The Politics of Culture in Soviet-Occupied Germany, 1945-1949 David Pike, 1992 They allow for a painstaking analysis of the political and aesthetic priorities of a developing Stalinist culture while raising intriguing questions about the early stages of the Cold War and the subsequent division of Germany In particular the gradual introduction of Zhdanovist or socialist realist political norms and aesthetic forms into Soviet occupied Germany closely paralleled developments in the Soviet Union during the infamous zhdanovshchina 1946-1948 Smear campaigns against formalism decadence and cosmopolitanism carefully tailored to local circumstances were the natural consequence Simultaneously the German Communists worked behind the scenes with the Soviet occupation regime to establish the administrative apparatus for the enforcement of these standards imported from the Soviet Union and calculated to infuse German art and literature with the proper political priorities
