The Tragic Tale of The Lost Pumpkin

Pumpkin Hollow was usually a quiet, peaceful place. All of the pumpkins were happy and very friendly with each other. They loved nothing more than to take pictures with the children and families that came to visit.

Until, that is, the disturbances started to happen. They were small at first. A kid or two would talk about bringing one home. A parent would point to a pumpkin and talk about how good it would look in the pot. As Halloween approached the talk grew scarier. The scary rumors of carving flooded the patch.

The night before Halloween was strangely quiet. The moon had an eerie glow. They all knew they were going to become Jack-o-lanterns tomorrow night.

for students professors researchers teachers clinicians and all others interested in learning about Language Development beyond the preschool years In addition to study guide questions and three new chapters you will find greater coverage on a wide range of important topics such as Critical age hypothesis Bilingualism Word Knowledge and use Word definition Derivational morphology Discourse genres conversational narrative expository persuasive Verbal reasoning Figurative Language Humor Sarcasm Decoding and spelling Reading comprehension Written expression A Plan for Evaluating the District of Columbia's Public Schools National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Committee on the Independent Evaluation of DC Public Schools, 2011-08-25 The District of Columbia DC has struggled for decades to improve its public education system In 2007 the DC government made a bold change in the way it governs public education with the goal of shaking up the system and bringing new energy to efforts to improve outcomes for students The Public Education Reform Amendment Act PERAA shifted control of the city's public schools from an elected school board to the mayor developed a new state department of education created the position of chancellor and made other significant management changes A Plan for Evaluating the District of Columbia's Public Schools offers a framework for evaluating the effects of PERAA on DC's public schools The book recommends an evaluation program that includes a systematic yearly public reporting of key data as well as in depth studies of high priority issues including quality of teachers principals and other personnel quality of classroom teaching and learning capacity to serve vulnerable children and youth promotion of family and community engagement and quality and equity of operations management and facilities As part of the evaluation program the Mayor's Office should produce an annual report to the city on the status of the public schools including an analysis of trends and all the underlying data A Plan for Evaluating the District of Columbia's Public Schools suggests that DC engage local universities philanthropic organizations and other institutions to develop and sustain an infrastructure for ongoing research and evaluation of its public schools Any effective evaluation program must be independent of school and city leaders and responsive to the needs of all stakeholders Additionally its research should meet the highest standards for technical quality Learning and Doing Policy Analysis in Education: Examining Diverse Approaches to Increasing Educational Access Maria Teresa Tatto, Justin Bruner, Fida Hussain Chang, Corvett George Cramfield, Tara Miyoko Kintz, Nai-Cheng Kuo, Sandra Kurtti Pylvainen, Andleeb Sharif, 2012-09-17 This book originated in a policy analysis class at Michigan State University taught during 2010 Using Professor Tatto's unique approach to teaching policy analysis the professor and students agreed to construct a class that represented a reflective and grounded experience in the policy analysis of a current and relevant issue with global ramifications we began exploring policies that were developed at the global level and that were implemented locally We investigated the surge of globally developed standards and regulations in an effort to improve education Our goal was to learn cross nationally about policies that seek to reform curriculum and instruction under efficiency and global competitiveness arguments such as Education for All EFA and its USA

cousin No Child Left Behind NCLB We knew our work would be bounded by the time available in a one semester class and by resource constraints We did exploratory inquiry supported by literature reviews reports on rigorous research studies and in one case an exploratory case study The policies we chose to explore such as EFA and NCLB offered us the opportunity to examine current reform tendencies that are intended to provide access to quality education for all children the preparation of teachers to support diverse populations the organization of schools to accommodate these children in response to vague policy mandates and power issues affecting the different constituencies and stakeholders The effects of these and other policies were difficult to track because research is scant and decisions are frequently made based on ideology or political persuasion Our purpose was to explore the critical issues that originated such policies and to search for documented evidence regarding policy implementation and effectiveness We investigated the factors that seemed to interfere with successful implementation from conceptual theoretical and methodological perspectives In this class we learned that there are not ready set frameworks for policy analysis but rather that these have to be constructed according to the issues that emerge as policies are conceptualized and implemented to fit local contexts and needs The book pays particular attention to the contexts of policy including the evolving conceptualization of global and local systems of governance knowledge regimes and policy spaces The book is designed for faculty and doctoral students in education who are interested in understanding diverse frameworks for policy analysis and for those in the general public who are interested in the policies we analyze here
