Margaret Lawrence Jones Blaise,1921      United States Government Publications Monthly Catalog ,1947      Manual of Standardization in the Romance Languages Franz Lebsanft,Felix Tacke,2020-01-20 Language standardization is an ongoing process based on the notions of linguistic correctness and models This manual contains thirty six chapters that deal with the theories of linguistic norms and give a comprehensive up to date description and analysis of the standardization processes in the Romance languages The first section presents the essential approaches to the concept of linguistic norm ranging from antiquity to the present and includes individual chapters on the notion of linguistic norms and correctness in classical grammar and rhetoric in the Prague School in the linguistic theory of Eugenio Coseriu in sociolinguistics as well as in pragmatics cognitive and discourse linguistics The second section focuses on the application of these notions with respect to the Romance languages It examines in detail the normative grammar and the normative dictionary as the reference tools for language codification and modernization of those languages that have a long and well established written tradition i e Romanian Italian French Catalan Spanish and Portuguese Furthermore the volume offers a discussion of the key issues regarding the standardization of the minor Romance languages as well as Creoles      Aviation Psychology: Practice and Research Klaus-Martin Goeters,2017-03-02 In the well established aviation system the importance of sound human factors practice based on good aviation psychology research is obvious from those incidents and accidents resulting from its neglect. This carefully structured book presents an up to date review of the main areas in the field of Aviation Psychology. It contains current thinking mainly from Europe but with input from Australia and North America from specialists involved in research training and operational practice. Spanning six parts the book covers Human Engineering, Occupational Demands, Selection of Aviation Personnel, Human Factors, Training, Clinical Psychology, Accident Investigation and Prevention. Looking at the six parts in human engineering the reader learns about human centered automation as well as human factors issues in aircraft certification. Results derived by job analysis methods are presented in the next part and serve as basic information in the design of selection and training programs. In selection computerized testing or behaviour oriented assessments are challenging approaches for personnel recruitment. Cost benefit analyses in selection reveal convincing results enabling organizations to save huge amounts of inappropriate training investment by the application of proper selection tests. The NOTECHS method is described which helps to assess CRM capabilities in training and can also be used to measure training effects in systematic validation studies. Although operational personnel in aviation are usually able to cope with stress more efficiently than other occupational groups individual problems might develop as reactions to traumatic influences. Either a psychological evaluation or a proper treatment or both is then required as described in the Clinical Psychology part of the book. The readership includes aviation psychologists and flight surgeons, training selection and recruitment specialists, instructor pilots, CRM facilitators, personnel managers, accident investigators, safety pilots, air traffic controllers, aircraft engineers and those dealing with human machine interfaces.
