

FORWARD CIRCUIT

When the control lever is moved to forward, power flows through the closed forward switch, to the connector, to the control box black input connector, and on to the control box. The forward input signal is received by the control box at full battery voltage.

The control box processes the signal and sends a modulated output signal through the control box gray output connector, to the 22 pin rear hood connector and the 30 pin main connector, to the transmission connector, and on to the forward solenoid.

Again, the solenoid receives power but will not operate until the circuit is grounded through the modulator control box.

After the circuit is grounded, voltage is increased from 0 to 12 volts over a 4-second interval, which moves the solenoid smoothly and controls the engagement of the forward clutch pack.
