Short Essay On Indira Gandhi:

Indira Gandhi and the Years That Transformed India Srinath Raghavan, 2025-05-30 Indira Gandhi's ascent as prime minister of India in 1966 was entirely unforeseen. But she soon emerged as one of the most powerful political leaders of her times who transformed the world's largest democracy. She served as prime minister for a remarkable fifteen years leaving behind a complex and deeply controversial legacy. In this fascinating account, Srinath Raghavan tells the story of Indira Gandhi's political career and the momentous changes that India experienced under her leadership. From her tentative start in high office to her remarkable electoral victories, the dark days of the Emergency of 1975-77 and her assassination at the hands of her bodyguards in 1984, Raghavan sheds new light on her politics and government as well as on her adversaries and critics. He shows how the 1970s were the hinge on which the history of the country turned and how Indira Gandhi transformed the new postcolonial nation into the India of today. Eyes of the World Marc Aronson, Marina Budhos, 2024-03-26

A multilayered biography of two Jewish photographers who helped bring about modern photojournalism during the Spanish Civil War. Robert Capa and Gerda Taro were young Jewish refugees, idealistic and in love. As photographers, they set off to capture their generation's most important struggle: the fight against Fascism. Among the first to depict modern warfare, Capa and Taro took powerful photographs of the Spanish Civil War that went straight from the devastation to news magazines. In so doing, they helped give birth to the idea of bearing witness through technology to bring home tragedies from across the world. Packed with dramatic photos, posters, and maps, this compelling book captures the fascinating story of how photojournalism began. This thoroughly researched and documented book can be worked into multiple aspects of the common core curriculum. Praise for Eyes of the World: A fascinating look at the evolution of photojournalism. Readers not only get a strong sense of who these photographers were as people, they will understand what made their pictures so special. Thoroughly researched and cited, the text offers a unique perspective. Booklist starred review.

A Talent for the Particular Raymond-Jean Frontain, Basudeb Chakraborti, 2012 Understanding Fascism: Writings on Class, Caste and the State K. Balagopal, The articles are responses at a point in time, but why the book is important is because they are relevant even now. They are about the arduous task of building democracy and charting the contours of the justice system in its everyday guise as well as when it sets out to make and implement policies. Authoritarianism, Balagopal points out, lies immanent in the dominance of the national project by the hegemonic classes and castes. The elites have deliberately sought to work this as well as regional contradictions to their advantage. They do this by building a repository of social contempt and negativity against shifting targets: religious minorities, workers, civil rights activists, political dissenters, dalits, and adivasi movements and protesting women. Balagopal writes about how in India the alchemy between caste, class, and the State creates a uniquely Indian alloy of fascism. Reading them gives the impression that he was standing on top of a tall tower with a powerful pair of binoculars which enabled him to see what nobody else could. In in Indian English literature and explains general ideas as well as the specific features and styles of selected writers from this wide spectrum. It addresses students working in this field at university level and includes thorough reading lists and study questions to encourage students to read, reflect on, and write about Indian English literature critically. Salman Rushdie in the Cultural Marketplace Ana Cristina Mendes, 2016-03-23 Taking up the roles that Salman Rushdie himself has assumed as a cultural broker, gatekeeper, and mediator in various spheres of public production, Ana Cristina Mendes situates his work in terms of the contemporary production, circulation, and consumption of postcolonial texts within the workings of the cultural industries. Mendes pays particular attention to Rushdie as a public performer across various creative platforms, not only as a novelist and short story writer but also as a public intellectual, reviewer, and film critic. Mendes argues that how a postcolonial author becomes personally and professionally enmeshed in the dealings of the cultural industries is of particular relevance at a time when the market is strictly regulated by a few multinational corporations. She contends that marginality should not be construed exclusively as a basis for understanding Rushdie's work, since a critical grounding in marginality will predictably involve a reproduction of the traditional postcolonial binaries of oppressor/oppressed and colonizer/colonized that the writer subverts. Rather, she seeks to expand existing interpretations of Rushdie's work, itineraries, and frameworks in order to take into account the actual conditions of postcolonial cultural production and circulation within a marketplace that is global in both orientation and effects. Reading Václav Havel David S. Danaher, 2015-01-01 In Reading Václav Havel, David S. Danaher approaches Havel's remarkable body of work holistically, focusing on the language, images, and ideas which appear and reappear in the many genres in which Havel wrote. Postcolonial Modernity and the Indian Novel Sourit Bhattacharya, 2020-05-27 This book argues that modernity in postcolonial India has been synonymous with catastrophe and crisis. Focusing on the literary works of the 1943 Bengal Famine, the 1967-72 Naxalbari Movement, and the 1975-77 Indian Emergency, it shows that there is a long-term colonially engineered agrarian crisis enabling these catastrophic events. Novelists such as Bhabani Bhattacharya, Mahasweta Devi, Salman Rushdie, Rohinton Mistry, Nabarun Bhattacharya, and Nayantara Sahgal, among others, have captured the relationship between the long-term crisis and the catastrophic aspects of the events through different aesthetic modalities within realism, ranging from analytical, affective, critical, realist, quest modes to apparently non-realist ones such as metafictional, urban, fantastic, magical, realist, and others. These realist modalities are together read here as postcolonial catastrophic realism. Architecture of the World's Major Religions Thomas Barrie, 2020-08-25 In Architecture of the World's Major Religions: An Essay on Themes, Differences, and Similarities, Thomas Barrie presents and explains religious architecture in ways that challenge predominant presumptions regarding its aesthetic, formal, spatial, and scenographic elements. Two positions frame its narrative: religious architecture is an amalgam of aesthetic, social, political, cultural, economic, and doctrinal elements, and these elements are materialized in often very different ways in the world's principal religions. Central to the work's theoretical approaches is the communicative and discursive agency of religious architecture and the multisensory and ritual spaces it provides to create and deliver content Subsequently mythical and scriptural foundations and symbols of ecclesiastical and political power are of equal interest to formal organizations of thresholds paths courts and centers and celestial and geometric alignments Moreover it is equally concerned with the aesthetic visual and material cultures and the transcendent realms they were designed to evoke as it is with the kinesthetic the dynamic and multisensory experience of place and the tangible experiences of the body s interactions with architecture

A User's Guide to Postcolonial and Latino Borderland Fiction Frederick Luis Aldama,2010-01-01 Why are so many people attracted to narrative fiction How do authors in this genre reframe experiences people and environments anchored to the real world without duplicating real life In which ways does fiction differ from reality What might fictional narrative and reality have in common if anything By analyzing novels such as Arundhati Roy s The God of Small Things Amitav Ghosh s The Glass Palace Zadie Smith s White Teeth and Hari Kunzru s The Impressionist along with selected Latino comic books and short fiction this book explores the peculiarities of the production and reception of postcolonial and Latino borderland fiction Frederick Luis Aldama uses tools from disciplines such as film studies and cognitive science that allow the reader to establish how a fictional narrative is built how it functions and how it defines the boundaries of concepts that appear susceptible to limitless interpretations Aldama emphasizes how postcolonial and Latino borderland narrative fiction authors and artists use narrative devices to create their aesthetic blueprints in ways that loosely guide their readers imagination and emotion In A User s Guide to Postcolonial and Latino Borderland Fiction he argues that the study of ethnic identified narrative fiction must acknowledge its active engagement with world narrative fictional genres storytelling modes and techniques as well as the way such fictions work to move their audiences
