Oxford Textbook of Community Mental Health Graham Thornicroft, Robert

E. Drake, Oye Gureje, Kim T. Mueser, George Szukler, 2025-01-03 Community mental health has evolved as a field of practice and as a research discipline during the last 50 years. Now newer concepts such as shared decision making, the recovery approach, evidence-based practice, implementation science, telemedicine, and mobile device technology are adding layers of texture to this domain. These developments require an ever more sophisticated understanding of the very latest evidence and experience in community mental health care to respond to the values, goals, needs, and preferences of people with lived experience of mental health conditions. This second edition of the Oxford Textbook of Community Mental Health addresses recent changes and achievements, current controversies, and future challenges while emphasizing areas of convergence where social values, health, medical sciences, and policy formation converge and meet. This edition also features a new section on global mental health to emphasise what is known about the mental health gap in low and middle income countries and the evidence of how to respond to these huge global challenges. Like community mental health care itself, the authors are multidisciplinary, international, and bring both clinical and scientific perspectives to this volume. This textbook will be an invaluable and authoritative source of reference for all mental health specialists, for people with mental health conditions, for staff in non-governmental and governmental organisations, and indeed for all who are dedicated to creating better mental health services and systems.

Intercultural Variation in Family Research and Theory Roma S. Hanks, Marvin B. Sussman, 2014-05-12 Intercultural Variation in Family Research and Theory sets forth 23 critical reviews in a 2 volume set that document the development of family research and theory in various societies around the world. Focusing on modern research while drawing on the historical roots of theoretical and methodological approaches employed in the study of family, this collection not only increases your knowledge about the status of family research in various countries but also inspires cross-national research among researchers and scholars. The societies being studied have been grouped by region. Volume I contains the set's Introduction and contributions from the Far East, the Baltic region, Australia, and South Africa. Volume II covers the Middle East, Western Europe, Scandinavia, and also includes the Index. The materials in these two volumes are the result of the charge given to scholars of 23 societies to review the development of family theory and research in their homelands. Their obligation was to provide an analytic report telling a story from their perspective of reality. The book's editors now present some of the commonality of experiences and trends of the researchers and interpret country differences and similarities from their writings. Intercultural Variation in Family Research and Theory holds numerous suggestions for your investigations into the family field. You'll find that the set adds to the body of knowledge on comparative family analysis and raises concerns and issues for future research. The questions addressed in this book include how gender of the investigator influences choice of research topics, how funding sources shape the research agenda, what influence a researcher's career trajectory has on research topics, methods, and procedures, why psychological and sociological frameworks and methodologies are commonly used in family research, how political policy influences and dictates theory development, and research what to do about the multitude of new questions that inevitably arise from such intercultural research Origin on Trial Christopher H. A. Ting, 2023-01-27 Do you know about the dark secrets in big evolution concerning the origin of the universe Do you know that the Bible sets God's signature on his creation in the beginning Not all fields of science are created equal Some deal with past history rather than the present Einstein's theory of gravity as curved spacetime is observable science But some scientists use it with particle physics to tell a story of the origin of the universe But can anyone see the moment of the Big Bang Scientists themselves say the Big Bang model has big problems The data they use to support their best model about the origin of the universe can also be used to undermine it They started with A to build the model but their data don't agree with A Is there something fundamentally wrong Great scientists make mistakes in science too Hawking and others have made profound statements but they don't always make sense Big evolution has holes It relies on deep time as god of the gap Modern science began with Christians like Kepler and Galileo They believed biblical creation had happened It's time to bring science back to its genesis and the origin back to church

The Ashgate Research Companion to Popular Culture in Early Modern England Dr Abigail Shinn, Dr Matthew Dimmock, Professor Andrew Hadfield, 2014-08-28 The Ashgate Research Companion to Popular Culture in Early Modern England is a comprehensive interdisciplinary examination of current research on popular culture in the early modern era For the first time a detailed yet wide ranging consideration of the breadth and scope of early modern popular culture in England is collected in one volume highlighting the interplay of low and high modes of cultural production while also questioning the validity of such terminology The authors examine how popular culture impacted upon people's everyday lives during the period helping to define how individuals and groups experienced the world Issues as disparate as popular reading cultures games food and drink time textiles religious belief and superstition and the function of festivals and rituals are discussed This research companion will be an essential resource for scholars and students of early modern history and culture

Language and the Law John Peter Gibbons, 2014-09-25 Explains and describes the ways that language use in the legal system can create inequality and disadvantage It examines the three main areas where the two intersect the central issue of the language of the law the disadvantage which language can impose before the law and forensic linguistics the use of linguistic evidence in legal processes Each section of the book is preceded by an introduction by the editor which sets the paper within a conceptual framework Lawyer's opinions are not neglected even though the collection is written mainly by linguists The section concludes with a lawyer's response in which a prominent lawyer with a particular interest in the content of the section responds to the papers

Construction Matters Stefan Holzer, Silke Langenberg, Clemens Knobling, Orkun Kasap, 2025-03-04 Construction History Construction Heritage Recent Construction Historiography Industrialization Engineering Sciences Building Materials Building Actors Construction History is still a fairly new and small but quickly evolving field The current trends in Construction History are well reflected in the papers of the present conference

Construction History has strong roots in the historiography of the 19th century and the evolution of industrialization but the focus of our research field has meanwhile shifted notably to include more recent and also more distant histories as well This is reflected in these conference proceedings where 65 out of 148 contributed papers deal with the built heritage or building actors of the 20th or 21st century The conference also mirrors the wide spectrum of documentary and analytical approaches comprised within the discipline of Construction History Papers dealing with the technical and functional analysis of specific buildings or building types are complemented by other studies focusing on the lives and formation of building actors from laborers to architects and engineers from economical aspects to social and political implications on legal aspects and the strong ties between the history of construction and the history of engineering sciences The conference integrates perfectly into the daily work at the Institute for Preservation and Construction History at ETH Zurich Its two chairs the Chair for Building Archaeology and Construction History and the Chair for Construction Heritage and Preservation endeavor to cover the entire field and to bridge the gaps between the different approaches methodologies and disciplines between various centuries as well as technologies learning together and from each other The proceedings of 8ICCH give a representative picture of the state of the art in the field and will serve as a reference point for future studies

Embracing the Darkness

John Callow, 2017-10-30 As dusk fell on a misty evening in 1521 Martin Luther hiding from his enemies at Wartburg Castle found himself seemingly tormented by demons hurling walnuts at his bedroom window In a fit of rage the great reformer threw at the Devil the inkwell from which he was preparing his colossal translation of the Bible A belief like Luther's in the supernatural and in black magic has been central to European cultural life for 3000 years From the Salem witch trials to the macabre novels of Dennis Wheatley from the sadistic persecution of eccentric village women to the seductive sorceresses of TV's Charmed and from Derek Jarman's punk film Jubilee to Ken Russell's The Devils John Callow brings the twilight world of the witch mage and necromancer to vivid and fascinating life He takes us into a shadowy landscape where in an age before modern drugs the onset of sudden illness was readily explained by malevolent spellcasting And where dark winding country lanes could terrify by night as the hoot of an owl or shriek of a fox became the desolate cries of unseen spirits Witchcraft has profoundly shaped the western imagination and endures in the forms of modern day Wicca and paganism Embracing the Darkness is an enthralling account of this fascinating aspect of the western cultural experience
