New Army Fitness Manual:

The Official U.S. Army Fitness Training Handbook Department of the Army, 2021-12-09 A soldier's level of physical fitness has a direct impact on his combat readiness. The many battles in which American troops have fought underscore the important role physical fitness plays on the battlefield. The renewed nationwide interest in fitness has been accompanied by many research studies on the effects of regular participation in sound physical fitness programs. The overwhelming conclusion is that such programs enhance a person's quality of life, improve productivity, and bring about positive physical and mental changes. Not only are physically fit soldiers essential to the Army; they are also more likely to lead enjoyable, productive lives. This manual is primarily concerned with issues relating directly to the development and maintenance of the five components of physical fitness: Cardiorespiratory (CR) endurance, the efficiency with which the body delivers oxygen and nutrients needed for muscular activity and transports waste products from the cells; Muscular strength, the greatest amount of force a muscle or muscle group can exert in a single effort; Muscular endurance, the ability of a muscle or muscle group to perform repeated movements with a submaximal force for extended periods of time; Flexibility, the ability to move the joints, for example, elbow or knee or any group of joints through an entire normal range of motion; and Body composition, the amount of body fat a soldier has in comparison to his total body mass.

The Army will replace the Army Physical Fitness Test (APFT) with the Army Combat Fitness Test (ACFT) as the physical fitness test of record beginning in FY21. To accomplish this, the ACFT will be implemented in three phases. Phase 1 Initial Operating Capability (IOC) includes a limited user Field Test with approximately 60 battalion-sized units from across all components of the Army. While the ACFT is backed by thorough scientific research and has undergone several revisions, there are still details that have not been finalized. The ACFT requires a testing site with a two-mile run course and a flat field space approximately 40 x 40 meters. The field space should be grass, well-maintained, and cut, or artificial turf that is generally flat and free of debris. While maintaining testing standards and requirements, commanders will make adjustments for local conditions when necessary. The start and finish point for the two-mile run course must be in close proximity to the Leg Tuck station. When test events are conducted indoors, the surface must be artificial turf only. Wood and rubberized surfaces are not authorized as they impact the speed of
