✓ Exclusively available on IvyPanda

Introduction

Over the years, debates concerning instillation of curfews have taken a central part especially when discussing matters that are critical to teens. Curfews are defined as the regulations that are set requiring certain individuals to leave or be at a certain place at the stipulated time.

Some parents seem to favor curfews while others strongly discredit instillation of curfews to teens. Teen is usually considered to be the between thirteen and nineteen years of age. In my views, curfews should be the most appropriate mode of enhancing discipline to the children who are in this age bracket (Kenneth 138).

Curfews should be instilled to teens

Teens with curfews are responsible. Curfews usually teach teen's responsibility as well as obedience. It is paramount that those who argue against curfew should understand that curfews are not meant to punish the children at that age. It is a way of demonstrating to parents that their children can be trusted as well as whether they understand how to obey the rules that are set at home.

This is the initial steps whereby teens are prepared for future responsibilities. Curfews also instills in them good morals which would enable them to live and relate well with other people as well as respect the laws of the society. Therefore, it allows them to avoid problems of breaking laws in future (Walsh 77).

Teens with curfews are protected from obnoxious circumstances. It is surprising that many parents have never understood the value of curfews in protecting the children who are at their teen age. In fact, curfews can be perceived to be a safety net which can be put in place to protect the children at that tender age.

Many scholars argue that teens should not be allowed much freedom since at their age; children are prone to experimentation of different kinds. Teens are at the age which is between childhood and maturity stage and it is at this stage that they often

Teachers are easily and often criticized New waves of criticism have gained momentum due to what some have termed our failing schools The schools and the teachers in particular have been singled out as targets for reproach based on flawed and often erroneous premises arrived at by many who have never spent a day in our schools and walked the walk with a teacher William McCoy writes from the perspective of more than twenty years experience in the public schools He knows that today too many students are arriving at school with poor attitudes that sooner or later reflect on their academic success and behavior These attitudes are formed from the beliefs and attitudes our youth encounter at home and in the community His inside perspective on the countless other possible reasons schools are not measuring up to expectations makes the case for students parents and the community to realize we are all teachers children learn from everyone Knowing there is no one answer McCoy opens a new door of understanding of the educators dilemmas and predicament in an increasingly complicated profession McGraw-Hill's ACT, 2012 Edition
