Writing Theology Well Lucretia B. Yaghjian, 2006-11-24 In its creative integration of the disciplines of writing rhetoric and theology Writing Theology Well provides a standard text for theological educators engaged in the teaching and mentoring of writing across the theological curriculum As a theological rhetoric it will also encourage excellence in theological writing in the public domain by helping to equip students for their wider vocations as writers preachers and communicators in a variety of ministerial and professional contexts Chicago Style Essentials: A Handbook for Writing Research Papers, Theses, and Dissertations Erwin Yang, Chicago Style Essentials A Comprehensive Guide to Academic Writing This comprehensive handbook provides an indispensable guide to Chicago style the widely accepted standard for academic writing in the humanities and social sciences Designed to empower students and researchers alike this book offers clear and concise instructions for formatting research papers theses and dissertations according to the latest guidelines Covering a wide range of topics including Formatting Instructions for proper paper margins font sizes and headings Citations and References Comprehensive guidance on citing sources and creating bibliographies Endnotes and Footnotes Guidance on using endnotes and footnotes for further information Quoting and Paraphrasing Tips for accurately quoting and paraphrasing sources Grammar and Punctuation A thorough review of grammar and punctuation rules specifically relevant to academic writing Why Choose This Book Authoritative and Up to Date Written by experts with years of experience in academia this book provides the most accurate and current information on Chicago style Comprehensive and Accessible Covers all aspects of Chicago style in a clear and easy to understand manner making it an essential resource for all levels of academic writing Real World Examples Features numerous examples and exercises to reinforce concepts and enhance understanding The Humble Essay Roy K. Humble, 2023-04-01 The Humble Essay is so much more than a writing textbook It gives you tools tips and tricks that actually explain what a writer does It doesn't sugarcoat the process or dumb down the very real challenges that entering a college writing space requires This book is more like a friend It's the kind of friend that will coach you through a tough time and encourage you and it will make you laugh while you go through it It's the kind of friend who holds your hair back when you're sick of writing and gives you the courage to try again Roy K Humble is the kind of writing teacher who understands the struggle of learning how to write like a college student and doesn't just tell you what you want to hear. His lessons here are profound but in the sense that they are delivered by someone who wants you to feel included in the conversation about what good college writing should be. He writes to students in language they can understand without becoming English majors and with just enough humor to keep them reading. He writes for faculty moving step by step through the unadorned guiding principles of effective formal writing so that faculty have a great framework on which to build their classes. Perhaps most importantly, Humble understands that the price of a book matters to students so his books are affordable. From every perspective, Humble gets it. The Humble Essay has students covered on these important topics: Understanding the college essay as an idea, Grasping the stages of the writing process, Organizing the college essay around cohesive paragraphs, Thinking for yourself as a college student, Gathering and synthesizing sources and information, Guiding readers through a thoughtful college essay.

Information Systems Development for Emerging Public Sector Cross-sector Collaborations Kayvan Yousefi Mojir, 2018-09-28

Information systems (IS) seem prevalent in modern societies and have resulted in the rapid digitalisation of different societal sectors. One application domain of IS is emergency response, which is responsible for delivering essential services to save lives and minimise environmental damage in both small frequent and large scale emergencies. Specific IS applications are in turn used in emergency response to support such aspects as decision making, communication, information sharing, and the dispatching of resources. Public sector cut backs and a lack of professional resources have affected emergency response at the same time as natural disasters (e.g. forest fires, tsunamis, storms, terror attacks, and wars in the Middle East leading to mass migration) have intensified in recent decades. At the same time, frequent small scale accidents continue to occur on a regular basis both in urban and sparsely populated areas. As a result, emergency response actors (first responders) are often placed under severe pressure. An emerging trend in response to these challenges both in Sweden and internationally is to create cross sector forms of collaboration by combining alternative resources from various sectors. Such collaborations are relatively new and involve heterogeneous stakeholders. Therefore, the thesis objective is to explore IS related opportunities, challenges, and needs aimed at supporting heterogeneous actors in emerging cross sector collaborations in emergency response in order to enable and facilitate future related IS development. To achieve this, a user centred approach was applied. A baseline study was performed followed by three case studies on co location of actors, co operative use of resources, and semi professionals as first responders, by performing interviews, focus groups, participant observation, Future Workshops, an exercise, and an after action review. The thesis is based on case study research and qualitative research methods. Sociotechnical systems theory, the sociotechnical ensemble view, and network governance were used as the analytical framework. As part of achieving the thesis objectives, experiences from applying user participation in the context of cross sector collaboration are also presented as part of the results. A context specific framework was developed to systematise and explore various important aspects of cross sector collaboration in emergency response is also described. The results of this thesis indicate that the needs for IS in cross sector collaborations vary from simple smartphone applications to manage alarms positioning and the dispatching of new resources to more sophisticated tools for sharing and viewing incident data. The results also indicate that these collaborations have the potential e.g. resource redundancy pooled competencies to increase total capacity to improve Swedish emergency response if supported by adequate IS/IT support. The major challenges are organisational, economic and juridical and the most prominent are ambiguities in actors' tasks and responsibilities and how to prioritise between ordinary work and new first response tasks. They must be addressed to enable certain IS functions e.g. information sharing and positioning of resources. The results also highlight several institutional factors e.g. mutual interest between members, collective problem solving, secrecy aspects which are believed to play a key role in the success or failure of the collaborations and which must be addressed in the development of IS support. The actors also have substantial basic needs for training e.g. fire extinguishing, first aid and emergency supplies e.g. fire extinguishers, healthcare kits. Applying user participation also faced challenges, the major one being the development of a future cross sector collaboration in a context that does not yet exist and involving stakeholders from resource strained organisations in doing so. The stakeholders and sometimes also the primary end users are partly unknown and tasks are undefined. As a response to these challenges, a combination of activities based on multiple design groups, scenario based Future Workshops, focus groups, the context specific framework, a practical exercise and an after action review was provided. The framework which was used to support data collection and user participation includes 15 dimensions each intended to represent important aspects of cross sector collaboration. The thesis major contributions are the identified opportunities, challenges and need as a sociotechnical ensemble and generated and from several studies, thus being comparable. The thesis more theoretical contributions is the combined application of the sociotechnical ensemble view and network governance where the studied collaboration forms are characterised as a hybrid form of networks and more traditional government mechanisms and where it is pointed out that network governance lacks explicit IS/IT aspects. In a wider perspective the research fields of IS and political science may cross fertilise each other when studying emerging cross sector collaboration in the public sector. Identified user participation challenges relevant to the cross sector collaboration context, suggestions on how they can be handled and the context specific framework are contributions that can be used in practical user centred IS development in similar contexts.
