

Outpatient Rehabilitation Guidelines for Total Knee Arthroplasty.

These rehabilitation guidelines are presented as a guideline-based program. Patient knee function is given the highest priority in the program, but individual patient will progress at different rates depending on their age, comorbidities, pre-surgical range of motion (ROM), strength and health. Post-surgical status, rehabilitation emphasis, timing, patient and perceptions, specific knee trauma, infections and procedures will also be given to patient/doctor/therapist and the surgical team/department. Patients may also be given or offer an accelerated course of care at home when advised by medical staff that they achieve the outcome of the total knee arthroplasty (TKA). The full rehabilitation program may not be necessary. It will depend on the patient's goals and desired activities.

Basic Principles for the Patient and Therapist

- These guidelines describe post-surgical rehabilitation following TKA.
- Post-operative recovery begins with pre-op ROM, a pre-operative evaluation, training and education that is the hospital. Patients learn to walk post-operative and increase including, bending and active range of motion (AROM) exercises. Patients may also learn how to walk with crutches or a knee-activated walker in order to be able to walk without assistance walking, as well as allowing practice within the facility to replicate a safe home, and after their extended activities.

Generally, the rehabilitation should start within 1-36 days after leaving the hospital, depending on how soon post-operatively after hospital discharge. If patients are discharged to home, home health care usually provides rehabilitation services for the first 1-60 days. If patients go to a skilled nursing facility following discharge, the stay is usually no longer than 2 weeks. Patients should not over-exaggerate physical therapy prior to surgery. Patients can enhance physical therapy as a measure of knee flexion and are encouraged to get a facility closer to and within scheduling problems.
