Communications John Egan, 2014-10-13 How many marketing messages do you think you see a day Why do some stick with us more than others Why do we all remember the Cadbury's gorilla drummer or the Budweiser Frogs What do they say about the brand How will you communicate your own marketing messages just as successfully In this textbook John Egan draws on years of both industry and academic experience to explain the why as well as the how of marketing communications It covers all the essential topics that are relevant to your marketing communications course in a relatable and easy to read style Insight boxes provide insight into some of the latest industry practices and with engaging examples ranging from HSBC to James Bond to the Arab Spring and One Direction this textbook will not only provide you with a solid foundation for working in marcoms it will make your study fun along the way For those looking to get ahead of their classmates and other job candidates the textbook includes coverage of topical issues such as new technologies ethical marketing and the regulatory environment to help you consider some of the cutting edge debates for assignments and future employment There is also a companion website with additional study materials to help you go one further and stay ahead of the pack study.sagepub.com/egan This textbook is essential reading for all marketing communications courses at undergraduate and postgraduate levels as well as professional courses in Marketing The Report: Algeria 2012, 2012 Brand Choice and Loyalty Beat Meier, 2019-09-26 By analyzing a large car registration dataset Beat Meier shows various aspects of consumer behavior in the context of durable goods He thereby isolates various influences on purchase decisions e g the brand owned before the price and demographic variables Furthermore he investigates the short term effects of tax incentives and reputation shocks on brand choice and brand loyalty The dataset used is very unique and allows a longitudinal examination of the cars owned by a person This permits to gain insights on consumer behavior of durable goods that are relatively expensive and bought infrequently

Transport, Climate Change and the City Robin Hickman, David Banister, 2014-02-05 Sustainable mobility has long been sought after in cities around the world particularly in industrialised countries but also increasingly in the emerging cities in Asia Progress however appears difficult to make as the private car still largely fuelled by petrol or diesel remains the mainstream mode of use Transport is the key sector where carbon dioxide CO2 emissions seem difficult to reduce Transport Climate Change and the City seeks to develop achievable and low transport CO2 emission futures in a range of international case studies including in London Oxfordshire Delhi Jinan and Auckland The aim is that the scenarios as developed and the consideration of implementation and governance issues can help us plan for and achieve attractive future travel behaviours at the city level The alternative is to continue with only incremental progress against CO2 reduction targets to sleepwalk into climate change difficulties oil scarcity a poor quality of life and to continue with the high traffic casualty figures The topic is thus critical with transport viewed as central to the achievement of the sustainable city and reduced CO2 emissions

InnoScope: 2011 TTGV, 2012-01-01 Dependent Growth: Foreign Investment and the Development of the Automotive Industry in East-Central Europe Petr Pavlínek, 2017-04-07 This book offers a critical analysis of recent developments in the automotive industry of East Central Europe ECE Economists industry specialists and national governments have considered the rapid development of the automotive industry in ECE in the past twenty years an unqualified success This rapid growth has been based on large inflows of foreign direct investment FDI from Western Europe North America Japan and South Korea and it significantly contributed to GDP growth created thousands of new jobs and completely transformed the previously existing automotive industry in the region This volume offers an analysis that goes beyond uncritical celebratory accounts of this rapid growth It is based on original detailed firm level research conducted by the author in Czechia and Slovakia between 2009 and 2015 that covered assembly firms and the networks of component suppliers Theoretically and conceptually the analysis will draw on the global production networks and global value chains perspectives Drawing on the original empirical data and on additional available information this volume concentrates on several important questions related to the development of the automotive industry in ECE in the 2000s The role of FDI in the rapid development of the automotive industry after 1990 and particularly in the 2000s The upgrading of the automotive industry in East Central Europe through FDI The position of ECE in the automotive industry research and development R D The effects of the 2008 2009 economic crisis in the automotive industry of ECE The role of state in the rapid development of the automotive industry in ECE in the 1990s and 2000s The effects of FDI on domestic firms in the form of linkages between foreign owned and domestic firms and spillovers from foreign owned to domestic firms Air Madness Cedric Pulford, 2008
