the first to point out this gives terror a fantastical dimension a fact reinforced by the clandestine nature of both terrorist and counter terrorist operations Supported by contextual readings of selected texts and films from The Dynamiter and The Secret Agent through late Victorian science fiction to post 9 11 novels and cinema this study explores the complex interplay between actual incidents of political violence the surrounding discourse and fictional engagement with the issue to show how terrorism becomes an object of fantasy Drawing on research from a variety of disciplines The Cultural Imaginary of Terrorism will be a valuable resource for those with interests in the areas of Literature and Film Terrorism Studies Peace and Conflict Studies Trauma Studies and Cultural Studies

9/11 Fiction, Empathy, and Otherness Tim Gauthier, 2015-04-02 9 11 Fiction Empathy and Otherness analyzes recent works of fiction whose principal subject is the attacks of September 11 2001 The readings of the novels question and assess the validity and potential effectiveness of both the subsequent calls for a cosmopolitan outlook and the related but no less significant emphasis placed on empathy and exhibited in such recent studies as Jeremy Rifkin's The Empathic Civilization Karsten Stueber's Rediscovering Empathy and Julinna Oxley's The Moral Dimensions of Empathy As such this study examines the extent to which us and them narratives proliferated after 9 11 and the degree to which calls for greater empathy and a renewed emphasis on cosmopolitan values served to counterbalance an apparent movement towards increased polarization encapsulated in the oft mentioned clash of civilizations A principal objective of the book is thus to examine the ethical and political implications revealed in the exercising or withholding of empathy For though empathy in and of itself may not be sufficient it is nevertheless a vital component in the generation of actions one might identify as cosmopolitan In other words this book examines the responses to 9 11 in both Western and non Western novels in order to uncover what their dramatic renderings might tell us about the possibility of a truly globalized community The attainability of any cosmopolitan engagement is contingent upon our abilities to understand the other knowing always that otherness eludes our grasp and the best we can do is imagine some version of it It is primarily in this capacity that the novel has a role to play Whether it is the challenge of connecting with the survivors of trauma and the inhabitants of a traumatized city or with a hyperpower that has experienced its own vulnerability for the first time or even with the terrorist who seeks to commit violent acts these novels afford us the means of examining the complex dynamics involved in any exhibition of fellow feeling for the other and the ever present potential failure of that engagement

Revolting Indolence Marcos Gonzalez,2024-12-03 How indolent practices in Latinx LGBTQ culture challenge capitalist imperatives to be productive Revolting Indolence makes a case for laziness as an aesthetic political strategy for countering the oppressive logics of cisheteronormative racial capitalism Focusing on ways in which queer and trans Latinx people demonstrate the unwillingness of their participation in productivist ethics and allied respectability politics Marcos Gonzalez argues that slacking off lounging daydreaming and partying are liberatory practices revolts that in turn are treated as revolting Gonzalez explores how queer and trans Latinx artists refute discourses in which work is a moral good In Paris Is Burning RuPaul s Drag Race documentary photography of queer and trans Latinx life in Los Angeles and other sources Gonzalez identifies two lazy styles first flagrant refusals of work that critique capitalist reason and second the invention of alternative aesthetic worlds beyond racial capitalism and violence targeting queer and trans people whose rejection of the cisgender nuclear family paradigm is rightly seen as threatening the stability of a functioning capitalist system Reclaiming laziness as a resource for radical imagining Revolting Indolence asks us to do that which we want most and which capitalist exploitation can least tolerate to slow down

Cultural Melancholia: US Trauma Discourses Before and After 9/11 Christina Cavedon,2015-09-01 In Cultural Melancholia US Trauma Discourses Before and After 9 11 Christina Cavedon frames her examination of 9 11 fiction especially Jay McInerney s The Good Life and Don DeLillo s Falling Man with a thorough discussion of what US reactions to the terrorist attacks of September 11 2001 disclose about American culture Offering a comparative reading of pre and post 9 11 literary public and academic discourses she deconstructs the still commonly held belief that cultural repercussions of the attacks primarily testify to a cultural trauma in the wake of the collectively witnessed media event She innovatively re interprets discourses to be symptomatic of a malaise which had afflicted American culture already prior to 9 11 and can best be approached with melancholia as an analytical concept

Ten Years after Katrina Mary Ruth Marotte,Glenn Jellenik,2014-12-18 Hurricane Katrina blasted the Gulf Coast in 2005 leaving an unparalleled trail of physical destruction In addition to that damage the storm wrought massive psychological and cultural trauma on Gulf Coast residents and on America as a whole Details of the devastation were quickly reported and misreported by media outlets and a slew of articles and books followed offering a spectrum of socio political commentaries and analyses But beyond the reportage and the commentary a series of fictional and creative accounts of the Katrina experience have emerged in various mediums novels plays films television shows songs graphic novels collections of photographs and works of creative non fiction that blur the lines between reportage memoir and poetry The creative outpouring brings to mind Salman Rushdie s observation that Man is the storytelling animal the only creature on earth that tells itself stories to understand what kind of creature it is This book accepts the urge behind Rushdie s formula humans tell stories in order to understand ourselves our world and our place in it Indeed the creative output on Katrina represents efforts to construct a cohesive narrative out of the wreckage of a cataclysmic event However this book goes further than merely cataloguing the ways that Katrina narratives support Rushdie s rich claim This collection represents a concentrated attempt to chart the effects of Katrina on our cultural identity it seeks to not merely catalogue the trauma of the event but to explore the ways that such an event functions in and on the literature that represents it The body of work that sprung out of Katrina offers a unique critical opportunity to better understand the genres that structure our stories and the ways stories reflect and produce culture and identity These essays raise new questions about the representative genres themselves The stories are efforts to represent and understand the human condition but so are the organizing principles that communicate the stories That is Katrina narratives present an opportunity to interrogate the ways that specific narrative structures inform our understanding and develop our cultural identity This book offers a critical processing of the newly emerging and diverse canon of Katrina texts

Religion and Identity in the Post-9/11 Vampire Christina Wilkins, 2018-04-03 This book offers a unique argument for the emergence of a post 9 11 vampire that showcases changing perspectives on identity and religion in American culture offering a look at how cultural narratives can be used to work through trauma Cultural narratives have long played a valuable role in mediating difficult and politically sensitive topics Christina Wilkins addresses how the figure of the vampire is used in modern narratives and how it has changed from previous incarnations particularly in American narratives The vampire has been a cultural staple for centuries but the current conception of the figure has been arguably Americanized with the rise of the modern American vampire coinciding with the aftermath of 9 11 Wilkins investigates changes evident in cultural representations and how they effectively mediate the altered approach to issues of trauma and identity By investing metaphorical tropes with cultural significance the book offers audiences the opportunity to consider new perspectives and prompt important discussions while also illuminating changes in societal attitudes

September 11, 2001 as a Cultural Trauma Christine Muller, 2017-01-20 This book investigates the September 11 2001 attacks as a case study of cultural trauma as well as how the use of widely distributed easily accessible forms of popular culture can similarly focalize evaluation of other moments of acute and profoundly troubling historical change The attacks confounded the traditionally dominant narrative of the American Dream which has persistently and pervasively featured optimism and belief in a just world that affirms and rewards self determination This shattering of a worldview fundamental to mainstream experience and cultural understanding in the United States has manifested as a cultural trauma throughout popular culture in the first decade of the twenty first century Popular press oral histories literary fiction television and film are among the multiple ubiquitous sites evidencing preoccupations with existential crisis vulnerability and moral ambivalence with fate no win scenarios and anti heroes now pervading commonly told and readily accessible stories Christine Muller examines how popular culture affords sites for culturally traumatic events to manifest and how readers viewers and other audiences negotiate their fallout

A Poetics of Trauma after 9/11 Katharina Donn,2016-10-04 The 9 11 attacks brought large scale violence into the 21st century with force and have come to epitomize the entanglement of intimate vulnerability and virtual spectacle that is typical of the globalized present This book works at the intersection of trauma studies affect theory and literary studies to offer radically new interpretive frames for interrogating the challenges inherent in representing the initial moments of the terrorist encounter Beyond the paradigm of traumatic unspeakability post 9 11 texts expose the materiality of the human body in its universal vulnerability The intersubjective empathy this engenders is politically subversive as it undermines the discourse of historical singularity and exceptionalism by establishing a global network of reference and dialogue Innovative theoretical interconnections between clinical pathology concepts of cultural trauma and political aesthetics lay the foundations for exploring formally and geographically diverse texts Close readings of works by Jonathan Safran Foer Art Spiegelman Don DeLillo and William Gibson map the relationship between representations of 9 11 and complex aspects of trauma theory This detailed approach makes a case for revisiting trauma theory and bringing its Freudian origins into the digitized present It showcases trauma as a physical and psychological wound as well as an experience that is simultaneously pre discursive and inhibited by the virtuality of the present day real Exploring how contemporary trauma studies can take into account the digitization and virtuality of present day realities this book is a key intervention in establishing a contemporary ethics of witnessing terror
