Euthanasia, Abortion, Death Penalty and Religion - The Right to Life and its Limitations Hans-Georg Ziebertz, Francesco Zaccaria, 2018-11-16 This book considers how the termination of life might be accepted in the view of a general obligation to protect life It features more than 10 papers written by scholars from 14 countries that offer international comparative empirical research Inside readers will find case studies from such areas as India Chile Germany Italy England Palestine Lithuania Nigeria and Poland The papers focus on three limitations of the right to life the death penalty abortion and euthanasia The contributors explore how young people understand and evaluate the right to life and its limitations The book presents unique empirical research among today's youth and reveals that among other concepts religiosity matters It provides insight into the acceptance perception and legitimation of human rights by people from different religious and cultural backgrounds This investigation rigorously tests for inter individual differences regarding political and judicial rights on religious grounds while controlling for other characteristics It will help readers better understand the many facets of this fundamental yet controversial philosophical question The volume will be of interest to students researchers as well as general readers searching for answers

New York Court of Appeals. Records and Briefs. New York (State)., Religion and Civil Human Rights in Empirical Perspective Hans-Georg Ziebertz, Carl Sterkens, 2017-10-20 This volume offers an empirical perspective on the so called first generation of human rights It explores the legitimization of these human rights by individual people both because of their religion and because of their vision of what constitutes human dignity The book addresses such issues as the foundation of human rights the necessity of a broader conversation about human rights aspects of freedom of religion and the role of religion in Belarus Britain Chile Germany Italy Nigeria Norway and Tanzania Taking an international comparative perspective the volume answers the question as to what extent adolescents in different countries support civil human rights and what influences their attitudes towards these rights As the diversity of the contributions in this volume shows the relationship between religion and civil human rights is complex and multifaceted Studying this complicated relationship calls for a variety of theoretical perspectives and rigorous empirical testing in different national contexts This book's empirical approach provides an important complementary perspective for legal political and public debates

International Comparative Perspectives on Religion and Education Charl C. Wolhuter, Corene de Wet, 2014-05-31 This book scrutinises religion in education in ten countries It reveals much about the tension between religion and education in secular countries and the blending between religion and education in religious countries such as Iran and Malaysia as well as secular countries such as the Netherlands It also shows the important role the church currently plays in education in developing countries such as Tanzania

The Well-Being of America's Children Kenneth C. Land, 2012-06-20 In 1998 the Foundation for Child Development FCD provided Kenneth Land a grant to explore the feasibility of producing the first national composite index of the status of American children that would chart changes in their well being over time Important questions needed to be answered was it possible to trace trends in child and youth well being over several decades Could such an index provide a way of determining whether the United States was making progress in improving its children s lives The Index of Child and Youth Well Being CWI was born from these questions Viewing the CWI trends from 1975 to present there is evidence that the well being of American children lags behind other Western nations As conditions change it is clear that the index is an evolving and rich enterprise This volume attests to that evolution and what the CWI promises for understanding the progress or lack of progress in enhancing the life prospects of all American children Religious Education at Schools in Europe Martin Rothgangel,Ednan Aslan,Martin Jäggle,2020-09-07 At a time when educational issues have increasingly come to determine the social and political discourse and major reforms of the education system are being discussed and implemented and when migration has become a significant phenomenon contributing to changes in the religious landscape of the European continent it is highly appropriate to focus our attention on the concrete situation regarding religious education This volume contains again on the basis of thirteen key questions the countries in Southeastern Europe Albania Bosnia and Herzegovina Bulgaria Kosovo Republic of North Macedonia Montenegro Romania Serbia and Turkey Beyond the all important tasks of taking stock and making international comparisons the aim of this book is to create a foundation for further action in the field of education especially with regard to interfaith expertise Encyclopedia of Religious and Spiritual Development Elizabeth M. Dowling,W. George Scarlett,2006 Focuses on the developmental process of religion and spirituality across the human life span This encyclopedia joins a recent trend in research and scholarship aimed at better understanding the similarities and differences between world religions and spiritualities between expressions of the divine and between experiences of the transcendent Religious Education ,1919 Available on microfilm from University Microfilms Subject Offerings and Enrollments, Grades 9-12 Diane Bochner Gertler,1965 Islamic Religious Education in Europe Leni Franken,Bill Gent,2021-03-31 Against the backdrop of labour migration and the ongoing refugee crisis the ways in which Islam is taught and engaged with in educational settings has become a major topic of contention in Europe Recognising the need for academic engagement around the challenges and benefits of effective Islamic Religious Education IRE this volume offers a comparative study of curricula teaching materials and teacher education in fourteen European countries and in doing so explores local national and international complexities of contemporary IRE Considering the ways in which Islam is taught and represented in state schools public Islamic schools and non confessional classes Part One of this volume includes chapters which survey the varying degrees to which fourteen European States have adopted IRE into curricula and considers the impacts of varied teaching models on Muslim populations Moving beyond individual countries approaches to IRE chapters in Part Two offer multi disciplinary perspectives from the hermeneutical critical to the postcolonial to address challenges posed by religious teachings on issues such as feminism human rights and citizenship and the ways these are approached in European settings Given its multi faceted approach this

United States. Congress. Senate. Select Committee on Indian Affairs,1992 Effects of Alevi-Sunni Marriages on Children's Religious Education and Family Relations Dr. Fatma Kurttekin,2024-12-31 In this study the views of parents in Alevi Sunni marriages on the phenomenon of religion and their children s religious education are examined While there has been a growing body of research on the role and significance of religion in Alevi Sunni families limited attention has been paid to their attitudes towards their children s religious education particularly within the context of cross religious marriages Based on this this study aims to fill this research gap by examining the perspectives of parents in Alevi Sunni marriages on their children s religious education and family dynamics using qualitative methods to provide in depth insights Ten families living in Sivas Ankara and Tunceli who were contacted through snowball and purposive sampling participated in the study in which qualitative research techniques were used The data used in the study were collected through questionnaires and semi structured interview forms The data was analzed with the content analysis It was determined that the Alevi Sunni difference did not have a significant impact on the participants religious attitudes or their children s religious education Almost all parents stated that they wanted their children to choose their own path by acquiring experience and knowledge about both religious interpretations understandings The study identified two primary areas of difficulty in Alevi Sunni families familial opposition to the participants decision to marry and conflicts surrounding the children s religious education These tensions may stem from societal pressures to conform to sectarian norms and the fear of losing religious identity through cross mixed intrafaith marriages Such pressures highlight the need for open dialogue and acceptance within families which many participants reported as key to resolving conflicts The provision of religious education in the family and the religious identity of children have been discussed in a separate study Therefore in this study participants views on compulsory religious education activities which are also a subject of debate in society were evaluated In parallel with the findings in the literature the participants opinions were grouped in three categories namely abolishing the courses making the courses optional and improving the courses along with preserving their compulsory status Following the interviews it was seen that the participants could have arguments mostly due to external factors and that their own religious understanding did not have any impact on family life religious attitudes or child rearing Attention was drawn to the need for freedom from prejudices acceptance of the other as he she is honesty trust and a communicative environment of dialogue in order to reduce the tension in these two areas Religious Diversity at School Ednan Aslan,Marcia Hermansen,2021-04-11 This volume features chapters by international experts in education sociology and theology who consider a range of challenges faced by educators in primary and secondary schools that are becoming increasingly diverse in terms of the ethnic and religious backgrounds of pupils From the non religious to the refugee to student fundamentalism and even radicalization these multiple fresh approaches analyze the dynamics of the changing pedagogical landscape in an age of ever increasing globalization and cultural plurality Today's classrooms are often the most crucial spaces where children and adolescents encounter new cultural religious and other worldviews Increasingly teachers are called on to empower their pupils with the tools and competencies necessary to reflect on and process this plurality in ways that are productive for their intellectual growth and moral maturation Regional case studies provide extensive data while offering insights into developments in school settings across Europe in Turkey and in the United States In addition a number of the contributions address the delivery content and policies of Islamic Religious Education in European contexts the educational strategies employed in multi religious societies and interreligious dialogue in schools whether intentional or spontaneous

Teaching in the Study of Religion and Beyond Russell T. McCutcheon, 2024-02-08 Drawing on their wide experience in the undergraduate classroom the contributors address basic but current issues in university teaching This book provides practical commentary and invites instructors to consider how to address the learning needs of their students while taking into account the wider structural requirements of administrations governments or credentialing agencies Consisting of about forty readable short entries on topics ranging from curriculum grading group work digital humanities and large lectures to learning management systems office hours online remote courses recruiting and seminars this book provides a wealth of practical help and reassurance to teachers working with undergraduate students This book is a valuable tool for early instructors in universities and colleges showing them how to impact a class's success It provides a critical background on the issues involved whilst also offering suggestions on how to navigate the competing demands on teachers
