This semester in English 101 I have learned a bountiful amount of tips to help my writing techniques. In high school I always thought of myself as a fairly good writer. The one thing I think I lacked was supporting details. This course has helped me to always think when I make a statement. After my statement I make sure to put extra input or additional definitions to make what I am saying crystal clear. Also, in this course, I have learned how to use rhetoric in my papers. Different rhetoric techniques like ethos, logos, and pathos have made some of my pieces so much better.

Ethos, pathos, and logos were all new to me. Learning about the three has taught me a couple of things. It has taught me different ways to reach different audiences. Sometimes getting to an audience with emotion will do the trick, but in other situations a more factual approach works. Having this new knowledge of the different types of ways to catch the audience's attention has and will in the future improve my writing.

Before this course I was completely unaware of how to write a formal argument. Now I feel that I have the knowledge and the experience to write a very successful argument. I felt confident in writing my final project due to all of the information I have gained from this course.

The readings that we did in class were extremely insightful as well as interesting. They taught me to see different all different groups of people in totally different ways than what might be expected. The readings opened my eyes and allowed me to see the world in different injustice and inequality particularly in but not limited to under resourced contexts This volume will be of particular interest to teacher educators pre service and in service language teachers and students and scholars of applied linguistics and English language teaching Learning and Personality William K. Lawrence, 2015-09-04 How does an introverted student with a visual or auditory learning preference find success in a classroom built for extroverted kinesthetic learners While student discussion in the classroom is invaluable it also presents an issue for many students not only in how they feel in the class setting but in how they ultimately learn Given the emerging understanding of differing personality types and learning preference it is questionable whether all students are served by socially active methods that mandate students to speak Learning and Personality documents how introverted and intrapersonal students are being subjected to uncomfortable situations in schools today This book focuses on the classroom experience of students who have been identified as learning best through reflection and observation The author uses an American college writing class as the setting to explore the in depth experience of common first year students The results of this primary qualitative study reveal a glaring conflict within mainstream educational theory With more than five years of research and over one hundred references cited from sources that span two centuries this book calls attention to a mass misunderstanding of introversion as well as the effects of instructional methods that appeal to only one type of personality In the Basement of the Ivory Tower Professor X, 2011-03-31 A caustic expose of the deeply state of our colleges America s most expensive Ponzi scheme What drives a former English major with a creative writing degree several unpublished novels three kids and a straining marriage to take a job as a night teacher at a second rate college An unaffordable mortgage As his house starts falling apart in every imaginable way Professor X grabs first one then two jobs teaching English 101 and 102 composition and literature at a small private college and a local community college He finds himself on the front lines of America s academic crisis It s quite an education This is the story of what he learns about his struggling pupils about the college system a business more bent on its own financial targets than the wellbeing of its students about the classics he rediscovers and about himself Funny wry self deprecating and a provocative indictment of our failing schools In the Basement of the Ivory Tower is both a brilliant academic satire and a poignant account of one teacher s seismic frustration and unlikely salvation as his real estate woes catapult him into a subprime crisis of an altogether more human nature Resources in Education , 1996-04

Empowering the Community College First-Year Composition Teacher Meryl Siegal, Elizabeth Gilliland, 2021-01-11 This volume is an inquiry into community college first year pedagogy and policy at a time when change has not only been called for but also mandated by state lawmakers who financially control public education It also acknowledges new policies that are eliminating developmental and remedial writing courses while keeping mind that for most community college students first year composition serves as the last course they will take in the English department toward their associate s degree This volume also serves as a call to action to change the way community colleges attend to faculty concerns Only by listening to teachers can the concerns discussed in the volume be addressed it is the teachers who see how societal changes intersect with campus policies and students lives on a daily basis Adapted from back cover
