ORIENTATION

Orientation is a crucial first step in the employee onboarding process. It provides new hires with the necessary information to understand the company's mission, vision, and values. This section covers the initial training and orientation process, including the role of the HR department and the importance of a positive first experience.

AT-WORK

At-work policies and procedures are essential for maintaining a professional and productive work environment. This section outlines the expectations for employee behavior, dress code, and communication. It also covers the process for reporting incidents and the consequences of non-compliance.

EQUAL

Equal employment opportunity is a fundamental principle of the company. This section details the policies and procedures that ensure a fair and equitable workplace for all employees, regardless of their race, gender, or other characteristics.

DISAB

Disability accommodations are provided to ensure that all employees have an equal opportunity to perform their job. This section outlines the process for requesting accommodations and the company's commitment to providing reasonable support.

SOCIAL

Social media is an important part of the company's communication strategy. This section provides guidelines for employees' use of social media both on and off the job, ensuring that the company's reputation is protected.

IMMIGRATION REFORM + CONTROL ACT OF 1986

The Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986 is a federal law that regulates the employment of immigrants. This section provides an overview of the law and its implications for the company's hiring practices.
