, André Breton in Exile Victoria Clouston, 2017-09-22 Following the journey of Andr Breton the leader of the Surrealist movement into exile during the Second World War the author of this book traces the trajectory of his thought and poetic output from 1941 1948 Through a close examination of the major and as yet little studied works written during these years she demonstrates how Breton s quest for a new myth for the postwar world led him to widen his enquiry into hermeticism myth and the occult This ground breaking study establishes Breton s profound intellectual debt to 19th century Romanticism its literature and thought revealing how it defined his understanding of hermeticism and the occult and examining the differences between the two It shows how having abandoned political action on leaving the Communist Party in 1935 Breton nonetheless held firmly to political thought moving in his quest for a better world via Hermes Trismegistus across the utopian ideas of Charles Fourier and the magical practices of the Hopi Indians The author finally reveals Breton s misreading of the situation in postwar Paris on his return in 1946 and his failure to communicate the span of his ideas for creating a better society while at the same time maintaining a close connection between art and life Bian Zuo Bian Xue

remaining papers Ulrich Weisstein's The Miracle of Interconnectedness Calvin S Brown's A Critical Biography and Walter Bernhart's A Profile in Retrospect Calvin S Brown as a Musicologist offer critical accounts of the honoree's theoretical and methodological stance as viewed in the first case from a biographical angle and in the second in the light of subsequent scholarly practice Part Two bundles eleven of Professor Brown's previously uncollected articles covering a period of nearly half a century of significant scholarly activity in the field The selection demonstrates Brown's poignant interest in transpositions of art exemplifying the musicalization of literature in the formal and structural rather than thematic domain as culminating in his trenchant critique of music in poetry as understood somewhat naively by Mallarmé and his critics and to a slightly lesser extent by his translation of Josef Weinhebers variations on Friedrich Hölderlin's ode An die Parzen Just as Professor Brown's successive anatomies of melopoetic theory and practice illustrate his steadily growing sophistication and the maturing of his mind so his Bloomington lecture The Writing and Reading of Language and Music Thoughts on Some Parallels Between two Artistic Media reflects his unique ability to assemble and organize vast materials and comprehensive data in such a way as to reveal the underlying pattern

Anthropology Confronts the Problems of the Modern World Claude Lévi-Strauss, 2013-03-05 This first English translation of lectures Claude

Levi Strauss delivered in Tokyo in 1986 synthesizes his ideas about structural anthropology critiques his earlier writings on civilization and assesses the dilemmas of cultural and moral relativism including economic inequality religious fundamentalism and genetic and reproductive engineering Critical Theory to Structuralism David Ingram, 2014-09-11

Philosophy in the middle of the 20th Century between 1920 and 1968 responded to the cataclysmic events of the time Thinkers on the Right turned to authoritarian forms of nationalism in search of stable forms of collective identity will and purpose Thinkers on the Left promoted egalitarian forms of humanism under the banner of international communism Others saw these opposed tendencies as converging in the extinction of the individual and sought to retrieve the ideals of the Enlightenment in ways that critically acknowledged the contradictions of a liberal democracy racked by class cultural and racial conflict Key figures and movements discussed in this volume include Schmitt Adorno and the Frankfurt School Arendt Benjamin Bataille French Marxism Black Existentialism Saussure and Structuralism Levi Strauss Lacan and Late Pragmatism These individuals and schools of thought responded to this modernity crisis in different ways but largely focused on what they perceived to be liberal democracy's betrayal of its own rationalist ideals of freedom equality and fraternity This is Not Just a Painting Bernard Lahire, 2019-04-15

In 2008 the Musée des Beaux Arts de Lyon acquired a painting called The Flight into Egypt which was attributed to the French artist Nicolas Poussin Thought to have been painted in 1657 the painting had gone missing for more than three centuries Several versions were rediscovered in the 1980s and one was passed from hand to hand from a family who had no idea of its value to gallery owners and eventually to the museum A painting that had been sold as a decorative object in 1986 for around 12 000 euros was acquired two decades later by the Musée des Beaux Arts de Lyon for 17 million euros What does this remarkable story tell us about the nature of art and the way that it is valued How is it that what seemed to be just an ordinary canvas could be transformed into a masterpiece that a decorative object could become a national treasure This is a story permeated by social magic the social alchemy that transforms lead into gold the ordinary into the extraordinary the profane into the sacred Focusing on this extraordinary case Bernard Lahire lays bare the beliefs and social processes that underpin the creation of a masterpiece Like a detective piecing together the clues in an unsolved mystery he carefully reconstructs the steps that led from the same material object being treated as a copy of insignificant value to being endowed with the status of a highly prized painting commanding a record breaking price He thereby shows that a painting is never just a painting and is always more than a piece of stretched canvass to which brush strokes of paint have been applied this object and the value we attach to it is also the product of a complex array of social processes with its distinctive institutions and experts that lies behind it And through the history of this painting Lahire uncovers some of the fundamental structures of our social world For the social magic that can transform a painting from a simple copy into a masterpiece is similar to the social magic that is present throughout our societies in economics and politics as much as art and religion a magic that results from the spell cast by power on those who tacitly recognize its authority By following the trail of a single work of art Lahire interrogates the foundations on which our perceptions of value and our belief in institutions rest and exposes the forms of domination which lie hidden behind our admiration of works of art

Visual Identities Jean-Marie Floch,2001-01-01 The six essays of Visual Identities are an important contribution to the growing field of industrial semiotics Floch s major strength is his analysis of signs in a way which is both industrially relevant and textually precise Until recently there have been two quite different and distinct ways of understanding commerical signs such as logos and advertisements Industry based work has tended to look at questions of marketing and has often been reduced to the mass psychology of appeal and audience research whereas the textual analysis of commerical signs has tended to come from limited positions of identity politics and criticism Marxism feminism etc Floch manages to find a way between and also outside these traditions In doing so he has produced a book which will interest industrial practitioners in advertising marketing and design as well as students and academics in semiotics

Far Afield Vincent Debaene,2014-04-04 Anthropology has long had a vexed relationship with literature and nowhere has this been more acutely felt than in France where most ethnographers upon returning from the field write not one book but two a scientific monograph and a literary account In Far Afield brought to English language readers here for the first time Vincent Debaene puzzles out this phenomenon tracing the contours of anthropology and literature s mutual fascination and the ground upon which they meet in the works of thinkers from Marcel Mauss and Georges Bataille to Claude L vi Strauss and Roland Barthes The relationship between anthropology and literature in France is one of careful curiosity Literary writers are wary about anthropologists scientific austerity but intrigued by the objects they collect and the issues they raise while anthropologists claim to be scientists but at the same time are deeply concerned with writing and representational practices Debaene elucidates the richness that this curiosity fosters and the diverse range of writings it has produced from Proustian memoirs to proto surrealist diaries In the end he offers a fascinating intellectual history one that is itself located precisely where science and literature meet

On the Colors of Vowels Liesl Yamaguchi, 2025-01-07 Treatments of synesthesia in the arts and humanities generally assume a clear distinction between the neurological condition and the literary device Synesthetes descriptions of colors seen in connection with music for example are thought to differ fundamentally from common expressions that rely on transpositions across sensory dimensions bright vowels This has not always been the case The distinction emerged over the course of the twentieth century as scientists sought to constitute synesthesia as a legitimate object of modern science On the Colors of Vowels investigates the ambiguity of visual descriptions of vowels across a wide range of disciplines casting several landmark texts in a wholly new light The book traces the migration of sound color correspondence from its ancient host music to its modern one vowels investigating the vocalic Klangfarben of Hermann von Helmholtz's monumental Sensations of Tone the vowel colors reported in early psychology surveys into audition color e colored hearing the mismatched timbres that form poetry's condition of possibility in Stéphane Mallarmé's Crisis of Verse and the vowel color analogy central to both the universal alphabets of the nineteenth century and the phonological universals of the twentieth The book's final chapter turns to an intricately detailed account of vowel color correspondence by Ferdinand de Saussure suggesting how the linguist's sensitivity to vowel coloration may have guided his groundbreaking study of Indo-European vocalism Bringing out the diverse ways in which visual conceptions of vowels have inflected the arts and sciences of modernity On the Colors of Vowels makes it possible to see how discourses of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries crafted the enigma we now readily recognize as synesthesia

Informational Tracking Sylvie Leleu-Merviel, 2018-04-16 What is colour What is the precise meaning of the statement the stock exchange closes at a 5% drop this evening How are TV viewers defined or How can images produce meaning Such everyday questions are examined in this book To make our analysis intuitive and understandable numerous concrete examples illustrate our theoretical framework and concepts The examples include gaming fictional skits in leisure entertainment and enigmas The golden thread running through the text revisits the informational process and places the datum as its pivot The epistemological perspective of our novel approach is that of radical relativity This is based on the precept that a perceptual trace carries with it the spectrum of the process that has engendered it Given this the informational tracking endeavour tracks the meaning making process notably through interpretive scaffoldings that leads to plausible realities

Opera as Anthropology Vlado Kotnik, 2016-09-23 This book contemplates the relationship between opera and anthropology It rests on the following central arguments on the one hand opera is quite a new and exotic topic for anthropologists while on the other anthropology is still perceived as an unusual approach to opera Both initial arguments are indicative of the current situation of the relationship between anthropological discipline and opera research The book introduces the work of anthropologists and ethnographers whose personal and professional affinity for opera has been explicated in their academic and biographical accounts Anthropological ethnological ethnographic and semiotic accounts of opera by Claude Lévi-Strauss Michel Leiris William O Beeman Denis Laborde Paul Atkinson and Philippe Joseph Salazar establish that opera can be a pertinent object of anthropological interest ethnographic investigation cultural analysis and historical reflection By touching on opera not merely as a musical aesthetic or artistic category but as a social cultural historical and transnational phenomenon that over the last four centuries has significantly influenced and reflected the identity of Western culture and society this monograph suggests that opera and anthropology no longer need be alien to one another
