Julia Erbe, 2000-01-03 Inhaltsangabe Abstract In the 1990s people are being more and more confronted with the rapid developments in the information and communication technology sector. Computers seem to be indispensable not only in professional areas of life but also in educational and private contexts. The Internet which started as a small network of students, academics and researchers has developed into a global network linking millions of people in countries all over the world. This enormous increase in information flow which is facilitated by Internet services such as the World Wide Web (WWW), electronic mail (e-mail) or Usenet news appears to have an influence on communication processes and on the way in which we use language. The fact that the new media are becoming more and more popular has also been realised by marketing specialists. Due to the large number of users and the enormous growth potential of the Internet the sector of electronic commerce is booming. The formerly anti-commercial values of the original Internet community seem to have drastically changed. Today electronic commerce is a rapidly growing area and numerous companies are beginning to position themselves on the information superhighway in terms of providing hardware, software, information, content or services. Because of the fact that the Internet presents a fundamentally different environment for marketing activities than traditional media, conventional marketing communications need to be transformed in order to meet the requirements of such an information intensive medium. On the Internet the search for and the acquisition of relevant information for example takes up a great deal of time since there is no general index of all existing Internet sites and services. As a consequence companies have to find other ways of drawing the users' attention to their offers. One means of achieving that goal might be the distribution of commercial e-mails. Commercial e-mails can be classified as a form of advertising which is considered to be a type of persuasive discourse. Due to the fact that advertisers are supposed to be striving to alter behaviour, awareness, knowledge and attitudes in a way that would be beneficial to them, advertising is informative only on the surface. Therefore no more distinction between informative and persuasive advertising is made. Accordingly commercial e-mails are expected to have a persuasive intent which is assumed to be mirrored in a number of 2017 Report to Congress of the U.S.-China Economic and Security Review Commission, November 2017, 115-1, 2018 Harnessing the Power of Social Media and Web Analytics

Sipper,2022-04-04 As one begins to explore the many complexities of quantum computing nanotechnology and AI it becomes clear that there is an underlying reality within cyberspace that is comprised of other realities and that these realities all have their own biomes ecosystems and microbiomes built on information energy and human creative reality and potential It is clear that there has not been much research on this especially the piece dealing with the cyber microbiome which looks at the part of the iceberg that is under the surface and makes up most of cyberspace much like how our human microbiome is many orders of magnitude larger than our human cells The microbiome is extremely important from the perspective of how to treat diseases in humans especially bacterial infections The same is true for how to treat diseases in the cyber meta reality Thus knowing all we can about the cyber meta reality biome and microbiome is absolutely necessary in ensuring this world s growth care and flourishing ECSM 2022 9th European Conference on Social Media Elisabeth Pereira,Carlos Costa,Zélia Breda,2022-05-12 Value Creation in E-Business Management Matthew L.
