Sociological and Philosophical Perspectives on Education in the Asia-Pacific Region Chi-Ming Lam, Jae PARK, 2015-12-12 This book demonstrates the value of approaching education from a sociological and philosophical perspective Specifically it addresses current and long standing educational issues in the Asia Pacific region integrating sociological and philosophical insights with practical applications in four key areas educational aims moral education educational policy and the East West dichotomy It discusses educational aims in terms of rationality philosophical thinking and sustainable development and presents the literary religious and analytical approaches to moral education Four educational policies are then considered Hong Kong s language policy Hong Kong s policy on the internationalization of education East Asia's policies on English education and Australia's policy on teacher education Different aspects of the East West dichotomy are analysed Confucian rationalism versus Western rationalism Confucian learning culture versus Western learning culture and Asian research methodology versus Western research methodology Taken as a whole the book shows that issues in education are rarely simple and looking at them from multiple perspectives allows for rich and informed debates It presents a rare philosophical and sociological analysis of the cultures and experiences of education in the Asia Pacific region and promotes research that leads to more culturally rooted educational policies and practice

Linguistic Influences on Mathematical Cognition Ann Dowker,Hans-Christoph Nuerk,2017-06-16 For many years an abstract amodal semantic magnitude representation largely independent of verbal linguistic representations has been viewed as the core numerical or mathematical representation This assumption has been substantially challenged in recent years Linguistic properties affect not only verbal representations of numbers but also numerical magnitude representation spatial magnitude representations calculation parity representation place value representation and even early number acquisition Thus we postulate that numerical and arithmetic processing are not fully independent of linguistic processing This is not to say that in patients magnitude processing cannot function independently of linguistic processing we just suppose these functions are connected in the functioning brain So far much research about linguistic influences on numerical cognition has simply demonstrated that language influences number without investigating the level at which a particular language influence operates After an overview we present new findings on language influences on seven language levels Conceptual Conceptual properties of language Syntactic The grammatical structure of languages beyond the word level influences Semantic The semantic meaning or existence of words Lexical The lexical composition of words in particular number words Visuo spatial orthographic Orthographic properties such as the writing reading direction of a language Phonological Phonological phonetic properties of languages Other language related skills Verbal working memory and other cognitive skills related to language representations We hope that this book provides a new and structured overview on the exciting influences of linguistic processing on numerical cognition at almost all levels of language processing
