Primary Science Education in East Asia Yew-Jin Lee, Jason Tan, 2018-09-26 This edited volume is a state of the art comparison of primary science education across six East Asian regions namely the People s Republic of China Republic of Korea Republic of China Hong Kong SAR

Japan and Singapore While news of educational policies classroom teaching assessment and other educational innovations here often surface in the international media this book brings together for the first time relevant information regarding educational systems and strategies in primary science in East Asia Above all it is a readable yet comprehensive survey readers would have an accurate sense of what has been accomplished what has not worked so well and what remains to be done Invited experts in comparative education research and or science education also provide commentary by discussing common themes across the six regions These types of critical synoptic reviews add much value by enabling readers to understand broad commonalities and help synthesize what must surely be a bewildering amount of very interesting albeit confusing body of facts issues and policies Education in East Asia holds many lessons both positive and negative to offer to the rest of the world to which this volume is a timely contribution to the literature

Graphical Analysis of Covering and Paired Domination in the Environment of Neutrosophic Information Sami Ullah Khan, Abdul Nasir, Naeem Jan, Zhen-Hua Ma, Neutrosophic graph NG is a powerful tool in graph theory which is capable of modeling many real-life problems with uncertainty due to unclear varying and indeterminate information. Meanwhile, the fuzzy graphs FGs and intuitionistic fuzzy graphs IFGs may not handle these problems as efficiently as NGs. It is difficult to model uncertainty due to imprecise information and vagueness in real-world scenarios. Many real-life optimization problems are modeled and solved using the well-known fuzzy graph theory.

Rural Transitions to Higher Education in South Africa Sue Timmis, Thea de Wet, Kibashini Naidoo, Sheila Trahar, Lisa Lucas, Emmanuel Mfanafuthi Mgwashu, Patricia Muhuro, Gina Wisker, 2021-09-14. This unique and timely book focuses on research conducted into the experiences of students from rural backgrounds in South Africa, foregrounding decolonial perspectives on their negotiation of access and transitions to higher education. This book highlights not only the challenges of coming from a rural background against the historical backdrop of apartheid and ongoing colonialism but also shows the immense assets that students from rural areas bring into higher education. Through detailed narratives created by student co-researchers, the book charts early experiences in rural communities, negotiations of transitions to university, and in many cases to urban life and students' subsequent journeys through higher education spaces and curricula. The book will be of significant interest and value to those engaged in rurality research across diverse settings, those interested in the South African higher education context, and higher education more widely. Its innovative participatory methodology will be invaluable to researchers seeking to conduct collaborative research.

that draws on decolonising approaches School Achievement and Failure in Portuguese and Spanish Speaking Countries Edgar Galindo, Adelinda A. Candeias, Heldermerina S. Pires, Miguel Ángel Carbonero, 2018-08-31 This book is devoted to an increasingly important educational problem in the modern societies school achievement and failure School failure is presently a problem in developed as well as in developing countries In the Spanish and Portuguese speaking countries in Europe and Latin America school achievement and failure is consequently an important topic of political social and scientific discussion The following papers revise the latest research in the field from the perspective of Psychology Breaking Point Rebecca Schwartz Greene, 2023-01-03 WINNER SOCIETY FOR MILITARY HISTORY DISTINGUISHED BOOK AWARDS FIRST BOOK This book informs the public for the first time about the impact of American psychiatry on soldiers during World War II Breaking Point is the first in depth history of American psychiatry in World War II Drawn from unpublished primary documents oral histories and the author's personal interviews and correspondence over years with key psychiatric and military policymakers it begins with Franklin Roosevelt's endorsement of a universal Selective Service psychiatric examination followed by Army and Navy pre and post induction examinations Ultimately 2.5 million men and women were rejected or discharged from military service on neuropsychiatric grounds Never before or since has the United States engaged in such a program In designing Selective Service Medical Circular No 1 psychiatrist Harry Stack Sullivan assumed psychiatrists could predict who might break down or falter in military service or even in civilian life thereafter While many American and European psychiatrists questioned this belief and huge numbers of American psychiatric casualties soon raised questions about screening's validity psychiatric and military leaders persisted in 1942 and 1943 in endorsing ever tougher screening and little else Soon families complained of fathers and teens being drafted instead of being identified as psychiatric 4Fs and Blacks and Native Americans among others complained of bias A frustrated General George S Patton famously slapped two malingering neuropsychiatric patients in Sicily a sentiment shared by Marshall and Eisenhower though they favored a tamer style Yet psychiatric rejections evacuations and discharges mounted While psychiatrist Roy Grinker and a few others treated soldiers close to the front in Tunisia in early 1943 this was the exception But as demand for manpower soared and psychiatrists finally went to the field and saw that combat itself not predisposition precipitated breakdown leading military psychiatrists switched their emphasis from screening to prevention and treatment But this switch was too little too late and slowed by a year long series of Inspector General investigations even while numbers of psychiatric casualties soared Ironically despite and even partly because of psychiatrists wartime performance plus the emotional toll of war postwar America soon witnessed a dramatic growth in numbers popularity and influence of the profession culminating in the National Mental Health Act 1946 But veterans with PTSD not recognized until 1980 were largely neglected Rare Earth Frontiers Julie M. Klinger, 2018-01-15 Rare Earth Frontiers is a work of human geography that serves to demystify the powerful elements that make possible the miniaturization of electronics green energy and medical technologies and essential telecommunications and defense systems Julie Michelle Klinger draws attention to the fact that the rare earths we rely on most are as common as copper or lead and this means the implications of their extraction are global Klinger excavates the rich historical origins and ongoing ramifications of the quest to mine rare earths in ever more impossible places Klinger writes about the devastating damage to lives and the environment caused by the exploitation of rare earths She demonstrates in human terms how scarcity myths have been conscripted into diverse geopolitical campaigns that use rare earth mining as a pretext to capture spaces that have historically fallen beyond the grasp of centralized power These include legally and logistically forbidding locations in the Amazon Greenland and Afghanistan and on the Moon Drawing on ethnographic archival and interview data gathered in local languages and offering possible solutions to the problems it documents this book examines the production of the rare earth frontier as a place a concept and a zone of contestation sacrifice and transformation Geo Year Book 2007 United Nations Environment Programme, Minerals Yearbook Geological Survey, Interior Department, Mines Bureau, 2019-01-31 This volume covering metals and minerals contains chapters on approximately 90 commodities In addition this volume has chapters on mining and quarrying trends and on statistical surveying methods used by Minerals Information plus a statistical summary Bridging Research and Practice in Science Education Eilish McLoughlin, Odilla E. Finlayson, Sibel Erduran, Peter E. Childs, 2019-08-27 This edited volume presents innovative current research in the field of Science Education The chapter s deal with a wide variety of topics and research approaches conducted in a range of contexts and settings Together they make a strong contribution to knowledge on science teaching and learning The book consists of selected presentations from the 12th European Science Education Research Association ESERA Conference held in Dublin Ireland from 21st to 25th August 2017 The ESERA community is made up of professionals with diverse disciplinary backgrounds from natural sciences to social sciences This diversity enables a rich understanding of cognitive and affective aspects of science teaching and learning The studies in this book will stimulate discussion and interest in finding new ways of implementing and researching science education for the future The twenty two chapters in this book are presented in four parts highlighting innovative approaches to school science emerging identities in science education approaches to developing learning and competence progressions and ways of enhancing science teacher education This collection of studies showcases current research orientations in science education and is of interest to science teachers teacher educators and science education researchers around the world with a commitment to bridging research and practice in science teaching and learning Contemporary French Cultural Studies William Kidd, Sian Reynolds, 2014-05-01 The study of French culture has long ceased to be purely centred on literature Undergraduate French courses now embrace all forms of cultural production and consumption and students need to have a broad knowledge of everything from day time TV and the latest detective novels to debates about national identity and immigration policies This stimulating text is an introduction to the full range of contemporary French culture Written by a group of leading academics both within and outside France each chapter focuses on a topic from the French cultural scene today Starting with an overview of resources for further information both in print and online the text discusses the varied forms of French cultural expression and looks critically at what Frenchness itself means The book also explores examples of cultural production ranging from sport media and literature to theatre cinema festivals and music An essential resource for students and scholars alike this text provides detailed material and analysis as well as a launch pad for further study
