Educational Reforms Arthur T. Costigan, Leslee Grey, 2014-08-21 There are dozens of myths surrounding educational reform today maintaining the school's role in economic competitiveness the deficiency of teachers the benefits of increased testing and the worthiness of privatization In this volume the editors argue that this discussion has been co-opted to reflect the values and worldviews of special interest groups such as elites in power politicians corporate educational foundations and the media Prominent educational writers tackle contemporary issues such as neoliberalism suburban schooling charter schools and parental involvement They expose the logic behind the talk and critically examine these problematic beliefs to uncover meaningful improvements in education which are better grounded in the social economic political and educational realities of contemporary society Applications of Self-Regulated Learning across Diverse Disciplines Héfer

Bembenutty, Anastasia Kitsantas, Timothy J. Cleary, 2013-03-01 Through its research to practice focus this book honors the professional contributions of Professor Barry J Zimmerman as illustrated by the recent selfregulation applications of a highly respected group of national and international scholars This book will serve as a valuable resource for those interested in empowering and enabling learners to successfully manage and self direct their lives education and careers In particular K 12 educators college instructors coaches musicians health care providers and researchers will gain invaluable insight into the nature of self regulation as well as how they can readily apply self regulation principles into their teaching instruction or mentoring Emergent trends in education and psychology circles such as linking selfregulated learning assessment and interventions as well as the use of technology to enhance student learning and self regulation are additional themes addressed in the book The kaleidoscope of self regulation issues addressed in this book along with the wide range of promising intervention applications should also prove to be particularly appealing to graduate students as they pursue their future research activities and seek to optimize their individual growth and development

Atlas of Material Worlds

Matthew Seibert, 2021-08-17 Atlas of Material Worlds is a highly designed narrative atlas illustrating the agency of nonliving materials with unique ubiquitous and often hidden influence on our daily lives Employing new materialism as a jumping off point it examines the increasingly blurry lines between the organic and inorganic engaging the following questions What roles do nonliving materials play Might a closer examination of those roles reveal an undeniable agency we have long overlooked or disregarded If so does this material agency change our understanding of the social structures ecologies economies cosmologies technologies and landscapes that surround us And perhaps most importantly why does material agency matter This is the story of the world s driest nonpolar desert pink flamingos and cerulean blue lithium ponds industrial shipping logistics pudding like jiggling substrates and monuments of mud galactic bodies radioactive sheep and the yellowcake of uranium Put simply this book dares readers to see the world anew from material up Atlas of Material Worlds offers this new relationship to our host environment in a time of mounting crises accelerating climate change ballooning socioeconomic inequality and rising toxic nationalism uniquely telling materialist stories for practitioners and students in landscape architecture and other built environment disciplines

Undermining Racial Justice

Matthew Johnson, 2020-04-15 Over the last sixty years administrators on college campuses nationwide have responded to black campus activists by making racial inclusion and inequality compatible This bold argument is at the center of Matthew Johnson s powerful and controversial book Focusing on the University of Michigan often a key talking point in national debates about racial justice thanks to the contentious Gratz v Bollinger 2003 Supreme Court case Johnson argues that UM leaders incorporated black student dissent selectively into the institution s policies practices and values This strategy was used to prevent activism from disrupting the institutional priorities that campus leaders deemed more important than racial justice Despite knowing that racial disparities would likely continue Johnson demonstrates that these administrators improbably saw themselves as champions of racial equity What Johnson contends in Undermining Racial Justice is not that good intentions resulted in unforeseen negative consequences but that the people who created and maintained racial inequities at premier institutions of higher education across the United States firmly believed they had good intentions in spite of all the evidence to the contrary The case of the University of Michigan fits into a broader pattern at elite colleges and universities and is a cautionary tale for all in higher education As Matthew Johnson illustrates inclusion has always been a secondary priority and as a result the policies of the late 1970s and 1980s ushered in a new and enduring era of racial retrenchment on campuses nationwide

Mindful Alignment Sabre Cherkowski, Kelly Hanson, Keith Walker, 2018-03-06 Mindful Alignment Foundations of Educator Flourishing develops a foundation for educators to flourish by promoting self awareness as a mindful approach to ongoing professional inquiry It presents three mindful arts the art of well being the art of positive relationships and the art of living from strengths passions and purposes detailing several practices that when executed over time can provide a focus for developing mindful alignment The authors present an approach to personal professional learning that encourages educators to slow down create space to notice and then nurture their intentions and actions toward fulfilling their purposes and passions in order to grow a sense of flourishing at work and overcome the challenges presented by teaching in ever increasingly fast paced rapidly changing accountability driven professional environments
