Parallel Text: French Short Stories Various Authors, 1992-07-30 These eight stories by leading 20th century French writers offer fascinating insights into French life and literature and are accompanied by a parallel English text making them valuable for both French and English language students Among the diverse and entertaining stories in the collection are the wistful masterpiece Green Tobacco by Clair Sainte Soline the exuberant tale of The Ants by the post war king of caf society Boris Vian and a suspense in the nineteenth century erotic tradition from Andre de Mandiargues

Short Stories in Japanese Michael Emmerich, 2011-05-31 A dual language edition of Japanese stories many appearing in English for the first time This volume of eight short stories with parallel translations offers students at all levels the opportunity to enjoy a wide range of contemporary literature without having constantly to refer back to a dictionary The stories many of which appear here in English for the first time are by well known writers like Haruki Murakami and Banana Yoshimoto as well as emerging voices like Abe Kazushige Ishii Shinji and Kawakami Hiromi From the orthodox to the cutting edge they represent a range of styles and themes showcasing the diversity of Japanese fiction over the past few decades in a collection that is equally rewarding for beginning intermediate and advanced students of English or Japanese Complete with notes the stories make excellent reading in either language

Meaning in Context Jonathan Webster, 2008-06-21 Meaning in Context brings together some of the biggest names in Systemic Functional Linguistics to explore the construction of meaning in language

A Systemic Functional Grammar of French Alice Caffarel-Cayron, 2006-06-27 The consistent interplay between theoretical and applied pursuits has always been a defining feature of systemic functional theory This kind of mutual enrichment is clearly demonstrated in Alice Caffarel's work The result is a description which penetrates to the heart of the language revealing it at one and the same time as a specimen of the human semiotic and a unique resource for the continuous creation of meaning Professor M A K Halliday from the Preface

Reconnecting Language A. M. Simon-Vandenberg, Kristin Davidse, Dirk Noel, 1997-01-01 Although the contributors to this book do not belong to one particular school of linguistic theory they all share an interest in the external functions of language in society and in the relationship between these functions and internal linguistic phenomena In this sense they all take a functional approach to grammatical issues Apart from this common starting point the contributions share the aim of demonstrating the non autonomous nature of morphology and syntax and the inadequacy of linguistic models which deal with syntax morphology and lexicon in separate independent components The recurrent theme throughout the book is the inseparability of lexis and morphosyntax of structure and function of grammar and society The third and more specific common thread is case which in some contributions is adduced to illustrate the more general point of the link between word form on the one hand and clausal and textual relations on the other hand while in other papers it is at the centre of the discussion The interest of the proposed volume consists in the fact that it brings together the views of leading scholars in functional linguistics of various denominations on the place of morphosyntax in linguistic theory The book provides convincing argumentation against a modular theory with autonomous levels the dominant framework in mainstream 20th century linguistics and is a plea for further research into the connections between the lexicogrammar and the linguistic and extralinguistic context

Language Typology Alice Caffarel, J. R. Martin, Christian M. I. M. Matthiessen, 2004 This book is intended as a systemic functional contribution to language typology both for those who would like to understand and describe particular languages against the background of generalizations about a wide range of languages and also for those who would like to develop typological accounts that are based on and embody descriptions of the systems of particular languages rather than isolated constructions The book is a unique contribution in at least two respects On the one hand it is the first book based on systemic functional theory that is specifically concerned with language typology On the other hand the book combines the particular with the general in the description of languages it presents comparable sketches of particular languages while at the same time identifying generalizations based on the languages described here as well as on other languages The volume explores eight languages covering seven language families French German Pitjantjatjara Tagalog Telugu Vietnamese Chinese and Japanese
