Selected Papers from the 2018 IEEE International Workshop on Metrology for the Sea Attilio Di Nisio, Francesco Picariello, 2020-11-13 This Special Issue is devoted to recent developments in instrumentation and measurement techniques applied to the marine field The sea is the medium that has allowed people to travel from one continent to another using vessels even today despite the use of aircraft It has also been acting as a great reservoir and source of food for all living beings However for many generations it served as a landfill for depositing conventional and nuclear wastes especially in its deep seabeds and we are assisting in a race to exploit minerals and resources different from foods encompassed in it Its health is a great challenge for the survival of all humanity since it is one of the most important environmental components targeted by global warming As everyone may know measuring is a step that generates substantial knowledge about a phenomenon or an asset which is the basis for proposing correct solutions and making proper decisions However measurements in the sea environment pose unique difficulties and opportunities which is made clear from the research results presented in this Special Issue

Society, Organizations and the Brain: building towards a unified cognitive neuroscience perspective Carl Senior, Nick Lee, Sven Braeutigam, 2015-07-02 This e book brings together scholars in both the neurosciences and organizational sciences who have adopted various approaches to study the cognitive mechanisms mediating the social behavior that we see within organizations Such an approach has been termed by ourselves and others as organisational cognitive neuroscience In recent years there has been a veritable increase in studies that have explored the cognitive mechanisms driving such behaviors and much progress has been made in understanding the neural underpinnings of processes such as financial exchange risk awareness and even leadership However while these studies are informative and add to our understanding of human cognition they fall short of providing evidence based recommendations for practice Specifically we address the broader issue of how the neuroscientific study of such core social behaviors can be used to improve the very way that we work To address these gaps in our understanding the chapters in this book serve as a platform that allows scholars in both the neurosciences and the organizational sciences to highlight the work that spans across these two fields The consolidation of these two fields also serves to highlight the utility of a singular organizational cognitive neuroscience This is a fundamentally important outcome of the book as the application of neuroscience to address economically relevant behaviors has seen a variety of fields evolve in their own right such as neuromarketing neuroeconomics and so forth The use of neuro scientific technologies in particular fMRI has indeed led to a bewildering and somewhat suffocating proliferation of new approaches however the speed of such developments demands that we must proceed carefully with such ventures or risk some fundamental mistakes The book that you now hold will consolidate these new neuroscience based approaches and in doing so highlight the importance of this approach in helping us to understand human social behavior in general Taken together the chapters provide a framework for scholars within the neurosciences who wish to explore the further the opportunities that the study of organisational behavior may provide Proceedings of the 1st International Joint Symposium on Joining and Welding H. Fujii, 2014-08-27 This book contains the papers from the Proceedings of the 1st international joint symposium on joining and welding held at Osaka University Japan 6 8 November 2013 The use of frictional heating to process and join materials has been used for many decades Rotary and linear friction welding are vital techniques for many industrial sectors More recently the development of friction stir welding FSW has significantly extended the application of friction processing This conference is the first event organized by the three major institutes for joining and welding to focus on the broad range of friction processes This symposium will provide the latest valuable information from academic and industrial experts from around the world on FSW FSP linear and rotary friction welding The Error of Truth Steven J. Osterlind, 2019-01-24 Quantitative thinking is our inclination to view natural and everyday phenomena through a lens of measurable events with forecasts odds predictions and likelihood playing a dominant part The Error of Truth recounts the astonishing and unexpected tale of how quantitative thinking came to be and its rise to primacy in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Additionally it considers how seeing the world through a quantitative lens has shaped our perception of the world we live in and explores the lives of the individuals behind its early establishment This worldview was unlike anything humankind had before and it came about because of a momentous human achievement we had learned how to measure uncertainty Probability as a science was conceptualised As a result of probability theory we now had correlations reliable predictions regressions the bellshaped curve for studying social phenomena and the psychometrics of educational testing Significantly these developments happened during a relatively short period in world history roughly the 130 year period from 1790 to 1920 from about the close of the Napoleonic era through the Enlightenment and the Industrial Revolutions to the end of World War I At which time transportation had advanced rapidly due to the invention of the steam engine and literacy rates had increased exponentially This brief period in time was ready for fresh intellectual activity and it gave a kind of impetus for the probability inventions Quantification is now everywhere in our daily lives such as in the ubiquitous microchip in smartphones cars and appliances in the Bayesian logic of artificial intelligence as well as applications in business engineering medicine economics and elsewhere Probability is the foundation of quantitative thinking The Error of Truth tells its story when why and how it happened Climate Change and Cities Cynthia Rosenzweig, William D. Solecki, Patricia Romero-Lankao, Shagun Mehrotra, Shobhakar Dhakal, Somayya Ali Ibrahim, 2018-03-29 The Urban Climate Change Research Network's Second Assessment Report on Climate Change in Cities ARC3 2 is the second in a series of global science based reports to examine climate risk adaptation and mitigation efforts in cities The book explicitly seeks to explore the implications of changing climatic conditions on critical urban physical and social infrastructure sectors and intersectoral concerns The primary purpose of ARC3 2 is to inform the development and implementation of effective urban climate change policies leveraging ongoing and planned investments for populations in cities of developing emerging and developed countries This volume like its predecessor will be invaluable for a range of audiences involved with climate change and cities mayors city officials and policymakers urban planners policymakers charged with developing climate change mitigation and adaptation programs and a broad spectrum of researchers and advanced students in the environmental sciences
