Policing in France Jacques de Maillard,Wesley Skogan,2020-08-02 The eminent contributors to a new collection Policing in France provide an updated and realistic picture of how the French police system really works in the 21st century In most international comparisons France typifies the Napoleonic model for policing one featuring administrative and political centralization a strong hierarchical structure distance from local communities and a high priority on political policing France has undergone a process of pluralization in the last 30 years French administrative and political decentralization has reemphasized the role of local authorities in public security policies the private security industry has grown significantly and new kinds of governing models based on arrangements such as contracts for service provision have emerged In addition during this period police organizations have been driven toward central government control through the imposition of performance indicators and a top down decision was made to integrate the national gendarmerie into the Ministry of Interior The book addresses how police legitimacy differs across socioeconomic generational territorial and ethnic lines An analysis of the policing of banlieues deprived neighborhoods illustrates the convergence of contradictory police goals police violence the concentration of poverty and entrenched opposition to the states representatives and questions policing strategies such as the use of identity checks The collection also frames the scope of community policing initiatives required to deal with the public s security needs and delves into the security challenges presented by terrorist threats and the nuances of the relationship between policing and intelligence agencies Identifying and explaining the diverse challenges facing French police organizations and how they have been responding to them this book draws upon a flourishing French language literature in history sociology political science and law to produce this new English language synthesis on policing in France This book is a valuable resource for researchers and practitioners working in and around French policing as well as students of international law enforcement

The Policing of Transnational Protest Abby Peterson,2016-02-24 Having long been a neglected issue the policing of protest began to attract considerable attention in the 1990s climaxing in the events in Seattle of 1999 These protests and the changing political climate since September 11 2001 mean that a new cycle of protest is challenging the concept of law and order and civil liberties This book examines how new policing styles are developing using case studies from North America and Europe The volume brings together researchers from a number of disciplines sociology criminology political science and mass communication who focus on new forms of political protest policing and public order

The Policing Web Jean-Paul Brodeur, 2010-09-30 In this comprehensive study Jean Paul Brodeur examines the diversity of the policing web Policing agencies such as criminal investigation units intelligence services private security companies and military policing organizations are examined in addition to public uniformed police to show the extent to which policing extends far beyond the confines of public police working in uniform and visible to all The study also includes a consideration of military policing both when compatible with the values of democracy and when in opposition It also examines criminal organizations enforcing their own rules in urban zones deserted by the police and criminal individuals acting as police informants since they too are part of the policing web even though they do not qualify as legitimate policing agents or agencies The underlying argument of The Policing Web is that the diverse strands of the policing web are united by a common definition that emphasizes the licence granted to policing agencies to use either legally or with complete impunity means that are otherwise prohibited as crimes to the rest of the population This claim is argued for throughout the book and its paradoxical consequences investigated Although much effort is devoted to presenting a comprehensive model linking all the components of policing it is acknowledged that the policing web is by no means a neat and well integrated structure Even the belief that it will develop into a tightly coordinated system is in itself questionable Indeed the study shows that there is not just one policing web but several depending on the country police history and culture and the images of policing which shape the mind of the community These often overlooked factors are nonetheless essential components of the context of policing and are discussed within an international framework
