3 pages | 696 words

After checking out "The Scarlet Ibis" by James Hurst and "Raymond's Run" by Toni Cade Bambara, there are some resemblances and differences that stood out. Both stories consist of handicapped siblings. Likewise, both stories consist of characters that act out of pride. The stories have various settings and have characters with various motives. The primary lesson of this essay is not to let pride take control of your character. There are a couple of similarities the 2 stories share. Initially, both stories involve a character with impairments. In "The Scarlet Ibis" Doodle's disabilities are explained, "The doctor said he mustn't get too fired up, too hot, too cold, or too exhausted and that he needs to constantly be treated gently. A long list of do n'ts chose him ..." In "Raymond's Run" Squeaky describes Raymond, "But as any fool can see he's much bigger and he's older too. But a great deal of people call him my little bro cause he needs caring for cause he's not quite right." These 2 quotes show a similarity in the two stories by describing the impairments with each character, Doodle and Raymond. Another similarity the two stories share relates to pride. In both stories, the main character's actions are stemmed from pride. In "Raymond's Run" Squeaky describes, "There is no track meet that I do not win the top place medal ... The huge kids call me mercury cause I'm the swiftest thing in the neighborhood ... In the very first place, nobody can beat me which's all there is to it." In "The scarlet Ibis" the narrator describes, "When doodle was 5 years old, I was humiliated at having a bro of that age who could not walk, so I set out to teach him ... I did not understand then that pride is a wonderful, dreadful thing, a seed that bears 2 vines, life and death." These 2 quotes reveal us a similarity because they explain how both characters act and feel they way they do due to the fact that of pride. As you can see, there are some resemblances the two stories share. In addition to similarities, the stories are also different. First, the settings are different and have different affects on the stories. In "The Scarlet Ibis", the setting is more country-like; "...Someone to perch with at the top fork of the great pine behind the barn where across the fields and swamps where you can see the sea." In contrast, "Raymond's Run" has a setting in the city; "I'm standing on the corner admiring the weather and about to take a stroll down Broadway so I can practice my breathing exercises, and I've got Raymond walking on the inside close to the buildings..." These two quotes show a difference in the stories by explaining how different the settings are. Since there are different settings, each setting has its own tone and affects the way we feel about the stories and pride. Next, there is a difference in the way the two stories represent pride. In "Raymond's Run" Squeaky is often kind to Raymond, and helps him for his...

Short Story Comparative Essay:

Reading Texts, Reading Lives Daniel Morris, Helen Maxson, 2012-06-14 Our culture attempts to separate competing ideological factions by denying relationships between multiple perspectives and influences outside of one's own narrow interpretive community. The distinguished essayists in this volume find Daniel R. Schwarz's pluralistic self-questioning approach to what he calls reading texts and reading lives quite relevant to the current historical moment and political situation. A legendary scholar of modernist literature, Schwarz's critical principles are a healthy corrective to cultural hubris. The essayists treat works ranging from fictions by Joyce, Conrad, Morrison, and Woolf to the poetry of Yeats to Holocaust literature to the environmental writings of Wendell Berry to the photographs of Lee Friedlander. The authors focus on different works but they follow Schwarz in stressing formal elements most often associated with traditional realism while keeping an eye on historical and author-centered approaches. The essayists also follow Schwarz in their emphasis on narrative cohesion and in how they look for signs of agency among characters who possess the will to alter their fate even in a seemingly random universe such as the one depicted by Conrad. Readers with eyes to ethics and aesthetics follow Schwarz in encouraging a values-centered approach that leaves room for the reader to address the ways in which reading a text correlates to the reader's ability to find meaning and value in experience outside the text. Like Schwarz, the essays look for intentionality of authorial meaning rather than something called an author function as well as for the relationship between lived experience and the imagined world of the literary work rather than the endless semiotic play of an ultimately indecipherable text.

James Baldwin and Toni Morrison: Comparative Critical and Theoretical Essays Lovalerie King, L. Scott, 2006-10-16 This collection of comparative critical and theoretical essays examines James Baldwin and Toni Morrison's reciprocal literary relationship. By reading these authors side by side, this collection forges new avenues of discovery and interpretation related to their representations of African American and American literature and cultural experience.

Handbook of the American Short Story Erik Redling, Oliver Scheiding, 2022-01-19 The American short story has always been characterized by exciting aesthetic innovations and an immense range of topics. This handbook offers students and researchers a comprehensive introduction to the multifaceted genre with a special focus on recent developments due to the rise of new media. Part I provides systematic overviews of significant contexts ranging from historical political backgrounds, short story theories developed by writers, print and digital culture to current theoretical approaches and canon formation. Part II consists of 35 paired readings of representative short stories by eminent authors charting major steps in the evolution of the American short story from its beginnings as an art form in the early nineteenth century up to the digital age. The handbook examines historically, methodologically, and theoretically the coming together of the enduring narrative practice of compression and concision in American literature. It offers fresh and original readings relevant to studying the American short story and shows how the genre performs American culture.

Stuck in a Day Dream A-T. Gabe, 2017-08-22 Stuck in a

Day Dream is a simple story about a young boy and the journey he refuses to embark on. In the middle of high school he finds himself like most teens torn between what people expect him to do and should do versus what he wants to do. He was adamant on choosing the latter. This novel is a book that speaks to many in our present age who are both very much alike and unlike the protagonist. It's a thoughtful conversation with those unsure of themselves on how to become so and offers assurance to those who are. In our day and age where individual uniqueness is constantly being leveled among others, this novel speaks to each young person about what it means to be young and how to remain so.

Reading Alice Munro with Jacques Lacan Jennifer Murray, 2016-10-01 It is unlikely that Jacques Lacan and Alice Munro were ever aware of each other's work. Yet because of Munro's intuitive grasp of the complexities of human subjectivity and her ability to articulate subtleties and ambiguities, her fiction shares many of the insights of Lacan's theoretical advancements of the same period. They are both concerned with bringing the obscure undercurrents of the psyche to light. Jennifer Murray's Reading Alice Munro with Jacques Lacan brings the works of the writer and the psychoanalyst into dialogue, offering innovative interpretations of a selection of Munro's stories. Approached from a Lacanian perspective, a close reading of Munro's texts reveals the libidinal energy at the heart of the stories and offers particular insight into aspects such as shame and humiliation feelings that Munro presents with disconcerting acuity. Taking into account stories both of childhood and of adult experiences, Murray analyses the child's bewilderment as she confronts the incomprehensibility of parental injunctions and symbolic functions, while stories about women later in life speak of subjectivity in the field of relationships where desire and love are central concerns. Including extended reflections on fantasy, sublimation, persistence of purpose, transmission of love, and the roles of both paternal and maternal figures in Munro's work, Reading Alice Munro with Jacques Lacan also reshapes literary debate on feminine subjectivity and sexuality.

Care Home Stories Sally Chivers,Ulla Krieburnegg,2018-03-15 Institutional care for seniors offers a cultural repository for fears and hopes about an aging population Although enormous changes have occurred in how institutional care is structured the legacies of the poorhouse still persist creating panicked views of the nursing home as a dreaded fate The paradoxical nature of a space meant to be both hospital and home offers up critical tensions for examination by age studies scholars The essays in this book challenge stereotypes of institutional care for older adults illustrate the changes that have occurred over time and illuminate the continuities in the stories we tell about nursing homes A Dictionary of Writers and their Works Christopher Riches,Michael Cox,2015-01-29 Over 3 200 entries An essential guide to authors and their works that focuses on the general canon of British literature from the fifteenth century to the present There is also some coverage of non fiction such as biographies memoirs and science as well as inclusion of major American and Commonwealth writers This online exclusive new edition adds 60 000 new words including over 50 new entries dealing with authors who have risen to prominence in the last five years as well as fully updating the entries that currently exist Each entry provides details of a writer s nationality and birth death dates followed by a listing of their titles arranged chronologically by date of publication James Kelman Simon Kovesi,2013-01-18 James Kelman is Scotland s most influential contemporary prose artist This is the first book length study of his groundbreaking novels and it analyses and contextualises each in detail It argues that while Kelman offers a coherent and consistent vision of the world each novel should be read as a distinct literary response to particular aspects of contemporary working class language and culture Richly historicised through diverse contexts such as Scottish socialism public transport emigration Booker Prize culture and Glasgow's controversial City of Culture status in 1990 Simon Kovesi offers readings of Kelman's style characterisation and linguistic innovations This study resists the prevalent condemnations of Kelman as a miserable realist and produces evidence that he is acutely aware of an unorthodox politicised literary tradition which transgresses definitions of what literature can or should do Kelman is cautious about the power relationship between the working class worlds he represents in his fiction and the latent preconceptions embedded in the language of academic and critical commentary In response this study is boldly self critical and questions the validity and values of its own methods Kelman is shown to be deftly humorous assiduously ethical philosophically alert and politically necessary

Comparing Postcolonial Literatures A. Bery, P. Murray, 2000-03-14 Bringing together a range of critics working on the hispanic and francophone as well as anglophone post colonial regions this book aims to dislocate some of the commonly accepted cultural linguistic and geographical boundaries that have previously informed post colonial studies Collected essays include cross cultural comparisons from areas as diverse as Africa Ireland and Latin America analysis of specific texts as sites of border conflict and revisions of post colonial theoretical frameworks A timely questioning of the categories of a critical field at the point when it is becoming increasingly comparative this volume seeks to suggest more dynamic ways of working in post colonial cultural studies
