Regionalism, Security and Development in Africa Ernest Tooche Aniche,Ikenna Mike Alumona,Inocent Moyo,2021-04-29 This book charts the history and contemporary landscape of African regionalism investigating how regional cooperation can be used to help to tackle security and development challenges in Africa Africa has a long tradition of regional cooperation with the oldest trade and monetary integration schemes in the developing world but its colonial period and partition of have caused lasting damage that still be seen in today s African economies Contemporary post colonial African regionalism deeply rooted in notions of pan Africanism has served as a means of collective self reliance and economic transformation and development This book starts with the history and theory behind African regionalism before discussing and comparing regional organisations such as the Economic Community of Central African States ECCAS the Economic Community of West African States ECOWAS the Community of Sahel Saharan States CEN SAD Southern African Development Community SADC the Common Market for Eastern and Southern Africa COMESA and the East African Community EAC Finally the book considers how regional integration and cooperation can help to address security and development challenges This ambitious and broad ranging book will be a valuable resource for researchers working on African regionalism security African integration and development and comparative regionalism Policymakers should also consider it a useful guide to the background and contemporary landscape of African regionalism

Africa's Progress in Regional and Global Economic Integration - Towards Transformative Regional Integration Achim Gutowski,Tobias Knedlik,Patrick N. Osakwe,Isabelle Ramdoo,Karl Wohlmuth,2016 Based on Africa s deep routed structural problems the key aspect of a transformative regional integration is how to promote structural transformation by adapted strategies and policies for the African regional economic communities for the Continental Free Trade Area and for the Tripartite Free Trade Area Regional integration in Africa is based on a conventional linear model starting with trade preference zones and moving to free trade areas customs unions and monetary and economic zones with the ultimate goal to reach political unity Specific problems of a more transformative regional integration agenda are discussed such as food security and agriculture industry development enterprise growth and competition and economic partnership agreements with extra regional partners In the final section the impact of three global value chains of importance for Africa diamonds shea butter and sesame are considered on regions on sub regions and on regional integration Series African Development Perspectives Yearbook Vol 18 Subject African Studies Economics

Regional Integration, Trade and Industry in Africa Helmut Asche,2021 This book examines the past present and prospects of regional economic integration in Africa The empirical analysis ranges from unions formed during the years following independence to the proposed African Continental Free Trade Area AfCFTA which aims to remove trade barriers between all 55 African states In addition the book explores to what extent Africa's Regional Economic Communities RECs have advanced in accordance with a linear integration model of goods labor and capital markets The book subsequently evaluates the suitability of the European model of deep integration with costly institutions for the conditions specific to Africa considering for example the role of informal and non recorded trade Stylized cases of regional division of labour with increasing returns and imperfect competition are introduced to support the economic integration logic Past and current economic policies in Africa are scrutinized to answer the question how can African regions best foster new manufacturing industries and value chains across the continent In conclusion the book outlines content and processes of Common Industrial Policy in the African regions The book also addresses the controversial issue of international trade agreements between developing countries and the European Union or the USA and investigates whether these agreements impede or promote economic development in Africa The book includes a detailed roadmap describing how to improve key clauses of agreements for economic partnership in the interest of African countries In closing it outlines a new vision of joint sustainable development for Africa and Europe

Assessing Regional Integration in Africa United Nations. Economic Commission for Africa, 2004 This publication examines progress towards regional integration in Africa defined as one of the anchoring ideals of African unity and the basis for the New Partnership for Africa's Development NEPAD development framework The report analyses the current state of the integration process highlighting where efforts have succeeded or failed Findings include that progress has been mixed across sectors regional economic communities and member states with some notable progress in trade communications transport and macroeconomic policy Overall however substantial gaps remain between goals and achievements of most regional economic communities particularly in terms of internal African trade macroeconomic policy convergence production and physical connectivity A summary report is also available ISBN 9211250927

De-Fragmenting Africa Paul Brenton and Gozde Isik, Africa is not achieving its potential in regional trade This is of particular importance given the uncertainty surrounding the global economy and stagnation in traditional markets in Europe and North America and the emergence of Africa as a rising growth pole The contributions to this volume highlight the enormous scope for increased cross border trade in Africa in both goods and services and the reasons why such opportunities are not being exploited The varied contributions show that for effective regional integration policy makers must look beyond simply removing tariffs to address barriers on the ground that constrain the daily operations of ordinary producers and traders This requires a reform agenda covering both goods and services that puts in place appropriate regulations for integrated markets and builds the capacity of institutions that are essential for trade across borders The incidence of barriers to regional trade fall most heavily on the poor and women and prevents them from exploiting the opportunities that regional trade provides to diversify exports away from a narrow range of minerals and primary products that have been driving recent growth Regional trade can play a key role in delivering the jobs that are needed for Africa's young populations The chapters have been written in a non technical way to promote dialogue on regional integration in Africa amongst a broad audience that includes policy makers officials academics entrepreneurs consumers as well as the international development community Regional Trade Arrangements in Africa Yongzheng Yang, Mr. Sanjeev Gupta, 2005-09-20 In recent years African policymakers have increasingly resorted to regional trade arrangements RTAs as a substitute for broad based trade liberalization This trend has long term implications for the effectiveness of trade policy as a tool for poverty reduction and growth This paper examines the record of RTAs in promoting trade and investment It also explores policy measures that may help improve RTAs performance Regional Integration in Sub-Saharan Africa Faezeh Foroutan, 1992 The emphasis of regional integration in Sub Saharan Africa should shift from the integration of goods markets to the regional coordination of macroeconomic and microeconomic policies the harmonization of administrative rules and regulations and the joint provision of public goods Such steps are likely to make Sub Saharan African markets more attractive to domestic and foreign investors and to improve economic growth Regional Integration in Africa Peter Anyang' Nyong'o, 1990 Regional Integration and Cooperation in West Africa Réal P. Lavergne, 1997 This book contains a collection of papers that examine the failure of regional integration and co operation to date in west Africa and that explore some of the options for the revitalization of such initiatives The papers are arranged in three categories strategic visions and prospects for regional integration and co operation economic perspectives and political dimensions Specific topics include the role of the Economic Community of West African States theoretical models and approaches to regional integration the role of community building in regional integration partnerships for innovation national policies as impediments to economic integration parallel trade as a form of economic subversion lessons from the West African Monetary Union human rights and integration the regional dimension of environmental management and power sharing at the regional level Prospects for Regional Integration in Africa Andreas Freytag, Abena D. Oduro, African integration has had a long history dating back to the end of colonization in the 1960s It has generated enormous interest in recent years not least because the continent has recently taken some bold steps to integrate further such as the Tripartite Free Trade Area or the creation of the African Continental Free Trade Area AfCFTA With this book we offer an innovative perspective on African integration By inviting mostly young African scholars from different disciplines in the social sciences and humanities we make African voices audible and start a discussion of the African integration efforts from an African perspective using novel criteria to judge different African integration attempts In addition to the younger generation's representatives we also invited scholars from Europe and Latin America to bring other continents perspectives to the fore Regional Economic Integration in West Africa Diery Seck, 2013-11-18 This book presents a number of key studies pertaining to the most pressing challenges of economic regional integration in West Africa The issues of monetary coordination foreign exchange volatility taxation savings and macroeconomic convergence are investigated from a regional perspective The characteristics of West Africa s trade policy are reviewed and assessed in comparison to that of the Southern African Development Community SADC The extent to which regional integration can tackle the challenge of unemployment is the focus of studies on labour markets Development of the private sector and coordination of regional cross border transportation are examined through the lens of economic collaboration between Arab and African countries The book provides fresh new answers to persistent development questions and sheds new light on long held views that are either incomplete or no longer true It also opens new perspectives on the search for sustainable avenues for Africa s development In this regard it may contribute to the emergence of a new paradigm on Africa s development process and its science based policy oriented implementation Inclusive Trade in Africa David Luke,Jamie Macleod,2019-04-01 Providing the first book length analysis of the African Continental Free Trade Area AfCFTA this volume asks how can it be ensured that the AfCFTA is effectively implemented to deliver inclusive trade in Africa The African Continental Free Trade Area AfCFTA will cover an African market of 1 2 billion people and GDP of over 2 5 trillion across all 55 member States of the African Union Yet trade policy increasingly appreciates that free trade is not enough trade must also be inclusive to deliver developmental benefits With contributions from leading trade policy authors across Africa and beyond this book offers insights into the development and implementation of the AfCFTA and serves as a reference for stakeholders interested in trade in Africa more broadly The contributors assess what important lessons can be drawn from the experiences of regional integration in and beyond Africa including from success stories like ASEAN as well as from failures like the Free Trade Agreement of the Americas An important new work for researchers and policymakers focusing on African trade and economic policy and trade policy more generally Flexible Regional Economic Integration in Africa Timothy Masiko,2022 This book examines the relationship between flexible regional economic integration in the East African Community EAC through its application of variable geometry and the establishment of the African Continental Free Trade Area AfCFTA as a continent wide form of integration It uses a historical political legal and economic analysis of the processes that led to the adoption of flexible regional integration in Africa with particular regard to the EAC This takes place in the inescapable context of pan Africanism showing how regional integration efforts in Africa are based on pan Africanist ideals and how an evolution of these ideals has led to an evolution in the goals of integration With growing awareness of the weaknesses and impracticality of consensus based decision making on a global level it makes the case for the pursuit of flexibility in multilateral trade drawing lessons from the experience of the AfCFTA and blocs in other regions This book is a historical evaluation of regional economic integration efforts in Africa and it follows the path of attempts to integrate the economies on the continent from colonial times to the birth of the AfCFTA While it is a study in law it relies heavily on politics economics and history to weave together a more complete theory of economic integration based on the African experience Flexible Regional Economic Integration in Africa was awarded the 2020 SIEL Hart Prize in International Economic Law

Regional Integration in Southern Africa Christopher S. Clapham, 2001 Regional Integration and Trade Liberalization in Sub-Saharan Africa: Regional case-studies T. Ademola Oyejide, 1997 This authoritative guide to Africa's economic development and prospects is volume three in a major international research project coordinated by the African Economic Research Consortium. It brings together the top academics in development economics, trade policy and international economics from Africa, Europe and North America. This third volume examines schemes for regional integration and the successes and failure of each of these specific projects to examine the potential and pitfalls facing co-operation and integration in Africa today.

Trade Reform and Regional Integration in Africa African Economic Research Consortium, 1998-12-03 In recent years economic performance in most of sub-Saharan Africa has improved. Growth has picked up resulting in an increase in per capita output in a number of countries; inflation has decelerated markedly and the fiscal and external deficits have been reduced. In large part the economic recovery can be attributed to improved macroeconomic and structural policies rather than to favorable external developments such as terms of trade gains. Indeed these favorable developments have been achieved at a time when official development assistance has been declining. Key structural reforms have been implemented in many African countries including curtailing of price controls, dismantling of some inefficient public monopolies, privatization, elimination of non-tariff barriers in most countries and a reduction in import duties in many. At the same time exchange rates have been largely freed and unified restrictions on current transactions liberalized and important progress has been made toward market determined interest rates in most countries.

Regional Trade Integration, Economic Growth and Poverty Reduction in Southern Africa M. Tekere, 2012 Despite a long history of regional integration and a multiplicity of regional organizations in southern Africa, the effect of regional integration on economic growth and poverty reduction remains debatable or elusive. This causes many to doubt whether regional integration is in actual fact an effective poverty reduction strategy. Accordingly the focus of this book is to explore and analyze whether specific Southern African Development Community (SADC) trade integration policies, especially the trade liberalization regime, have produced economic growth and reduced poverty in the region. While it is generally agreed that economic growth is the panacea to poverty reduction, there is little evidence as to whether regional integration in Africa is associated with economic growth in the countries concerned and subsequently leads to poverty reduction. The book makes recommendations on how the SADC FTAs can contribute to poverty reduction and socioeconomic development and goes on to suggest policy proposals on how to enhance the contribution of the FTAs to poverty eradication and economic development. It also identifies specific activities to be undertaken to enable supply side and productive competitiveness interventions to support the FTAs and contribute to economic development. The potential constraints and negative impacts of the FTAs are investigated and highlighted and possible solutions are recommended and motivated.
