New Courses At Makerere Unniversity 2015 2016:

Authentic University Lawrence Muganga Ph.D.,2022-08-22 Today s universities fail students leaving them stranded in an alien world that differs markedly from the ivory tower institution that ostensibly molded them for the future The Authentic University proposes to overcome the manifold shortcomings of the contemporary postsecondary school by offering an innovative education that corresponds to the realities of the modern era This university blends three distinct concepts of student centered education to provide students with a personalized learning experience that develops distinct skills and competencies required by today s employers Students can save time money and effort while learning the information and applications that they want and need Contained within the covers of this groundbreaking book lies a thorough description of everything that educational stakeholders must know about the Authentic University including supporting literature and practical models alongside strategies for planning and implementation The world has passed the university by and will not wait for education to keep pace with its ever evolving information and communication technology situated in an increasingly entrepreneurial economy We as educational stakeholders must meet the challenge of change in an urgent way The first step toward bringing the university into the modern era begins with this book the manual for a radically new type of education termed the Authentic University

Democracy and the Discourse on Relevance Within the Academic Profession at Makerere University Kronstad Felde,Tor Halvorsen,2021-09-20 Democracy and the Discourse on Relevance Within the Academic Profession at Makerere University is set against the backdrop of the spread of neoliberal ideas and reforms since the 1980s While accepting that these ideas are rooted in a longer history the authors reveal how neoliberalism has transformed the university sector and the academic profession In particular they focus on how understandings of what knowledge is relevant and how this is decided have changed Taken as a whole reforms have sought to reorient universities and academics towards economic development in various ways Shifts in how institutions and academics achieve recognition and status combined with the flow of public funds away from the universities and the increasing privatisation of educational services are steadily downgrading the value of public higher education As research universities adopt user and market oriented operating models and prioritise the demands of the corporate sector in their research agendas the sale of intellectual property is increasingly becoming a primary criterion for determining the relevance of academic knowledge All these changes have largely succeeded in transforming the discourse around the role of the academic profession in society In this context Makerere University in Uganda has been lauded as having successfully achieved transformation However far from highlighting the allegedly positive outcomes of this reform this book provides worrying insights into the dissolution of Ugandas academic culture Drawing on interviews with over ninety academics at Makerere University from deans to doctoral students the authors provide first hand accounts of the pressures and problems the reforms have created Disempowered overworked and under resourced many academics are forced to take on consultancy work to make ends meet The evidence presented here stands in stark in contrast to the successes claimed by the university However as the authors also show local resistance to the neoliberal model is rising as academics begin to collaborate to regain control over what knowledge is considered relevant and wrestle with deepening democracy The authors careful expos of how neoliberalism devalues academic knowledge and the urgency of countering this trend makes Democracy and the Discourse on Relevance Within the Academic Profession at Makerere University highly relevant for anyone working in higher education or involved in shaping policy for this sector

Prevention of Violence Against Women and Girls Tamsin Bradley, Janet Gruber, 2021-09-16 Prevention of Violence Against Women and Girls argues that women and girls are vulnerable across all areas of society and that therefore a commitment to end violence against women and girls needs to be embedded into all development programmes regardless of sectorial focus This book presents an innovative framework for sensitisation and action across development programmes based on emerging best practices and lessons learnt and illustrated through a number of country contexts and a range of programmes Overall it argues that SDG 5 can only be achieved with a systematic model for mainstreaming an end to violence against women and girls no matter what the priorities of the particular development programme might be Demonstrating how the approach can be applied across contexts the authors explore cases from the energy sector health and humanitarian intervention and from countries as varied as South Sudan Myanmar Rwanda Nepal and Kenya Drawing on nearly three decades of experience working on gender health and violence against women programmes as both practitioners and academics the authors present key lessons which can be used by students researchers and practitioners alike

Enhancing Innovation in the Ugandan Agri-Food Sector: Robusta Coffee Planting Material & Tropical Fruit Processing World Intellectual Property Organization, Travis J. Lybbert, Gracious Diiro, Dick Kawooya, Sacha Wunsch-Vincent, 2017 Uganda's innovation performance in recent years has consistently outpaced other low income and Sub Saharan African countries Though encouraging this nascent progress will only benefit the broader Ugandan population if policy makers address specific constraints in the innovation systems of the critical agri food sector which is hampered by low productivity and profitability In this report we explore these constraints using an agricultural value chains framework with particular focus on the Robusta Coffee Planting Material Pipeline and tropical fruit processing

Research Universities in Africa Nico Cloete, Ian Bunting, 2018-11-09 From the early 2000s a new discourse emerged in Africa and the international donor community that higher education was important for development in Africa Within this zeitgeist of converging interests a range of agencies agreed that a different collaborative approach to linking higher education to development was necessary This led to the establishment of the Higher Education Research and Advocacy Network in Africa Herana to concentrate on research and advocacy about the possible role and contribution of universities to development in Africa This book is the final publication to emerge from the Herana project The project has also published more than 100 articles chapters reports manuals and datasets and many presentations have been delivered to share insights gained from the work done by Herana Given its prolific dissemination it seems reasonable to ask whether this fourth and final publication will offer the reader anything new This book is certainly different from previous publications in several respects First it is the only book to include an analysis of eight African universities based on the full 15 years of empirical data collected by the project Second previous books and reports were published mid project This book has benefited from an extended gestation period allowing the authors and contributors to reflect on the project without the distractions associated with managing and participating in a large scale project For the first time some of those who have been involved in Herana since its inception have had the opportunity to at least make an attempt to see part of the wood for the trees Different does not necessarily mean new An emphasis on the newness of the data and perspectives presented in this book is important because it shows that it is more than a historical record of a donor funded project Rather each chapter in this book brings to a lesser or greater extent something new to our understanding of universities research and development in Africa

Uganda Jörg Wiegratz, Giuliano Martiniello, Elisa Greco, 2018-11-15 For the last three decades Uganda has been one of the fastest growing economies in Africa Globally praised as an African success story and heavily backed by international financial institutions development agencies and bilateral donors the country has become an exemplar of economic and political reform for those who espouse a neoliberal model of development The neoliberal policies and the resulting restructuring of the country have been accompanied by narratives of progress prosperity and modernisation and justified in the name of development But this self celebratory narrative which is critiqued by many in Uganda masks the disruptive social impact of these reforms and silences the complex and persistent crises resulting from neoliberal transformation Bringing together a range of leading scholars on the country this collection represents a timely contribution to the debate around the New Uganda one which confronts the often sanitised and largely depoliticised accounts of the Museveni government and its proponents Harnessing a wealth of empirical materials the contributors offer a critical multi disciplinary analysis of the unprecedented political socio economic cultural and ecological transformations brought about by neoliberal capitalist restructuring since the 1980s The result is the most comprehensive collective study to date of a neoliberal market society in contemporary Africa offering crucial insights for other countries in the Global South Intra-Africa Student Mobility in

Makubuya, 2019-01-17 In the scramble for Africa Britain took a lion's share of the continent It occupied and controlled vast territories including the Uganda Protectorate which it ruled for 68 years Early administrators in the region encountered the progressive kingdom of Buganda which they incorporated into the British Empire Under the guise of protection indirect rule and patronage Britain overran plundered and disempowered the kingdom's traditional institutions On liquidation of the Empire Buganda was coaxed into a problematic political order largely dictated from London Today 56 years after independence the kingdom struggles to rediscover itself within Uganda's fragile politics Based on newly declassified records this book reconstructs a history of the machinations underpinning British imperial interests in B Uganda and the personalities who embodied colonial rule It addresses Anglo Uganda relations demonstrating how Uganda's politics reflects its colonial past and the forces shaping its future It is a far reaching examination of British rule in B Uganda questioning whether it was designed for protection for patronage or for plunder
