

NETWORK LAB MANUAL

Exercise 1:

To learn to use ethereal to capture and analyze packets.

To do: Start ethereal on one or both interfaces that the machine has. Go to the capture menu and select the start option. Wait for some time and after enough packets have been captured, stop the capture.

Output: Ethereal output will show three frames.

- The first one will consist of one line messages for all packets captured stating the basic protocol type of the packet.
- The second frame will show the packet headers present in each packet – such as Ethernet, IP, UDP etc. Each of these headers can be expanded and the values of the various fields in these headers should be observed.
- The third frame consists of the hex dump of the packet. This can be related to the headers in the second frame

What to look for:

- For each different protocol type seen in the ethereal output, identify what is the demultiplexing field in the ethernet frame
- Identify how ethereal is able to classify the output as belonging to a particular protocol

Answer:

1. Why do you see many ARP Requests but not many ARP replies in the output?

Exercise 2:

To learn how to configure IP addresses in Linux and understand rules of IP addressing

To do: Disconnect the machines from the general LAN. Using the switches provided, connect the machines into different switches – two or three per switch. Configure any random IP address to each of the machines.

How to: Use net command in RedHat versions of Linux. Or, alternately, use the command ifconfig.

Output: The IP address of the machine should be the configured value.

How to verify: Use the command ifconfig. This gives the IP addresses assigned to each of the interfaces of the machine. The other method is to ping to the address given. ping to a wrong address to see what happens.

Check: Reachability of other machines – do this by using the ping command.

1. whether you are able to reach the other machines connected to your switch.
2. whether you are able to reach machines connected to other switches.
