Social Stratification in Papua, New Guinea Mark Bray, Peter D. Smith, 1985 In the developed world the links between education and social stratification have been a focus of study for the past thirty years In less developed countries the emphasis has been on the link between education and economic growth This book is a collection of original and perceptive papers which examine the relationships between the developing formal education system and geographical social and sexual inequalities in one Third World Country Papua New Guinea The book examines both in school and out of school factors and focuses attention on a crucial but neglected area of development Papua and New Guinea Medical Journal, 2007

Equity In Mathematics Education Gabriele Kaiser, 2005-08-08 This text provides a critical overview of current thinking about equity issues in the teaching and learning of mathematics Grounded in feminist theories of curriculum change and a broad range of cultural perspectives the new approaches described here go beyond special programmes and experimental treatments designed to correct perceived problems and deficits Instead they establish how improved instructional practices and a fuller understanding of the nature of the mathematical enterprise can overcome the systemic obstacles that have thwarted women's participation in this important field This book will appeal to all those who are interested in the mathematical education of women including teachers parents administrators and researchers Food Security for Papua New Guinea R. M. Bourke, 2001 People have adequate food security when households have the capacity to access sufficient food at all times either through self production or through market purchases Overall food security is high in PNG as most rural people have access to land and can grow most of their food requirements The food security situation is considerably better in PNG now than it was before the Pacific war This is because high yield staple crops have been adopted and people have access to cash income that can be used to purchase food The adoption of new staple crops provided a once off benefit however this phase is now ending in PNG This proceedings contains the 120 papers presented at the Papua New Guinea Food and Nutrition 2000 Conference held at the PNG University of Technology in Lae from 26-30 June 2000 Women and Education in Papua New Guinea and the South Pacific Eileen Wormald, Anne Crossley, 1988 Papers originally presented at the Women in Education Conference organized by the Education Faculty of the University of Papua New Guinea and held Sept 1-4 1987
