Pond Animals Identification:

Identifying and Managing Aquatic Rodents in Texas Dale A. Wade, Charles W. Ramsey, 1986 50 Fantastic Ideas for Fearless Play Judit Horvath, 2017-03-09 The 50 Fantastic Ideas series is packed full of fun original skills based activities for Early Years practitioners to use with children aged 0-5. Each activity features step by step guidance, a list of resources and a detailed explanation of the skills children will learn. Creative, simple and highly effective, this series is a must have for every Early Years setting. Fearless play is a key element in developing a child's confidence, extending their limits and helping them learn to assess risks and manage situations. This book is full of fun and colourful ideas for facilitating fearless play in early years settings. The variety of activities means there's something for every child to enjoy, ranging from basket making to mud racing. Each idea is targeted to help children face new challenges and explore the world around them, as well as helping to establish motor skills, coordination and body awareness. A perfect resource for busy early years practitioners who want children in their care to play safely and fearlessly.

World of fresh water : a resource for studying issues of freshwater research, 1997 Methods for Collection and Analysis of Aquatic Biological and Microbiological Samples Phillip E. Greeson, 1977 Animals and Early Modern Identity Pia F. Cuneo, 2017-07-05 Animals were everywhere in the early modern period and they impacted at least in some way the lives of every kind of early modern person, from the humblest peasant to the greatest prince. Artists made careers based on depicting them. English gentry impoverished themselves spending money on them. Humanists exercised their scholarship writing about them. Pastors saved souls delivering sermons on them. Nobles forged alliances competing with them. Foreigners and indigenes negotiated with one another through trading them. The nexus between animal-human relationships and early modern identity is illuminated in this volume by the latest research of international scholars working on the history of art, literature and of sixteenth and seventeenth century Germany, France, England, Spain and South Africa. Collectively, these essays investigate how animals—horses, dogs, pigs, hogs, fish, cattle, sheep, birds, rhinoceroses, even sea monsters and other creatures—served people in Europe, England, the Americas and Africa to defend, contest or transcend the boundaries of early modern identities. Developments in the methodologies employed by scholars to interrogate the past have opened up an intellectual and discursive space for and a concomitant recognition of the study of animals as a topic that significantly elucidates past and present histories. Relevant to a considerable array of disciplines, the study of animals also provides a means to surmount traditional disciplinary boundaries through processes of dynamic interchange and cross-fertilization.

World of Fresh Water, 1997 Identifying Animal Tracks Richard Headstrom, 2012-07-12 DIV For hunters, naturalists, scouts, nature lovers. Diagrams of tracks, tips on identification. Investigating Your Environment, 1994 Handbook of Biodiversity Methods David Hill, Matthew Fasham, Graham Tucker, Michael Shewry, Philip Shaw, 2005-08-11 Biodiversity is recognised to be of global importance yet species and habitats continue to be under increasing pressure from human-induced influences. Environmental concerns are high on the political agenda driving increased legislation to protect the natural environment The starting point for much of this legislation is the requirement for a comprehensive biodiversity audit For those needing to undertake such audits this Handbook first published in 2005 provides standard procedures which will enable practitioners to better monitor the condition of the biodiversity resource resulting in improved data upon which to base future policy decisions and actions Organised in three parts the Handbook first addresses planning covering method selection experimental design sampling strategy and data analysis and evaluation The second part describes survey evaluation and monitoring methods for a broad range of habitats Part three considers species and provides information on general methods before addressing specific methods of survey and monitoring for the major taxonomic groups
