

MY CLASSROOM

My classroom is on the second floor of the school building. It is big and airy. It has four windows and a door. There are twenty benches in my classroom. Two students sit on one bench. There is a table and a chair for teacher. There is a cupboard, too. We keep our notebooks and other things in the cupboard. There is a big blackboard behind the table. There are charts and maps on the walls. There are two tubelights and a ceiling fan in my classroom. My classroom is neat and tidy.

Brookhart, 2010-09-06 Educators know it s important to get students to engage in higher order thinking But what does higher order thinking actually look like And how can K 12 classroom teachers assess it across the disciplines Author consultant and former classroom teacher Susan M Brookhart answers these questions and more in this straightforward practical guide to assessment that can help teachers determine if students are actually displaying the kind of complex thinking that current content standards emphasize Brookhart begins by laying out principles for assessment in general and for assessment of higher order thinking in particular She then defines and describes aspects of higher order thinking according to the categories established in leading taxonomies giving specific guidance on how to assess students in the following areas Analysis evaluation and creation Logic and reasoning Judgment Problem solving Creativity and creative thinking Examples drawn from the National Assessment of Educational Progress and from actual classroom teachers include multiple choice items constructed response essay items and performance assessment tasks Readers will learn how to use formative assessment to improve student work and then use summative assessment for grading or scoring Aimed at elementary middle and high school teachers in all subject areas How to Assess Higher Order Thinking Skills in Your Classroom provides essential background sound advice and thoughtful insight into an area of increasing importance for the success of students in the classroom and in life The Ten Students You'll Meet in Your Classroom Vickie Gill,2007-06-21 Has an excellent mix of humor and seriousness to appreciate the students who enter the classroom Each chapter ends with great ideas for improving connections to understand and educate learners in today s classrooms Brenda Vathauer Teacher Thief River Falls School MN Vickie Gill makes so much sense I found myself nodding in agreement This book makes you glad that you read it and is one that teachers will pass on or recommend to their colleagues Melanie Mares Language Arts Teacher Lowndes Middle School Valdosta GA Rebels invisibles and perfectionists Do you have any of these in your classroom Today s classroom is a mosaic of different types of students each with different needs and learning styles While this variety can facilitate an exciting and dynamic teaching experience it can also present unexpected challenges for any teacher In this brief and engaging text Vickie Gill presents ten student archetypes to help teachers better understand and reach each member of their classrooms Although students are unique and never fit neatly into one type Gill shows teachers how to best work with students who exhibit certain kinds of behaviors Written in a warm and encouraging style this motivational resource provides both aspiring and veteran teachers with Humorous and poignant stories Advice and specific classroom management strategies for each student type Sample lessons activities assignments rubrics and evaluations to reach even the most challenging students Discover how to engage all student types by appreciating their unique needs and characteristics Dragons in My Classroom Barbara Kennard,2022-06-14 As a young book lover with dyslexia Barbara found the solution to her reading struggles in Miss Gluding her first grade teacher who showed compassion for her student s plight and knew how to help her From that time on Barbara knew what she wanted to be a teacher just like Miss Gluding Unfortunately Barbara also had some bad teachers in the years that ensued including her sixth grade teacher an exacting woman who called attention to Barbara s learning disabilities in front of classmates Still wanting to follow in Miss Gluding s footsteps in 1964 Barbara vowed she would be a better one than her sixth grade teacher instead however she became very much like her with unattainable expectations for her students and herself After seventeen years in the teaching profession she realized she had to either change her teaching style or change careers By providence right as she stood at this crossroads she was offered the opportunity to teach overseas at The Dragon School in Oxford England for a year an opportunity she jumped at In the year that followed Barbara would rely on her faith in God to give up a lot of what she knew about teaching and learn to do it differently ways that wouldn't have room for her perfectionism In short she would have to begin again

Real Talk About Classroom Management Serena Pariser, 2024-01-29 Everything you need to feel confident and for your students to feel valued in your classroom When we think of classroom management we traditionally think of ways to keep students quiet well behaved and on task Times have changed though and our classroom management practices need to change too Since the first edition of this book was written in 2018 the world has changed a lot This second edition walks teachers through how to keep and even stay one step ahead of our ever changing world To prepare students for today's and even tomorrow's world we need to consider classroom management as guiding students to work collaboratively communicate with each other and ultimately feel a sense of belonging This is when learners thrive In Real Talk About Classroom Management Second Edition award winning teacher Serena Pariser tells it like it is teacher to teacher with her relatable writing style and by sharing authentic personal accounts of failures and successes Serena paves the way for teachers to develop classroom management practices that honor students while helping teachers to feel confident prepared and able to face challenges with grace With updated research and strategies this edition includes Reflection on the changes educators have faced over the past five years particularly ways that the COVID 19 pandemic and sociocultural concerns have affected students and teachers More emphasis on the importance of developing teamwork communication curiosity and conflict resolution skills in students Enhanced focus on social emotional skills and how they relate to classroom management Deeper exploration of best practices in instructional design behavior management and building relationships with colleagues and caregivers as well as topics rarely covered in teacher preparation courses such as how to navigate colleague conflict in schools Practical suggestions for avoiding burnout and knowing when to ask for help This thorough how to book is packed with actionable classroom management practices for new and experienced teachers who want to create a lively engaging classroom that students and teachers feel excited to enter each morning

Learning at the Back Door Charles A. Wedemeyer, 2010-06-01 Wedemeyer stresses that learning is a natural idiosyncratic and continually renewable human trait and survival resource It is not dependent upon teaching schooling or special environments although properly used these resources enhance learning There is a powerful subculture of independent learners who are responsible for much of the real progress that has been made in most areas on endeavor This book attempts to explain this kind of learning and relate it to schooling suggesting ways in which all learning whether traditional or non traditional can be encouraged and improved through new kinds of educational institutions and processes

Voices on the Margins Rita Verma, 2019-02-11 This book presents yet another compelling argument about the lives and struggles of new immigrant youth in public schools and demands the attention of educators policy makers and academics In the post September 11th political economic and social climate there are silenced and forgotten young immigrants in our schools Racist nativism Islamophobia and hegemonic discourse have in many ways legitimized the false information and emerging stereotypes that are disseminated by popular culture and the media From the perspective of working class Sikh youth who have unduly borne the brunt of such hostility and racial profiling we learn about their daily lives both in their communities and schools The youth engaged in identity politics and occupied contradictory hybrid spaces of being neither here nor there Attempts to transplant religious identities led to personal battles of self definition and transformation In contrast to the available literature on the Asian American model minority Verma explores the working class experience of South Asian families who face downward economic mobility limited opportunities low academic achievement racism and marginalization from both their communities and the mainstream public Hidden under the umbrella of the model minority stereotype the needs of working class South Asian youth are largely compromised as their engagement from school plummets In the midst of shifting politics of belonging citizenship and nation building the reader is drawn to listen to the personal stories hopes and dreams of youth who face uncertain realities and doubts about the grandeur of the American dream

Several Worlds Monto Ho, 2005 This fascinating book comprises the autobiographical reminiscences and reflections of Monto Ho M D a Chinese born American physician and widely recognized infectious disease specialist It presents a remarkable opportunity to understand his personal history the development of his scholarly qualities and the logic of his scientific and cultural passions A leader in the field over the past half a century the author was a pioneer investigator of interferon He made major contributions to the pathogenesis of virus infections in the immunocompromised host especially of cytomegalovirus and other herpesvirus infections in organ transplant recipients He built a strong science based infectious diseases group at the University of Pittsburgh in the US In his second career in Taiwan Monto Ho changed the direction of his research to address problems that were important to that country He recognized the threat posed by the emergence of antibiotic resistant bacteria and the need to enhance the quality of training of infectious diseases physicians These efforts paid unexpected dividends The appropriate use of antibiotics has become an important national health priority and there is now intense research on the devastating outbreaks of enterovirus 71 in children

Rocking Your World: The Emotional Journey into Critical Discourses ,2008-01-01 Rocking Your World The Emotional Journey into Critical Discourses is an introductory text that emerged from the belief that we often learn best through personal narrative and story This collection of real stories connects critical theory and critical pedagogy with personal transformation It is an experiential primer in how to navigate a developing appreciation of how silent and sometimes not so silent machinations of power align themselves along axes of gender race class sexual orientation and global position amongst others to both conceal and perpetuate injustice and oppression In this book twelve authors share personal reflections of how various critical discourse communities have impacted their lives They explore a range of professional family and social barriers to personal growth as teachers professional researchers and everyday people they give us glimpses into the impact of positionality the balance between activism and intellectual rigor the obstacles to teaching critically and more This book would be an ideal complement to traditional texts and would provide countless opportunities to generate the kind of personal introspection and dialogue that can make studying critical pedagogy and other critical discourses a transformative experience It is a must read for any teacher or student interested in the power of critical theories to transform how we see the world in which we live
